Family And Farming Synonymous At Maple Lawn

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

FULTON, Md. — "Farming is a nice way of life," says Charles Iager of Maple Lawn Farm in Fulton, Maryland. "It is a nice way to raise your children, with all of us working together, each with our own job. There is always something different to do."

For Charles and Judy Iager of Maple Lawn Farm and their three sons, Michael, 27, Matt, 22 and Mark, 17 there is plenty to do on a farm that boasts 350 registered Holsteins and a Red and White heifer. In addition to the cattle they crop-farm 1,200 acres and raise 12,000 to 15,000 turkeys at a time, starting with one-day-old poults and raising them for six months before they slaughter right on the farm. With Iager's brother Gene and his family they continue to work a family farm that has been farmed by five generations of Iagers and has been in the family since 1852.

Currently, Charles Iager serves as president of the 700-member Maryland Holstein Association. Over the years the family has served the farming community in many ways. Charles was on the Board of the Howard County Fair for 23 years and he and wife, Judy have each been leaders of their own 4-H clubs. They are members of the Farm Bureau, the Dairy Shrine and the county, state and national levels of the Holstein Association. Each of them belongs to the University of Maryland Alumnae Association where Charles graduated with a major in dairy production and Judy with a degree in business education.

Charles says it is pretty much a 24-hour operation on the farm which produces about four million pounds of milk per year. The day begins at 2 a.m. with milking at 3 a.m. and 3 p.m. They milk 175 cows at a time in a totally updated double-nine herringbone milking parlor with automatic Take-off (milkers) on one side. They use 19 Germania milkers.

First Forum Focuses On Future Of Dairy Industry

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — In a meeting of some of the most powerful people in the commonwealth's huge dairy industry, agreement was reached on several key issues to move the industry into a more unified voice on issues that affect the survival of dairying in the Northeast. Leaders in production, education, lending, communications, agri-business, and processing attended the First Pennsylvania Dairy Industry Future Forum all day Wednesday at the new Penn State Scanticon Conference Center Hotel.

From the presentations, discussions, and action planning sessions, four major agreements evolved:

1. Wide-range industry support was given to educate dairy farmers on the need for better management skills on their farms. In addition, Penn State's Dairy MAP course was supported as the vehicle of choice to accomplish this goal. Robert Reich agreed to pull this segment of agreement together with the help of many others at the meeting.

2. The group of more than 100 attendees agreed to hold an annual or bi-annual educational forum.

3. The group agreed that the Pennsylvania Dairy Industry Future Committee should continue to function as the facilitator of action.

4. Agreement was reached that a group of producers form a professional dairy farm manager's organization in Pennsylvania. This effort is to be headed by Cliff Hawbaker.

The dairy future committe was formed about two years ago to address the concern from industry leaders that the dairy industry in Pennsylvania was threatened by economic, environmental and political pressures that could reduce profits to dairy farmers beyond the ability to survive long-term. After several meetings that included a meeting to receive input from an expanded group of dairy leaders, there was a consensus that strong collaboration across all sectors of the state's dairy industry is needed now as never before.

Wednesday's meeting focused on two issues deemed most critical at this time: 1. enhancing the management skills of Pennsylvania's milk producers and 2. further developing Pennsylvania's dairy products manufacturing capability.

Options Available For Manure Systems

ROBERT E. GRAVES
Professor, Ag Engineering

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — A dairy manure handling system is a cost item that must meet many requirements.

The ultimate goal of a manure handling system should be to improve management, provide positive environmental protection, and allow maximum utilization of manure nutrients.

The best manure handling systems are usually developed as part of an overall plan for new construction, renovation or expansion.

A well-planned system will be compatible with the type of housing and will include manure and wastewater from outside animal areas, the milking center, youngstock facilities, and silage effluent.

It should also be compatible with anticipated changes in housing and management over the next 8-10 years.

An integral part of an effective manure handling system is having adequate cropland available to utilize the manure nutrients or an alternative outlet for extra nutrients. Dairy expansions that include large increases in purchased feed and no increase in cropland often result in over application of manure nutrients.

Manure handling systems,

National Egg Market

Wednesday, June 1, 1994

NATIONAL EGG MARKET-AT A GLANCE: The market tone was barely steady to instances weak with an increased cautiousness noted. Demand varied and even with retail promotions and increased first of the month interest was generally no better than fair. Supplies were usually at least adequate for current dealer needs. Breaker activity was only fair with offerings increasing. Light type hen activity was as expected for the shortened holiday week.

Eastern PA & NJ Poultry Report

Atlanta, Ga.
Tuesday, May 31, 1994

Prices were close to unchanged on light type fowl and too few sales to report on heavy hens compared to last week. Offerings were at least adequate to fully adequate enabling processing plants to operate at desired slaughter levels. Demand moderate. Undertone geneally steady.

New York Egg Market

Wednesday, June 1, 1994

Prices for extra large and large were unchanged, mediums were lower than prior day. Movement of cartoned eggs into retail channels was light to fair. Supplies of extra large were adequate, other sizes were fully adequate or available. The trade sentiment was barely steady to weak. The New Jersey inventory was 11 percent above last Monday's level. The New York inventory was 8 percent above last week.

PRICES TO RETAILERS, SALES TO VOLUME BUYERS, USDA GRADE A AND GRADE A, WHITE EGGS IN CARTONS, DELIVERED STORE DOOR, CENTS PER DOZEN RANGE EXTRA LARGE .69-.71, LARGE .66-.69, MEDIUM .53-.56.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, June 1, 1994

Trucklot buying interest was quite irregular and ranged very cautious to fairly good. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts with tenders were in close balance with a good demand for both immediate needs and for next week deliveries. Trading was at current prices but the undertone was firm. Whole breasts were readily available at most shipping points; offered at lower prices; and slow to clear. Buyers were very selective and also very cautious. The undertone was weak and unsettled. Dark meat items and wings were well cleared to a good call at steady prices and the trade sentiment was steady.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES. Delmarva Broiler/Fryer Market

Wednesday, June 1, 1994

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was generally good. Seller offerings were adequate and easily cleared. Live supplies remained moderate, instances heavy; weights ranged from light to heavy, mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 60 to 70 cents. Trade sentiment varied from steady to higher.

In the parts complex, boneless skinless breasts were in good balance to closely cleared. Bone-in breasts were available. Legs were in fairly good balance; however, leg quarters were slow to clear at several points. Wings were adequate.

Report Supplied by USDA

MARKET COMMENT: CARTONED AND DISTRIBUTIVE MOVEMENT WAS GENERALLY NO BETTER THAN FAIR. SUPPLIES WERE USUALLY SUFFICIENT TO COVER CURRENT DEALER NEEDS WITH ADDITIONAL OFFERINGS IRREGULARLY AVAILABLE. BREAKERS WERE UNAGGRESSIVE AS OFFERINGS INCREASED AND PRICING BECAME MORE COMPETITIVE. A LARGE .65-.69, LARGE .63-.67, MEDIUMS 50-.56.

New York & Phila. Frozen Egg Report

Friday, May 27, 1994

The market tone was fully steady to firm with some underlying cautiousness developing. Trading activity was light as most buyers continued to resist the higher asking prices. Raw materials were sufficient to allow further processers adequate running schedules. Floor stocks were in good balance for current dealer needs.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.
Wednesday, June 1, 1994

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY GRAIN AND SOYBEAN PRICES FINISHED MIXED, WEDNESDAY, WITH WEATHER OUTLOOK AND EXPORTS THE ON GOING INFLUENCES. WHEAT MIXED. CORN 1 TO 2 CENTS HIGHER. SORGHUM 2 TO 4 CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS 1 TO 6 CENTS LOWER. WHEAT PRICES WERE UNDER PRESSURE FROM IMPROVED SOFT RED WINTER WHEAT CON- DITION AND APPROACHING HARVEST. WINTER WHEAT HARVEST HAS MOVED NORTH INTO OKLAHOMA AND SOUTHERN KANSAS BUT QUALITY HAS DECLINED. EXPORT DEMAND REMAINS VERY LIGHT FOR WHEAT THIS WEEK. SLIGHT GAINS IN CORN PRICES WERE DUE TO FORECASTS FOR HOT, DRY WEATHER CONDITIONS IN MIDWEST AREAS, PARTICULARLY IN THE EASTERN CORN BELT REGION. SLOW EXPORT SALES LIMITED GAINS IN CORN PRICES. CORN PLANTING IS 98 PERCENT COMPLETE IN THE 17 MAJOR PRODUCING STATES. SOYBEAN PRICES WERE PRESSURED BY OVERNIGHT RAINFALL IN AREAS OF THE MIDWEST BUT CONFLICTING FORECASTS KEEP TRADING ERRATIC. LIGHT EXPORT DEMAND TODAY FROM MEXICO ADDED LIGHT SUPPORT TO PRICES. SOYBEANS PLANTED ARE OVER 80 PER- CENT COMPLETE AND ABOUT 30 PERCENT AHEAD OF THE AVERAGE.

EXPORT NEWS: MEXICO BOUGHT 45,000 TONNES U.S. SOYBEANS FOR JUNE THRU LATE JULY SHIPMENT. CCC BOUGHT 2,850 TONNES REFINED VEGETABLE OIL FOR BOSNIA-HERZEGOVINA.

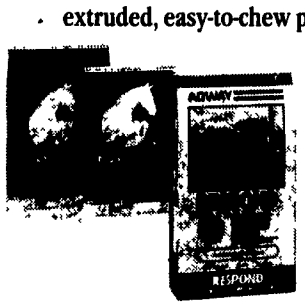
Horses can't plan their retirement.

But if they could, they'd get their feed from us.

A horse's nutritional requirements and level of activity change as he gets older. But since aging is a gradual process, and no two horses are the same, Agway® offers a variety of feeds for older horses. With the ingredients, nutrition and textures that will help them stay healthy, vigorous and graceful.

So whether your older horse could benefit from our highly digestible Performance™ extruded, easy-to-chew pelleted Performance™, or Respond's special formulation that won't aggravate breathing problems, one thing's for sure. He could benefit from an Agway feed...and Agway advice.



Stop by your local Agway today and talk to one of our feed specialists. They'll give you all the information you need to keep your older horse's retirement happy, healthy and vital.

Just the way he'd plan it.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

CHILDREN'S SUNDAY, JUNE 12.

TESTING THE SYSTEM

Susan B Anthony, seeking to test whether the rights guaranteed in the 14th Amendment would be extended to women, led a group of women to register and vote in an 1872 Rochester, New York, election She received her answer immediately — she was arrested Predictably, she was found guilty and sentenced on June 6th to pay a $100 fine She defiantly refused to pay, at that time, or ever But the real surprise in this footnote to history is that the judge allowed her to go free, fearing that if he pressed the sentence she would press her case — all the way to the highest court in the land if necessary

We must do the things we think we cannot do. — Eleanor Roosevelt

TIP OF THE WEEK

Prevent wicker furniture from yellowing by washing in a mild salt-water solution.

EARTHWISE

Children love helium-filled balloons Amazingly, balloons released in the Midwest can reach the ocean in just a few days In the water, the faded, deflated balloons trailing strings look like jellyfish But they're deadly to the turtles and whales who mistakenly eat them If you purchase helium balloons for your children, help them hang on to them, and avoid crying children and dying wildlife

POTATO AND WATERCRESS SOUP

4 to 5 potatoes, peeled and diced
4 cups cold water
1 bunch watercress
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 cup milk
salt and pepper to taste

Boil potatoes in water until tender Drain, reserving water Press potatoes through a sieve and return to pot with reserved water. Chop watercress (reserve a few sprigs for garnish), add to pot, and cook 5 minutes Add butter and milk Heat until warm, season to taste, and garnish with watercress Good warm or cold

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Cool and rainy, hot south, then clearing and cool

SOUTHEAST: Sunny and hot, cooler and showers Florida and west, some clearing then thundershowers

MIDWEST: Cold and rainy, some clearing north and east

NORTHWEST: Rain and cold, then clearing and warming

SOUTHWEST: Cold and rainy; sunny and warm California; sunny and cool desert

OPINION

Reasonable Increase Needed

Last year about this time, we wrote about the gradual reduction of state support that has been affecting ag extension and ag research at Penn State. Thankfully, most of the cuts threatened last year were restored. But that still leaves our state's land-grant college without a funding increase for the last three years. This has resulted in a loss of 99 faculty and staff positions and curtailed research and extension in a number of areas important to Pennsylvania agriculture.

Recently, the advisory council to the College of Ag Sciences spent a day discussing the public policy issues affecting agriculture. A broad range of issues were discussed. But there was also a clear consensus that increasing regulation, little understanding of the food system on the part of the public and policy makers and no understanding of the production technology behind our safe and inexpensive food threaten all of acriculture. Good answers to these threats demand the objective information that comes from ag extension and research. They also demand trained people to work in agriculture and related industries.

As the state increases the regulations on manure and nutrients, as the number of students choosing agricultural sciences is increasing rapidly, and as the need to be profitable becomes more important than ever, there should be increased state support for ag extension and research.

The benefit in this state support is not only for Penn State or agriculture alone. Every citizen in the Commonwealth depends in one way or another on the food, jobs, sales taxes, and agribusiness activity generated from our number one industry. Increased funding was found for the Department of Agriculture and the Animal Health Commission. We hope the legislature can find a reasonable increase for ag reaearch and extension at Penn State as well.

Now Is The Time

To Salute Dairy Farmers

June is Dairy Month. This is the month we salute our nation's dairy farmers and recognize the importance of milk and dairy products in our lives.

We will be seeing additional dairy promotion activities this month to inform consumers about the dairy industry.

This is an excellent opportunity to educate consumers about food production, food safety, and how their dairy products are produced.

People are quick to criticize what they do not know and understand. As we plan dairy month activities, make sure we know what message and image we are presenting.

Let's be proud and enthusiastic about our product and make people want to consume more dairy products. Nutrition, diet, and health are major consumer issues. Maybe we need to compare the nutritional labels of milk with soft drinks, ice tea, and coffee.

The public needs to know how their milk is tested in order to ensure drug residues are not present. Dairy farmers need to tell their successes and how agricultural research and education contributed to these successes. Americans are poor students of history and we have short memories.

"June Is Dairy Month" promotions gives us the opportunity to educate a very interested consumer audience. Let's make the most of it.

Here is a glass of milk salute to all our hard working and dedicated dairy farm families.

To Store Pesticides Safely

Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, reminds us to store pesticides safely.

Most producers are nearly finished spraying for the year and probably have some spray material left over. Many of these can be held over until next year with good results.

When storing spray materials, always keep them in their original container and away from children, pets, and livestock. These spray materials should be stored in a separate room or building designed for pesticide storage.

Wetable powders are easy to store. However, emulsions and liquids may be harmed by freezing weather and may need to be kept in a heated building.

Read the label and follow instructions for proper storage. Do not store pesticides near feed supplies. To avoid accidents, costly mistakes and tragedies, keep pesticides in their own room or building under lock at all times.

To Know Daily Water Use

How much water do use everyday on your farm? Most farmers properly have no idea since they receive their water from their own wells.

However, the Susquehanna River Basin Commission has proposed rules which will affect farmers using 10,000 gallons of water per day or more. Farmers using 10,000 gallons or more will need to register with the commission and farmers using more than 20,000 gallons may be required to pay a water use fee to the commission.

Some estimates of daily water consumption are 35 gallons per dairy cow, 8 gallons per 100 laying hens, 6 gallons per 100 broilers, 12 gallons per 100 turkeys, 12 gallons per horse, steer or heifer, and 4 gallons per hog. Liquid manure and flush systems would add to the daily water use.

Sprinkler irrigation will use about 10,000 gallons per day on 2.4 acres and drip irrigation will cover approximately 10 acres. These are rough estimates that will be influenced by crop and other factors.

Ten thousand gallons per day would equate to 125,000 layers, 285 dairy cows, or 166,000 broilers.

Remember, if you have more than one type of livestock or poultry on your farm or irrigating crops, you will need to add all uses together.

Water is a very important aspect of farming and farmers need to insure there will be adequate water for their use. Now is the time to study water use issues and make public comment at the hearings.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

LEMONS INTO LEMONADE
June 5, 1994

LEMONS INTO LEMONADE

Background Scripture:
Exodus 1 & 2
Devotional Reading:
Exodus 2:16-23,24

Two teams of entertainers were playing a charity baseball game in Hollywood. Groucho Marx was the coach of one of the teams and as the game began, he told his first batter to "Hit a home run." But he grounded out to third base, so Groucho gave the same instructions to the second batter, who popped out to center field. Similarly advised, the third batter struck out. "That's it!" shouted Groucho, "I refuse to coach a team that won't follow instructions!"

Do you ever feel like that? You are looking for home runs from family, friends and community, but instead you get singles, strikeouts and double plays! People, the world, life, God — they don't cooperate! Our children don't turn out the way we wanted them to. Our career just never took off as we expected it would. Our marriage is not the "and-they-lived-happily-ever-after" experience we expected.

So, we're unhappy because life hasn't turned out to be the bowl of cherries we thought we were promised. Instead, we find that someone has handed us a lemon. Many of us become resentful and bitter because we don't understand that the essence of life is not periodically getting a bowl of cherries, but of turning our lemons into lemonade.

MAN PROPOSES

This may seem very simplistic, but I find it woven into the entire story of the Bible. Even from God's point of view: he has a will and a purpose for us and the world, but we keep giving him lemons, in the Garden of Eden and out of it. It would seem that we are constantly thwarting his plans.

But God takes the lemons we hand him and turns them into lemonade. He takes our disobedience, our hardness of heart, our rebellion and our failures and make of them something that still accomplishes his will. As Ludovico Ariosto said centuries ago: "Man proposes, God disposes." And William Shakespeare had Hamlet proclaim: "There's a divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hewn them how we will."

God brings the people of Israel to Egypt for a purpose, but the Pharaoh throws a monkey-wrench into those plans when he decides, "Come, let us deal shrewdly with them (the people of Israel), lest they multiply . . ." (1:9). So, the Pharaoh "set taskmasters over them to afflict them with heavy burdens . . ." That should have stymied God, but it didn't: ". . . the more they were oppressed, the more they multiplied and the more they passed abroad." Even when Pharaoh commands the Hebrew women to kill every Hebrew male child as he is born, God's will prevails. So he commands the Egyptian people to kill every newborn male child.

GOD DISPOSES

Then a child is born to a Hebrew couple and, fearing for his life, they hide him in the bulrushes of the river where the Pharaoh's daughter comes to bathe. Once again we see the Pharaoh proposing and God disposing, the divinity shaping the end, not only of that child, but also the people of Israel.

That is not to say that God did it all by himself. The Pharoah's ruthless decision shaped the situation, but Moses' mother's self sacrifice, Miriam's initiative, the Pharaoh's daughter's compassion, and the adult Moses' identification with his own people, accomplished God's purpose when it deemed the most powerful man on earth, the Pharaoh, would surely prevail. The Pharaoh proposed, but God disposed.

That's what God does with the obstacles we put in his way. That's what we can do with the lemons life hands us.

While most lenders have barely scratched the surface in agriculture, we've gone a bit further.

Fact is, you can explain your needs to some bankers until you're blue in the face and chances are they still won't understand. Farm Credit loan officers, on the other hand, have been through the most comprehensive ag lending training program in the nation. And many have farm backgrounds themselves.

They can approve loans for just about any farm need from land to equipment. And since a committee isn't necessary for most decisions, loan approval is easy and fast.

Stop by and talk with your Farm Credit loan officer.

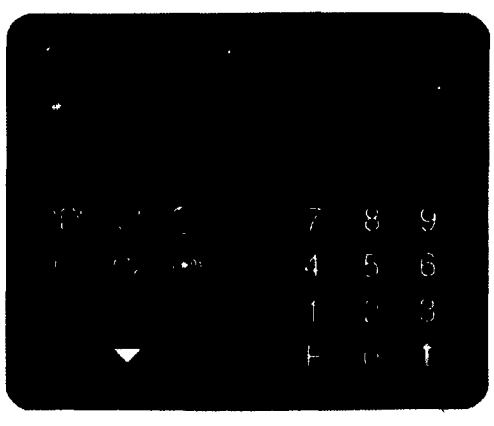
With ALPRO, she's more than just a number.

You'll know she gave 34.2 pounds this morning (up 2.4 pounds from last night) and her next expected heat is in 3 days.

It's a fact. The more you know about your cows, the better off you'll be. And by putting crucial herd management information at your fingertips, ALPRO makes it easy. With the touch of a button, you can find out everything from a cow's production level to her health status. You can even customize ALPRO to tell you specifics that apply to your milking situation.



ALPRO is also easy to upgrade. Start with milking and add feeding later if you wish. Or begin with a complete system and have the confidence of knowing you can add new components easily and inexpensively as they're developed.

Call 1-800-365-1883 or your nearest independent Alfa Laval Agri™ dealer today to learn more. You'll quickly discover that the advantages of ALPRO are truly beyond number.

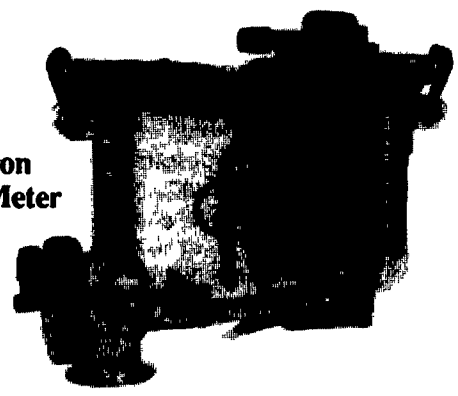
Met n Control



Metatron Milk Meter

Westfalia Metatron gives you the edge in effective, economical herd management. This DHIA and USDA approved inside milk meter provides milk meter on an individual cow milking for in-parlor evaluation. Vital information of milk produced, maximum milk flow average milk flow and milking time is also available at cowside. Aids you to better manage each individual cow.

The Metatron Milk Meter is transparent for visible operation and designed to take years of use. The unrestricted, full 1" milk outlet takes into account all air flow and milk flow requirements for high producing dairy cows of today and tomorrow. It's convenient too, and can be on line mounted, or remotely mounted out of the operator's way.

M

- n be tied to a Westfalia PC System and ID System for her management control
- ed light easily visible from any point in the parlor to communicate needed information to the dairyman
- SS control, arms, chain, and hardware for maximum life
- nter balanced arm keeps milker supported under cow less fall-offs. In case of a fall-off it keeps the milker of the manure
- imum strength SS arms and rubber shock absorber take punishment
- work with Westfalia Stimulator pulsator or backflush ems
- ble electronic milk flow monitoring for accurate and endable take off
- in Milk Meter displays milk produced

ID SYSTEM

Westfalia provides a unique Walk-Thru identification system, activated by a coded unit on the cow's comfort collar which indentifies the cow to a particular ID number. The Walk-Thru ID can be mounted at the entrance of the herringbone stall or a parallel stall to identify individual cows as they walk through.

MANAGEMENT BY EXCEPTION

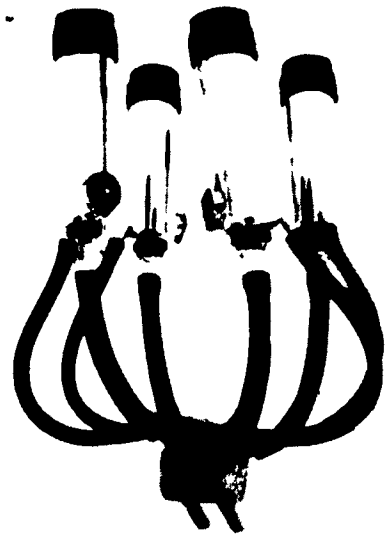
Sophisticated technology that's simple to use, Metatron can be connected to the Westfalia PC Operating System with Dairy Plan for an integrated management program. The system will automatically notify the operator if a cow is off milk after cluster removal. Once a cow ID is entered, the Metatron control box automatically signals for observations of cow for heat, do not milk, or health code needs. This provides early and economical detection of possible health problems, allowing the operator to concentrate on individual cows.

Now available Cow Pedometer activity units with complete cow identification and heat detection.

Westfalia's BIO-MILKER

The Bio-Milker Multiplies Your Profits - It's The Best Way To Better Milking!

Specially designed to regulate your milking operation, this positive pulsed air bleed milker assures harmony between udder and cluster. Milks with lower vacuum levels even in stanchion barns with a high milk line.



It's Something Else!

- Healthier Udders
- Reduced Milking Times
- Superior Milking Out
- High Milk Yield
- Reduced Cell Count
- Longer Productive Life Of The Cow

Andrus Family Faces Arduous Decision, Stays Farming

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TOWANDA (Bradford Co.) — For Russell and Carol Andrus and family, 1992 was a year that will be etched in their memories forever.

On May 17, one of their stave silos filled with ryelage and haylage blew up.

"We put the ryelage in and then put haylage on top," said Andrus. "That sealed in the gas. The last load was blown in about one-half hour before it blew up."

Two and a half months later, fate struck another blow when their tie-stall barn burned to the ground. Luckily, no one was injured in either incident and the family was able to save their herd of cows.

After the fire, the family moved the cows to an uncle's stantion barn where they milked 30 cows at a time until April 17, 1993.

"All winter it took 16 hours a day just to do the chores. My uncle Jake Walborn, hauled hay in and cleaned the barn, or we'd never get done," said Andrus.

Cousins Jim and Joe Andrus also helped get the chores done.

For some people, the loss of two major structures would have convinced them to leave the farming business behind. However, even the double disaster could not deter the spirit of this farm family. With encouragement of the Andrus' two sons, Dave and Brent, they decided to rebuild bigger than before.

Since April of 1993, the family has been milking their seven Ayrshires and 233 Holsteins in a new double-12 herringbone parlor that can be converted to a rapid exit parlor in the future.

"We built what we thought we could afford to pay for," said Andrus.

The cows are kept in a 300- by 105-foot loose housing facility. Curtains lines the west side of the loose housing, while the east side is open. And adjacent 300- by 50-foot area is used as a feed-lot.

"We had a tie-stall barn with 160 stalls," said Andrus. "Now we are milking 240 and have 404 total head. It takes about two hours and 15 minutes to milk. The cows are comfortable. The only thing I have against the new barn is that we have dirty cows. Other than that, everything's great."

Even before the fire forced a decision, the Andrus family had discussed building a new facility.

Russell Andrus stands among the family's cows in their loose housing facility.

This 300-foot by 105-foot, loose housing facility and adjacent 90-foot by 60-foot parlor/hospital area was completed in April of 1993, one year after the family lost their barn to fire.

"When the barn burnt, I said to my sons, it's time to make up their minds and they both said they wanted to build the barn back. This (barn) is what we were talking about."

Now that the cows are adjusted to the new facility, they are averaging about 60 pounds of milk on two-time per day milking.

"They're milking better now. A lot are milking 90- to 100-pounds per day. They're mostly young cows. We don't have too many old cows left. Close to 100 are first-calf heifers," Andrus said.

Their breeding program focuses on type and production. They work with Sire Power and keep a herd bull on their farm.

The cows are fed a mix of home-grown silage, hay and grain five time per day.

The family owns 600 acres in the hills of the county and rent another 500 acres nearby. The crops are grown on 950 tillable acres surrounding the new barn. Andrus noted that they grow about 250 acres of corn and 80 acres of oats. Hay is grown and round-baled on the remainder of the tillable acres.

"We're all set up for round bales now," Andrus said. "They roll right down in the bunks. We haven't baled a square bale in three years."

Tasks on the dairy are divided equally between the four individuals. Each has his or her own task in the milking parlor, but when it is time to plant corn, Andrus said, "I plant corn and they do the milking."

For Russell Andrus, the philosophy of making farming work is simple: "You've got to get bigger or get out. Of course, maybe I like to spend too much money. I like those big tractors and such."

The commitment to dairying that the Andrus family has shown will ensure that the family farm will be in operation for many years to come, carrying on a tradition of farming started by Russell's grandfather.

"My grandfather owned the farm and then an uncle owned it and then a guy from Philadelphia owned it. My dad bought the property in 1963. (My father) died in 1984 and my mother died in 1985," Andrus said. "It's hills and rocks, but it's home."

CAROLYN MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

As one of the newest correspondents for Lancaster Farming, I feel priviledged to be among such well-known journalists.

Although I am officially the Bradford County correspondent, I was actually raised on Normandell Jersey Farm in the southeast corner of Tioga County, in Liberty Township.

Now my home is Ty-Ly-View Farm, also located in Tioga County, where my husband Paul farms with his parents. Currently I am home with our two children, 20-month-old Charlie, and 7-week-old Gregory.

Five years ago, if you would have asked me if I wanted to stay home with children, my answer would have been a quick "No."

As a Penn State student majoring in Agricultural Sciences, my career goals were clear. I wanted to be a journalist.

And, immediately after receiving my bachelor' degree, I accepted the position of editor of a farm newspaper in northeastern Pennsylvania.

Now, three years later, my priorities have shifted. I relinquished my full-time post in order to spend more time with my children.

I hope by writing for Lancaster Farming, I can bring all readers a glimpse of life in northeastern Pennsylvania, while spending time with my children.

Story ideas can be directed to me through the Lancaster Farming office.

DRPC @ Raleigh Advisory Board Meets

RALEIGH, N.C. — The Dairy Record Processing Center @ Raleigh, in Raleigh N.C., held its annual Advisory Board spring meeting recently and adpoted a strategic plan for 1994, in addition to other action.

The 16-member advisory board is comprised of eight DHI members and eight DHI personnel (managers or extension staff) who are appointed on a rotating basis, and represent each service affiliate to provide counsel to the DRPC @ Raleigh staff.

The organization has used an advisory board since forming in 1957.

According to a package of news releases, the mission statement in the adopted strategic plan is:

• "To assemble, compute and maintain a high quality database of accurate information for dissemination to users in a timely manner.

• "To provide high quality PC software products and support for use by service affiliates at the farm, local, and service affiliate levels.

• "To provide training and promotional materials and support for assisting service affiliate personnel in sales and service to current and potential users.

• "To provide official records that meet or exceed National DHIA quality certification standards.

• "To provide cost effective programs and services while sustaining a strong financial position for maintaining quality services and support and for new initiatives."

The goals and priorities included in the strategic plan is to:

• "Continue to place major emphasis on supporting current sercie affiliates while promoting use of DRPC products and services by other service affiliates.

• "Encourage distributive processing by expanding on-line databases and by developing PC products for use at the farm, local, and service affiliate levels.

• "Continue to develop the 'focus group' concept as a means of broad based input for enhancing current programs and for developing new programs.

• "Enhance integration of information among processing systems (TPE, PCDART and DRPC host computer) and other DRPC's and on-farm systems to simplify the maintenance and exchange of

Future Of Dairy Industry

Wolff opened the meeting.

Hood likened the planning for the forum as "putting down a lot of hay over the last several years" and said it's now time to take some acton or "make some hay." "If we don't get this hay in the barn, our dairy industry is not going to have any feed in the future," Hood said allegorically.

Wolff said that holding the first dairy forum on the first day of dairy month (June) was appropriate. He emphasized need for marketing, management, and cooperation. "We need to find a way to relieve the squeeze on the spread between costs and prices," Wolff said.

Dr. Ronald Knutson, Ag Economics, Texas A & M University, used their large number of study herds in many different parts of the U.S. to illustrate facts about the diversity of the dairy industry. For example, herd size vairies from 50 cows to 1,000 cows. Output per cow also varies and is critical to the profitability of individual herds. He showed wide differences regionally and among individual farms within the regions.

While many people think the milk price is better in California, Knutson said it is actually lower. But he said they are very efficient and produce milk on smaller margins.

Another factor in regional dairy farm problems is the enforcement of EPA regulations. While federal laws are standard, EPA delegates authority to states that have at least as stringent laws as federal requirements. But many "dairy" states are not enforcing the laws, and other states are enforcing laws much more stringent.

"It takes a large investment to meet the requirements of managing dairy waste," Knutson said. "When dairy farmers are forced to make these investments, they begin to ask other questions about their involvement in the dairy business and the timeliness of an update to their operation. These kinds of decisions are coming in the next five years for all those farmers who are not already facing them.

"This doesn't affect the dairy that is making a lot of money," Knutson said. "But if a dairy is already on the margin, a large investment is going to be tough."

A more important factor is the unlevel playing field that exists across the states. Technically, all states have the same EPA regulations, but not every state is following the regulations. This has an adverse impact on dairy farmers in states that are cracking down.

On the subject of BST, Knutson said research on their model dairy farms across the nation show that its use is profitable on every one of these farms. "I'm not saying it is profitable on your farm," Knutson said. "But on every one of our test farms it is. Technology is an integral part of successful dairying."

Knutson said analysis studies indicate that the downhill movement of the dairy industry in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and east Texas is set to also happen in the Northeast if adjustments are not taken. He said extra debt load will take a dairy farm down the tubes. He said this presents a real challenge to lenders and dairy farmers who have a son or daughter who wants to take over the farm.

"Large, well-managed dairy farms are realizing favorable returns," Knutson said. "Not everyone is losing money. But many moderate size dairy farms are experiencing considerable stress. Many are making the decision to grow or get out."

Dr. Terry Smith, dairy science, University of Wisconsin, said the dairy industry is competing for "stomach space" but has some optimism because 15 of the top 50 selling items in the grocery store come from the dairy case. New supermarkets have 10 to 15 percent more dairy case space because dairy items represent double the profit of the next best selling item—frozen foods.

"We are going in the right direction and should look at it as a positive indication of the future (of dairying)," Smith said. "You shouldn't be surprised that the retailer is excited about marketing dairy products. He likes the relative profitability of that space in the store and it's the number one reason consumers come into the store. That's why the retailer puts the milk and dairy products at the rear of the store so you pass the soft drinks and junk foods on the way there."

Smith said management represents the key issue in the dairy industry. This applies to dairy farmers as well as to other industries. "With all the dairies in the land, a few are making double the money on their cows than others are," Smith said. "What causes this difference? Simply the exchange of better thought, better knowledge and more energy. The many who refuse to believe this business requires intelligence are severely punished over the years by this skepticism." Smith was quoting what W. D. Hoard had said 105 years ago.

Robert Taylor, Pennwest Farm Credit said that when farmers shift into neutral, their income base deteriorates. The average size dairy in Pennsylvania is 64 cows but the top performance group is 146 cows.

"Lack of adequate scale is a disadvantage," Taylor said. "Business is business. Farmers need to plan, to organize, to lead, and to control.

"Cattle are living things and the emotional factor plays a roll. But decisions must focus on management goals. A lot of our farms today are not geared for the size of dairy herds we have now. Many are add-on affairs. Lanes built for horses and buggies must now accommodate tractor-trailor trucks.

"Farmers must learn to manage their own money, and the money of others. You need to budget and you need to do comparison shopping. Many operations are managing in reverse. They look for production without consideration of the cost of production. Today, farmers need to focus on returns."

Taylor also said debt must be used properly. He suggested that a $2,000 to $2,500 debt per cow is as high as you should go in long-term debt. "Work with lenders," Taylor said. "Have a business plan. Have liquidity for emergencies.

"In some areas of Pennsylvania multiple land-use possibilities has kept land values high. But generally a farmer is no longer going to be able to farm to retirement and liquidate. The opportunity (buyer) may not be there in the future," Taylor said.

Ronald Denker, retired Kraft General Foods executive, explained how a large processing company decides where to locate plants. He said the objective was always sales with saving money also important but secondary. No one reason is responsible for a facility to get closed or a new facility to be built. "If you are making a high quality product at a competive price that the marketing people can take and run with, you will get benefit," Denker said.

"New technology does influence new facilities.. It takes a lot more room. That's why a lot of small plants are gone. Increased productivity is also possible with new technology."

Denker said labor availablilty is not so much an issue as trained labor and labor that wants to work. Also environmental concerns sometimes close plants.

"Things change—the price of inputs or distribution patterns change," Denker said. "But cost and availability is a primary reason. The cheaper milk in California of $2.00 per hundred equates to 20 cents per pound of cheese. it costs 10 cents a pound to ship cheese to Boston so that's an 8 to 10 cent per pound saving. On millions of pounds produced you can see why you can close a plant in the East and go to California."

Denker said planning is started five to 10 years in advance of the opening of a new plant and state governments or organizations that know about this planning can have some effect on where the plant will

Chester County Dairy Milk Lines

Walter Wurster Extension Dairy Agent

On May 16, Chester County DHIA members overwhelmingly approved a conditional merger with Pennsylvania DHIA beginning June 1, 1994.

For a one-year period, the operation of Chester County DHIA will be suspended, but funds in the treasury will be held.

At the end of the trial period, the directors will decide whether to ask the members to finalize a merger with PA DHIA, return to an independent county status, or seek other alternative associations.

The main reason for the approval to merge was the overall savings most Chester County farmers will realize under the new rate structure. As an example, a 50-cow herd will save on DHIA 2x=$0.81, AM/PM=$15.59, and Owner Sampler = $34.74 per month. The largest savings will be for Owner Sampler and AM/PM herds with regular DHIA 2x staying about the same.

The new rates will go into effect on all bills created on or after June 1. Bills that came with the May report will be due as listed when the technician arrives in June.

One of the goals the directors wanted carried out this year was the replacement of all "Milk-O-Meters" with "Tru-Test" meters.

As part of the merger agreement, Chester County DHIA will purchase approximately 50 "Tru-Test" meters with county funds.

PA DHIA will offer a 4-cent discount on meter fees per month as compensation to Chester County DHIA members for the meter purchase until the total purchase price is recovered.

This way, the meters can be updated immediately, probably by July 1 and members will realize a savings in meter fees for several months.

Most of the new "Tru-Test" meters will need a bracket to mount them correctly on the pipeline. Most dairy farms have brackets, but the county association will purchase brackets for members if they need them. They should discuss with their technician whether brackets are needed at the next visit.

Also, the association is offering to buy unneeded brackets for $2 each from farmers. Contact Director Pete Miller (610) 935-1171) if you have extra brackets for sale.

The old "Milk-O-Meters" will be traded in on the purchase of the new "Tru-Test" meters, but approximately eight meters will be offered for sale at $25 each to members on a first-come, first-served basis.

These meters can be used by members to determine milk production on individual cows between test days. However, they will not be allowed to be used on test day. If you are interested in purchasing one or more of the old "Milk-O-Meters," contact Director Pete Miller.

Members will continue to receive a subscription to Lancaster Farming.

The Chester County DHIA Board of Directors is looking forward to a successful affiliation with PA DHIA that will provide continued excellent service and information at a reasonable cost to Chester County dairy farmers.

VENTILATION

1st Very Common Question: How should I ventilate my Barn?
A very good and simple answer: A Tunnel Ventilation System

2nd Very Common Question: What is a Tunnel Ventilation System?
Answer: A ventilation system that gives you even air flow throughout your entire building(approx. 2-5 MPH wind).

Advantages:

- no circulating fans
- summer and winter ventilation
- controls fly problems
- more comfort for your cows
- more comfort for you, the farmer
- more comfort - more milk

At-Home Schooling Helps Chester Dairy Farmers Thrive

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

RUSSELLVILLE (Chester Co.) — Nearly a half century ago, Sam Fullerton, a Soil Conservation Service (SCS) representative, laid out contour strips, and a diversion about 800-feet long, on the boyhood farm of dairyman Jesse Lair.

Proving that hands-on experience is nearly always the best teacher, some 40 years passed in which Jesse's family moved to another farm, he married, reared his own family, and watched his dairy business grow.

Watching Fullerton proved educational for the young Jesse. Almost like riding a bicycle, in 1989, Jesse constructed diversions as he had learned many years before.

For these and other efforts on his farm, Lair was recently honored as Chester County Conservation Farmer of the Year, presented to his family at the 1994 Chester County Crops Day.

Lair Farm

Hands-on experience and knowing the intricacies of conservation farming are part of the lessons learned at the Lair Farm near Russellville. And while many dairy farmers are leaving their home in the rich farmland of Chester County and calling it quits to dairying, the Lairs employ a "stay-at-home" attitude about life on the farm.

With help from his son David and their full-time herdsman Sam Patterson, Jesse manages the 170-acre farm. About 135 acres are cropped: 80 acres of corn, 45 acres of alfalfa, and 15 acres of barley.

The Lair's stay-at-home attitude includes education of their children. Martha supervises the home schooling. Kathryn, 16, studies math and science through the ABEKA Home Video Program. Her Latin and English come from other sources. David, 15, and Hannah, 11, use ABEKA home school material but are not in the video program. (ABEKA is produced by Pensacola Christian College of Pensacola, Fla., according to Martha.)

"I've been farming all my life," said Jesse, who helped on the farm owned by father William in Landenberg. William Lair and his father were members of Interstate Dairy Cooperative from 1930 until their deaths. Jesse continued with Interstate (now Atlantic Dairy Cooperative).

Most of the present farm was laid out in strips when Jesse and his father purchased it in 1961. During the 1960s, several wide fence rows were bulldozed, and additional strips were laid out.

In 1988, thinking that something more than strips was needed, Jesse asked the SCS, with Jim Cain, to lay out some storage terraces with an underground discharge pipe. This pipe ran several hundred feet through pastureland belonging to neighbor Harold Bryson, who was very helpful in giving permission to use the pasture. The terraces were constructed by Clair Burkhart's bulldozer operated by Eddie Hoover, according to Jesse.

In 1989, on another part of the farm, Tim Smail of SCS laid out four diversions which emptied into a grassed waterway which had been constructed the year before.

Jesse constructed these diversions with his own tractor and plow, in the same way the one had been done some 40 years earlier on that boyhood farm. The terraces and diversions cut across some of the previous strips; therefore, new strips were laid ou n 1990-1991, according to Jesse.

Jesse received a bachelor's degree in animal husbandry from the University of Delaware in 1950.

Farm technology

While keeping with some of the traditions of dairying since a youth, Jesse has learned to stay up-to-date in farm management and technology.

For example, Jesse has installed a computer feeder system on the farm, with part of the grain being mixed with corn silage and haylage fed in the bunk feeder. The dairy itself has 95 cows, of which 84 are milking, with 50 replacement head of all-grade Holsteins. They use Atlantic Breeders Cooperative AI.

The Lairs use a double-4 herringbone parlor and milk twice a day. DHIA averages are 19,750 pounds of milk, 712 pounds of fat, and 615 pounds of protein, which Jesse said they are "trying to get higher" with the help of their feed representative.

Some traditions are hard to change, however. Jesse uses all on-farm stock for replacement heifers — at least for the past 25 years, he said.

With the help of Jesse (doing the bidding), son David purchased five registered Holstein heifers at the recent Chester County 4-H Center Dairy Sale. Those purchased were donated by Breck-A-De Farm of Oxford, Hoopes Yarnall of Oxford, Harold and Glen Ranck of Cochranville, David and Becky Troop of Cochranville, and Art and Duane Hershey of Cochranville.

The Lairs donated a grade calf of their own, a 9-3-92 heifer, Addy, which was purchased by Robert Peifer, Cochranville, for $1,050 — the third highest-selling calf at the auction. The benefit auction raised about $29,000 for the new center.

Jesse said, "We didn't really do anything" for the sale, other than make the contribution of a heifer.

"David was interested in getting a registered Holstein calf," said Martha. "He ended up with five."

The Lairs indicated that David wants to work on improving the herd genetics through use of registered animals.

Jesse Lair, with the help of son David and hersman Sam Patterson, manages about 170 acres on the dairy, including about 135 in crops (80 acres of corn, 45 acres of alfalfa, and 15 acres of barley). The Lairs also take time to ensure that their children, front from left, Kathryn, 16; Hannah, 11; and David, 15 — make good use of the ABEKA Home School material and also help with farm chores. (The ABEKA program was produced by the Pensacola Christian College, according to Martha.) Photo by Andy Andrews

Tornado

Some improvements are necessary, since the Lairs had to deal, as many farmers did, with the spate of extreme winter weather and the severe storms that rolled through the area in the spring. One day, thunderstorms generated a tornado which careened through the farmland.

"It was raining so hard, we never heard any noise," (referring to the shed's destruction), said Jesse.

Martha said, "Our herdsman's wife was telling me that she heard the noise, and saw the twister coming. She said (the sky) got so black . . . she heard a rumbling, but she didn't know what it was. After she heard the noise . . . she saw a calf come running up over the hill."

That calf was AR-JOY ROYAL, the youngest (about a month old), of the five purchased at the 4-H sale. She was temporarily housed in the machine shed. Thankfully, the calf escaped harm.

But the machine shed didn't. It was destroyed by the twister, and it may cost upward of $10,000 or more to replace it, according to Jesse.

The Lairs see a recent change in the community that may hold some hope for farming. More and more Amish farmers are starting to farm the Chester County acreage. According to Martha Lair, younger, plain farmers are beginning to see the possibilities of caring for the good agriculture land in the county.

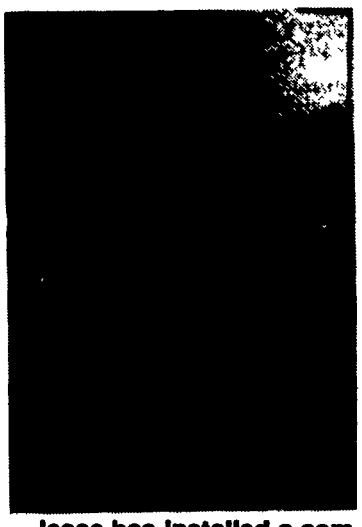
Urban pressure

But tornadoes are the least of the worries for farmers living in a county that is constantly feeling the pressure brought on by urban development. Houses are taking the place of what was once lush farmland. Where once the county had hundreds of dairies, now there is only a handful.

Taxes keep rising. The property value for development keeps increasing. More farmers are quitting the dairy business to go into what many refer to as "house-farming."



Jesse has installed a computer feeder system on the farm, which also uses a mixer for some grain, haylage, and corn silage.

But the Lairs see a recent change in the community that may hold some hope for farming.

More and more Amish farmers are starting to farm the Chester County acreage. According to Martha, younger, plain farmers are beginning to see the possibilities of caring for the good agriculture land in the county.

Image changing

The image of farming is changing as the population changes. The farm families have to deal with more urban people (who know little if anything about farming) as they move in.

"A lot of people think that farmers are nothing but ignorant hicks," said Martha. "They're not."

"It's getting harder and harder to have a dairy farm," said Jesse. Equipment is expensive, and expenses keep increasing.

Jesse has employed many modern methods on the farm to help educate the public that farmers are responsible for the land and can make a positive contribution to the community.

Conservation practices

Through the Chesapeake Bay program, in 1992 Jesse installed a 12-foot deep by 60-foot wide concrete manure storage structure.

Through the years, Jesse has installed a wide range of conservation practices that have helped benefit the land and increase its overall productivity.

According to district records, since signing up with the program, the Lairs have installed 2,712 feet of diversions, 3,150 feet of storage terrace, 1,320 feet of underground outlet, 900 feet of grassed waterway, and 96 acres of contour farming. Jesse, left, and David Lair inspect a chisel plow.

Also, the Lairs installed a stream crossing for dairy cows. They follow a nutrient management plan and make use of cover crops.

Some grassland was placed back into strips a few years ago, according to Jesse. In addition, more diversions were installed according to plan.

In 1988, he installed waterways with underground pipe (using restrictors to ensure controlled drainage).

Jesse said that he is honored by receiving the award, although he said that many other farmers deserve it as much as he does, considering all the hard work they have done to promote conservation.

National Certifies Mid-East DHIC Labs

HAGERSTOWN, Md. — National Dairy Herd Improvement Association recently certified the field and laboratory operations of Mid-East DHIC for the next 12 months, according to a recent news release.

According to the release, "All standards for the field services were met as they are required for this year. The lab scored 98 points out of 100.

Mid-East DHIC serves members in Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, and in Lancaster and Crawford counties in Pennsylvania, with some other herds in Franklin County.

More than 60 supervisors/technicians are employeed to serve the membership.

The Mid-East DHIA Lab, located in Hagerstown, Md., currently analyses more than 110,000 milk samples per month for fat and protien content, and for somatic cells.

The milk samples average ½-day in the laboratory until the results are transmitted to the dairy record processing centers (DRPC's).

According to General Manager George Gramling, "This is about as fast as we can operate while maintaining the strict standards for quality mandated by National DHIA."

Steve Bank, laboratory manager, oversees six lab employees, while Kelly Fisher, office manager, heads up data entry, assisted by two employees, one working part time.

Bob Hope Jr., is director of field services and works with the DHI supervisors.

information across processing platforms.

• "Monitor the appropriate level of DRPC support for the system.

• "Encourage development by other of PC analytical tools which utilize DRPC host computer and PC databses.

• "Study and evaluate new computer hardware and software technologies as they apply to the development of a cost effective, integrated distributive processing system.

• "Cultivate areas of additional use of DHIA records by other members of the dairy industry.

• "Assist service affiliates in working together to improve service and efficienty.

• "Gradually phase out DART-Plus and expand PCDART use to 1,000 herds by 1997.

• "Achieve 100 percent electronic input by December 1997."

Also, during the meeting, participation in the organization and its programs was announced.

According to a news release, in the DRPC @ Raleigh organization, there are 483 herds with 196,705 cows in 23 states using the PCDART program; 181 herds with 43,091 cows in 16 states using DART; 6,501 herds with 605,129 cows in 18 states using TPE; 28 herds with more than 25,000 cows using PCDHI; and 330 users in 33 states and Canada using the Consultant DART program.

Aslo, the DRPC Genetics Focus Group met and recommended that graphs following genetic trends be added to the November ERPA report; the calf page be modified to provide more dam production data; and that a committee be established to evaluate an alternative culling guide.

The DRPC Production Focus Group also met during the two-day event and recommeded the addition of more reporting codes for reasons for cow disposal; and an option to report a descriptive reason for a cow's leaving the herd.

The DRPC Advisory Board adopted all the recommendations.

Also announced was the introduction of color laser-printed DHI reports. The colors are to be used to highlight areas of interest according to member's needs. A committee is currently studying possible data to highlight as well as overall report design.

Ice Cream Festival Benefits Library System

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Library System of Lancaster County is celebrating its tenth anniversary for the annual ice cream festival along with Turkey Hill Dairy.

This year's Turkey Hill Old-Fashioned Ice Cream Festival is scheduled for Sunday, July 17, from 1 p.m.-5 p.m. at Lancaster Square, near the Brunswick Hotel in downtown Lancaster.

Turkey Hill Dairy will underwrite all festival expenses and donate ticket proceeds to the Library System of Lancaster County. Proceeds are used to purchase hundreds of children's books for the county's 17 library units.

Donations toward the tickets for the Turkey Hill Ice Cream Festival are $4 for adults and youth ages 12 and over; $2 for youth ages 5-11; and children 4 and under are free when accompanied by an adult ticket holder. There will be a $1 discount on tickets if purchased before the festival. Also, while supplies last, advance ticket sales will include a commemorative 10th anniversary button. Tickets are now on sale at any of the 17 library units in Lancaster County. Free parking will be available in the Prince Street Garage on the day of the festival.

Lancaster County libraries that have tickets on sale and which benefit from the proceeds of the festival are located in Adamstown, Christiana, Columbia, Elizabethtown, Ephrata, Intercourse, Leola, Lititz, Manheim, Manheim Township, Mount Joy, Mountville, New Holland, Quarryville, and Strasburg. The Lancaster County Library and its Bookmobile also have tickets on sale.

Included among the ice cream cones, sundaes, and frozen yogurt, Turkey Hill will imprint its own style on the festival with special ice cream flavors just for the tenth anniversary. Turkey Hill also will serve its variety of ice teas and tea coolers.

Specialty gift items will be on sale this year at the festival commemorating its tenth anniversary. Plus festival-goers can buy a chance to win a beautiful quilt courtesy hand sewn and designed exclusively for Turkey Hill Dairy. The quilt has been made courtesy of Turkey Hill Dairy.

Based on previous years, approximately 10,000 people are expected to attend the festivities. In additon to a variety of ice cream concoctions, the event will include entertainment and family-oriented activities ranging from dancers and demonstrations to big band sounds, hands-on activities and travelling entertainers.

The Turkey Hill Ice Cream Festival will be held at Lancaster Square, near the Brunswick Hotel, because of its ability to accommodate several thousand people and a variety of activities at one time. The festival will be held rain or shine.

Over the years, the Ice Cream Festival has raised a total of more than $70,000 for the Library System of Lancaster County.

locate. In comparing California with Pennsylvania Denker said California seems to have more funding and people to work at selling their state to processors. This promotional effort seems to be coordinated by a single group.

In the final analysis, Denker said the availability of a long range supply of milk and not taxes or other state government policies were the over-riding reason a plant was located in California and not in Pennsylvania. He said Pennsylvania did not have a unified voice for the dairy industry and also at the time a public relations firm was predicting that the milk supply in the Northeast would decrease drastically by 1995. Of course this is not proving to be true. He said that if Pennsylvania would have had a group to speak for the dairy industry they could have presented counter information that would have shown the other side of the story.

It can be noted that one of the objectives in the formation of the Pennsylvania Dairy Industry Future Committee is to provide a forum for this kind of discussions in the future.

Introducing Delvotest® SP.

Buy a Delvotest® Block Heater before June 30, 1994, and get a FREE Delvotest® SP MiniKit.

Delvotest® SP is a simple, reliable, inexpensive test for detecting virtually all antibiotics which includes an increased sensitivity for sulfa residues in milk. You can set up a Delvotest® SP in 2 minutes. With the use of a timer, you can read the results at your convenience, up to 12 hours from the start of the incubation period. You run the test in your own milk room.

Why Delvotest® SP?

- Because you need to know your milk is free from all antibiotics, including sulfa residues.
- Because you need to know your milk is going into the tank truck, instead of down the drain.

Dairy Manure Handling

especially storages holding large amounts of manure, are a threat to the environment.

Any good manure handling system will include backup plans to allow continuous operation even if key components malfunction.

Advanced thought should be given to how a large manure spill, resulting from a damaged storage or broken pipe, can be contained before large quantities of manure reach nearby streams or lakes.

Hazards

Manure systems present hazards from asphyxiation, poisoning, drowning, and machinery entanglement and entrapment. Pumps pits and tanks can easily contain poisonous gases that will not be apparent until someone enters the tank and is overcome.

Multiple deaths have occurred as a result of failure to follow appropriate procedures for working in these confined spaces. Do not enter manure sumps, pits or storage tanks without appropriate safety apparatus and procedures. No tool, pump part, or farm chore is equivalent in value to the cost of a human life!

Another common hazard is failure to provide adequate guarding at manure tank openings and push off ramps to prevent entry by people, tractor scrapers, or cows. All open storages or openings into storages must have adequate fencing, guards, or covers to prevent visitors, including small children, from gaining entry.

Everyone has an obligation to design, supply, buy, operate, and maintain manure storage and handling systems that are safe for workers and visitors.

Handling Systems

A complete system allows for collection and removal of manure from the animal housing areas, treatment if necessary, transport to storage system, short and long term holding or storage, transport to cropland, and land application.

Collection systems include gutter cleaners and gravity flow channels in tie stall dairy barns and tractor scrapers, automatic alley scrapers, flushing, and slotted floors in freestall dairy barns.

Outside yards, lots, and feeding areas can be cleaned with scrapers or in some instances flushing.

Bedded pack and pen areas should be designed to allow cleaning with tractor loaders. New and major renovated pack areas should have sufficient access and clearance to allow use of large front end loaders for pack removal.

Scrapers with rubber edges or made from sections of large rubber tires provide less wear and polishing of concrete and tend to squeegee the floor.

Metal blades or buckets with down pressure are more effective under freezing conditions.

Manure may be pushed off an elevated lip directly into a spreader or pushed into a storage or collection gutter. In some cases it is pushed to an area with a buck wall for loading with a bucket loader.

Automatic freestall alley scrapers are often cost and labor savers on large farms and frequent operation provides cleaner alleys and cows. The cost and time required for maintenance or alley scrapers is often less than the total cost (labor, machinery, maintenance, injured animals) of daily tractor scraping.

Unattended operation of alley scrapers where very small or new born calves could be dragged away by the slow moving blade is not recommended.

Alley scrapers must discharge through a hole, over a collection channel, or off the edge of a storage.

The drop off point for the manure must be located and protected to assure that people, animals or equipment will not inadvertently fall in.

Flush cleaning is a low labor method that allows for frequent cleaning and results in drier alleys and cleaner cows.

Important components of flush systems are adequate water supply, water disposal system, elevations, slopes, pumps and pipes.

Systems can successfully operate much of the year, even in cold climates, if adequate facilities are available to take care of storage of extra water.

The most common problems with flushing systems are the quantity of water required and separating solids for reusing water.

Farmers are often overwhelmed by the amount of water that must be handled and the need for more dilution water in recirculating systems than expected.

Criteria for satisfactory flushing include water volume per flush, flow rate, duration of flush, velocity of water, and depth of water.

In general, a 3 inch depth of water and 5-feet-per-second velocity are recommended. A 3-percent alley slope is often considered ideal. Steeper slopes will require more water and a higher flow rate, shallower slopes will require a high rate of water to maintain velocity.

Water can be supplied from tip tanks, reservoirs with large gates that open or delivered through large pipes from high volume pumps or elevated holding tanks or ponds.

Slotted floors provide a method for immediate removal of manure from the animal area. Once beneath the floor, manure may be stored in an underfloor tank or removed by an automatic scraper, flushing, or a gravity flow channel. Manure stored under slats can result in gas, odor and moisture problems in enclosed barns and should be avoided. Keep animals and people out of enclosed barns and provide maximum ventilation during agitation and clean out, if a manure tank is located under the slats.

Floors may be configured with long parallel slats and slots, or oblong holes in a so called waffle pattern.

Field observations indicate that animals seem to walk more surely on waffle slats but no research is available concerning either configuration.

Slatted floors allow urine to drain quickly away and manure is pushed through the slots by animal traffic. The result is a drier environment for the cows' hoofs.

If used in extremely cold situations manure will eventually freeze and not go through the slots. Provide access for a tractor scraper to remove manure during cold weather.

Removal systems move manure from the barn to the field for immediate application or to storage.

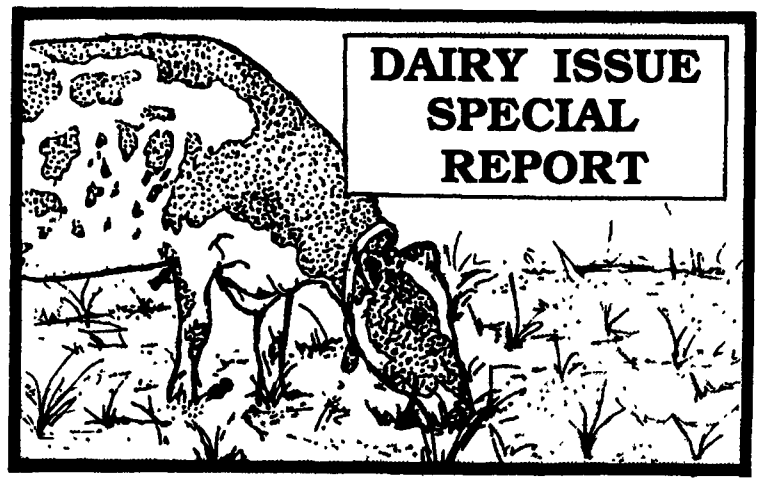
Are The Cows Eating Enough?

Lisa A. Holden
Project Associate
Dairy And Animal Science
Penn State



Spring is one of the busiest times of the year. It's easy to be swept away by all the chores to be done. Stop a minute and ask yourself, "Are the cows eating enough?"

Cows with low dry matter intake (DMI) may be down in milk, may be losing too much condition, and may develop breeding or health problems later. Adequate DMI is important for all animals and is especially important for high producing cows.

A cow's DM requirements are determined by her body weight, level of milk production, stage of lactation, body condition, and energy expenditures. During early lactation, the cow's DMI does not meet her DM requirements, particularly with high producing cows. At all other times, feeding management mostly determines whether the cow's DM requirements are met.

Environmental conditions, such as hot temperatures, often affect the cow's DMI, but many of the factors that affect DMI are more manageable than the weather. The type and quality of feed available, particularly forages, influence the cow's DMI. Lower quality forages (high in NDF) can cause a reduction in DMI.

Wet feed ingredients can cause a reduction in DMI, particularly fermented ingredients such as silages. Since the moisture content of silage affects its fermentative properties, silages too high in moisture may be lower in quality than properly fermented silage.

During spring, when sources of forage may be changing or silos are being emptied, changes in moisture or forage quality can have a big impact on DMI. The availability and quality of water also impact DMI. If water is not available when cows are turned out on pasture or exercise lots, DMI may be reduced. If water quality is poor, either chronically or because of an acute situation related to spring rains, cows may respond by eating less DM.

Finally, facilities can impact the cow's ability to obtain enough DM to meet requirements. Overcrowding at the bunk leads to decreased DMI, particularly for smaller or more timid cows. Changes in housing or milking routines that the amount of time cows have access to feed may also affect DMI.

Stalls or feed bunks that are outdated or poorly designed may affect the cow's ability to reach feed or eat comfortably, thereby influencing DMI. Making high quality feed available to the cow in a comfortable environment with access to clean water will help to ensure that adequate DM is being consumed.

The physical and physiological forces within the cow that govern DMI are complex and somewhat fixed. In early lactation, these forces significantly impact DMI, but optimizing DMI is always a good goal.

The external forces governing DMI — feeding management — are more controllable. So this spring, amidst all the uncontrollable weather and seasonal changes, amidst all the busy hours and hurried tasks, ask yourself, are the cows eating enough?

Family And Farming Synonymous At Maple Lawn

"We have it so that one person can operate it," Iager said. "It takes one person about three and a half hours to milk 175 cows."

After milking, the cows are released in groups of nine, with access to nine computer feeders. Each of the 175 milking cows has a transponder on her neck with a computer chip inside. A computer in the office has programmed each cow individually, and a computer read-out in the office each morning at 9 a.m. tells the Iagers exactly what each cow has eaten the previous day.

"For example if you want the number 10 cow to have 12 pounds, she can have three pounds every six hours," Iager said. "She can't have all 12 pounds at once, but she can eat three pounds every six hours to consume her 12 pounds."

As a cow walks into a stall with a computer feeder the computer reads her chip. There is a click and the sound of the 20 percent protein concentrate being dropped into the feeder.

After they have visited the computer feeders the cows can feed on a total mixed ration (TMR) which is set for about 75 pounds per cow per production. "Any (cows) that produced over 75 pounds we supplement on the computer feeder," Iager said.

A nutritionist from Wilson Enterprises in West Virginia visits Maple Lawn Farm every six weeks to balance the ration with the ingredients the Iagers have on hand, to save cost and give Maple Lawn Farm the highest milk production possible.

"They take samples of the corn silage, alfalfa haylage and hay to check the protein and moisture content," Iager said. "You want your TMR to have 50 percent protein all the time. We use alfalfa hay, alfalfa haylage and corn silage, roasted beans and corn." These are all products raised on Iager's farm. They also purchase vitamins and minerals, beet pulp and cottonseed to add to the TMR. Then it is mixed in a mixer with built-in scales and served to the cows just outside of the milking parlor. With one bite the cow has a balanced feed to be metabolized. Charles Iager compares free feeding to going to a cafeteria and eating just the things we like instead of the things that are good for us.

Maple Lawn Farm maintains a rolling herd average of about 22,000 milk/3.6 percent fat, and 3.2 percent protein. After classifying just weeks ago, they have an unofficial BAA of 104.8. Two hired hands help them on the farm.

"We've had a bunch of high production cows," says Mr. Iager. "But our goal has always been to have a 300,000-pound cow. We haven't yet. We have had a couple dozen over 200,000 and lots over 150,000 though. The top production was about 40,000 with 1,200 to 1,300 pounds of fat." Maple Lawn Farm's highest classified animal was a 96-point cow named Maryland Maple Lawn Marquis Glamour. They sold her for $1,500 to help pay for their milking parlor, then she was resold for almost $70,000. One of that cow's offspring later sold for over a million dollars in Wisconsin.

Judy Iager says they are lucky to have three boys who are interested in the farm and have been very willing to help over the years. "All the different things they can do they have tried hard to do and have done it," she says. All three sons, Michael, Matt and Mark have gone to National 4-H Club Congress just as their father did when he was young. Michael and Matt have gone to National Holstein Conventions as distinguished juniors from Maryland. Mark is set to go this year. Michael was the first president of the Maryland Junior Holstein Association in 1987. Michael attended the University of Maryland. Matt is a graduate of Delaware Valley College and is currently in his second year of vet school at Virginia Maryland Regional College of Veterinarian Medicine at Virginia Tech. Mark graduates from high school this year. So the tradition of educated farming at Maple Lawn Farm continues.

As president of the Maryland Holstein Association, Charles Iager says his long-term goal is to organize a workshop at a farm. "Maybe for next year," he says, "where all the 700 membership could go to a modern farm and look at their operation. While there, we could have exhibitors demonstrate the latest, up-to-date things that a dairyman can learn about TMR, milkers, ultrasound pregnancy tests or sexing eggs. Maybe someone from the DHIA could come in and explain how to understand their sheets and answer questions related to the red book or the sire summary that comes out twice a year. We could find out about the newest ways to register cows and we might even have a judging school for those who want to be on the judging list. It could be an all-day thing with a fun meal and an educational set-up with adults and kids welcome. Doing all these things could help the farmer become more efficient, make money and maybe pick up a few things about farming."

Maryland Holstein Picnic Set For June 26 At Maple Lawn Farm

The Maryland Holstein picnic is scheduled to be held at Maple Lawn Farm on Sunday June 26. The Iagers wrote this note to cordially extend a special invitation to all members, juniors and adults, to come.

There will be tours, swimming, games and a picnic starting at 11 a.m. and continuing as long as desired. Fried chicken and drinks will be provided. Each family should bring lawn chairs and a covered dish to share.

To get to the farm follow these directions:

From Baltimore: 1 mile West of Route 29 on Route 216. 4 miles West of I-95, take Scaggsville/Route 216 West exit.

For questions or comments, call: Charles & Judy, (301) 725-6751; Gene & Kathy, (301) 725-8387; Mike & Heather, (301) 725-4611; Farm, (301) 725-2074.

Family And Farming

The Maryland Holstein Association has a covered dish picnic planned for Sunday, June 26 at Maple Lawn Farm beginning at 11 a.m. and the public is invited. They will have a tour of the facilities and the cattle, games, an open pool and a meeting with a possible speaker.

If Charles Iager was to give any advice to fellow farmers it would be to go slowly. "Some people get into the business and borrow too much money. It can cause problems when you go in too big. We should borrow in small amounts that we can pay back in a reasonable amount of time, not over a long period, and watch the interest rate. I always see things as growing slowly, a little bit at a time. That is what we have always done here. We sold a group of heifers to build our milking parlor in 1965, then we sold a group of heifers to Brazil to update the milking parlor." Currently the Iagers are building a 100-cow free-stall barn and a manure pit. Rather than haul away the dirt they are using it to construct a 50 by 500-foot automated pole barn for the turkeys.

Indicating her son Mark feeding a calf nearby, Judy Iager smiles. "It always feels good to raise a calf up and have it do well." Family and farming are synonymous at Maple Lawn Farm.

The cows are fed with a portable TMR mixer.

Charles and Judy Iager.

Star shaped core optimizes RFV.

With the new 4800 Series Round Balers, you'll be baling hay earlier.

You'll put more high-protein leaves in the bale for higher relative feed value (RFV). And, the star-shaped core allows the bale to breath, optimizing RFV at feeding time, too.

Best of all, the new 4800 Round Balers are easy to use.

Select the best size for your operation: 700, 900, or 2000 pounds. Then ask to see one at your White-New Idea dealer or call 1 800 767-3221.

Manure Handling

For immediate field application the manure may be loaded directly into a manure spreader from a gutter cleaner discharge or push off lip, or loaded with a front end loader.

More liquid manure may be pumped from a collection channel, sump, or small tank that holds a day or two manure accumulation.

If manure is to be pumped into a liquid spreader, wastewater from the milking center is usually included to make agitation and pumping easier. Manure can be conveyed to a storage located at the barn by the gutter cleaner, tractor scraper, large piston pump, centrifugal pump, gravity flow pipe or gravity flow channel. Manure can be transported to satellite storages located away from the barn by trucks, large spreaders or pipelines.

Manure storage systems may be located at the barn or near the cropland that will receive the manure.

If manure must be transported long distances, it is often more effective to provide satellite storages near the cropland. This allows the manure to be hauled to the storage during low labor periods and makes for more efficient spreading. Liquid manure, especially if solids have been removed, can be pumped long distances to satellite storages.

The storage must be compatible with the form of manure is removed from the barn. Heavily bedded manure can be easily stacked in three sided bunker type storages or on simple hard surfaced or packed gravel pads. Storages should be designed to prevent clean water from running into them and to direct any leachate or runoff water from the storage away from streams to vegetative filter areas or holding ponds.

Liquid manure can be stored in properly designed concrete or steel tanks, concrete or membrane lined in ground storages and in some cases earth storages. It is critical that storages be located and constructed to assure that manure will not seep through storage walls or bottom to ground or surface water.

Consult the USDA Soil Conservation Service or a qualified soils engineer regarding location and design of in ground manure stor-ages. An annual inspection and maintenance program should be in place to assure continued safe operation of any type manure storage.

Liquid storages require appropriate signs, guards and fences to protect workers and visitors from unintended entry and possible loss of life.

Treatment Systems

Solids separation will allow easier handling of liquid material, allows for recycling of water for flushing, and can provide a useful by-product.

Separation systems can be categorized as gravity, screens, extruders, and cyclones.

Settling tanks or basins use gravity and time to allow larger particles of liquid manure to settle or float out.

Screens normally require some method to prevent particles from plugging or blinding the screen. This may be accomplished by sloping the face of the screen so material slides off or with mechanical scraping or vibration. Screens require a dilute material similar to that obtained with flushing systems.

Extruders use screws, plungers, or belts to pack manure against a perforated cylinder, box, belt or plate. Liquid is forced out through the holes and the solids are discharged out the end. These devices tend to provide a drier solid and some will work with a less dilute, slurry consistency manure.

Cyclone separators are similar to dust collectors. A very dilute flow of manure is introduced into a conical chamber that encourages large particles to move to the outside and allows liquid to pass through the middle. These separators are not common in dairy manure handling systems.

Anaerobic digestion or biogas production has been used by some large farms as a method to extract energy from manure and reduce odor that results from long term liquid storage.

The biogas process converts complex organic material such as manure into biogas and low odor effluent. A heated digester with a 15-25 day detention time is normally required.

The primary constituents in biogas are methane (natural gas), carbon dioxide and trace gases.

Originally the primary interest was in energy production, usually electricity. Economics tended to favor farms with more than 200-400 cows. Even at this size most farmers chose not to bother with the extra expense and management requirements.

Recently there has been interest is biogas digesters as a method to solve odor and nuisance problems associated with storing and handling large quantities of dairy manure. The process does not significantly reduce the amount of manure or the nutrient content, but does alter the form of the nitrogen. The effluent will be more liquid and homogeneous as a result of the digestion process.

Composting is another form of treatment that dairy farmers are considering to reduce the odor and nuisance problems associated with dairy manure.

Composting is an aerobic process that requires a material with good porosity, 40-60-percent moisture content and proper carbon to nitrogen ratio. Some form of mixing and or aeration is required to provide satisfactory composting.

The process generates its own heat, reaching temperatures of 120-140°F. When properly done, composting will eliminate most odors and result in a stable, easily handled, dry, humus — like material. Most dairy manure requires some form of dry carbonaceous material such as straw, sawdust or wood chips to maintain the desired moisture content and carbon nitrogen ratio.

Some dairy farmers have found an additional income source by charging municipalities or industries to take materials such as paper, cardboard, tree trimmings, etc. This is then mixed with the manure and after composting either spread on land or sold as compost.

Summary

Anyone considering major changes in manure handling or dairy housing should give careful thought to the various components of a complete manure handling system.

A change in housing method from a heavily bedded tie stall barn to a freestall barn may render existing manure handling equipment useless.

Large increases in cow numbers without an increase in land to spread manure on may result in

Westfalia Offers Software Seminars

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. — Westfalia is offering two training seminars for users of its dairy herd management software programs, or those interested, to be held June 14 in Leola, and June 15 in Carlisle.

Reservations are required and must be made by Friday, June 10. Call Lisa at 1-800-323-6723, extension 243. Information requested is name, address, phone number and choice of the two seminars.

The training seminar is to cover the following areas of the Dairyplan software program: an overview of the Dairyplan design, including computer and software setup; basic cow entry; veterinarian actions; designing reports; communications with Dairy Herd Improvement Association/Dairy Records Processing Centers; and advanced program techniques.

The seminar is to include the necessary basics to become fluent in using the capabilities of the software, and complete coverage of Dairyplan, including the newest 4.3 version.

Those who attend and are users are asked to bring with them back-up disks and be prepared to ask questions.

The only costs involved is $10 per person for a buffet luncheon that is to be served at each of the two locations.

The seminars are to start at 9:30 a.m., and end at 3 p.m.

The June 14 seminar is to be held at Leola Family Restaurant, located along Rt. 23 (west from Rt. 30) in Leola.

The June 15 seminar is to be held at the Best Western Motel, located along Rt. 11, in Carlisle.

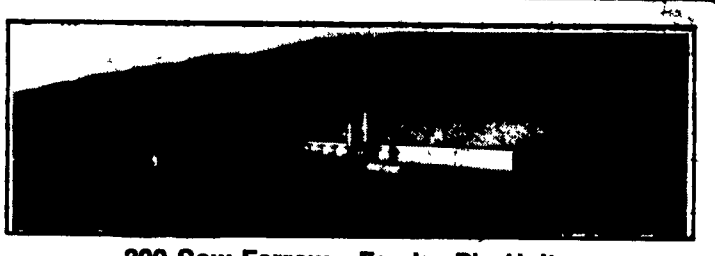
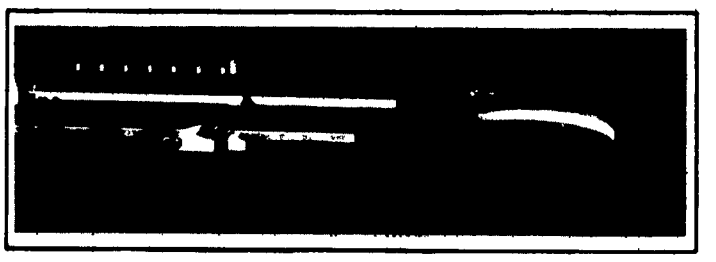
PIG SAVER "DUTCH CRATE"
Developed through testing in our research farms the goal was to develop a crate that nearly eliminates crushing, due to lay ons, unmatched durability and be easy to work around. All this has been achieved by a unique gravity fliprail that forces sows to lie down slowly and using stainless steel for rear doors and legs, proven horizontal and solid steel rod construction. All this at a reasonable cost. Crate also can be installed on an angle.

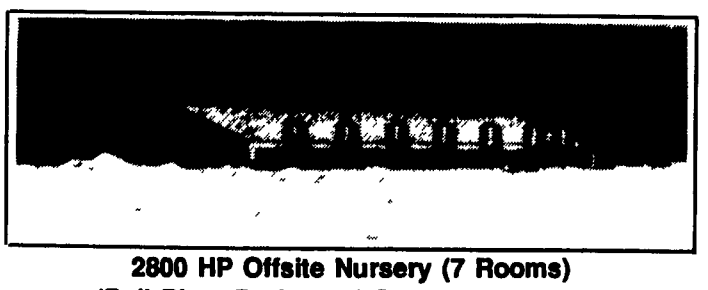


300 Sow Farrow - Feeder Pig Unit

CONFINEMENT STALLS
Developed in our R&D farm. Our goals were convenience, safety and durability. The low back and flat top rails are easy to reach over with no sharp edges. Stainless steel rear legs and front feet along with solid steel horizontal rods through punched uprights provide the strongest, most durable stall ever produced by Tri-County (21"-24" O.C. x86")

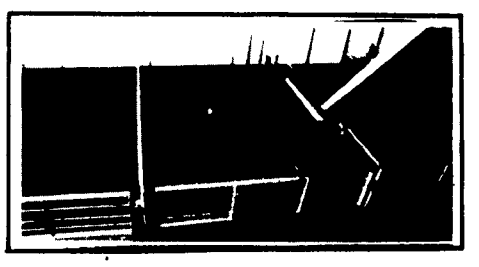


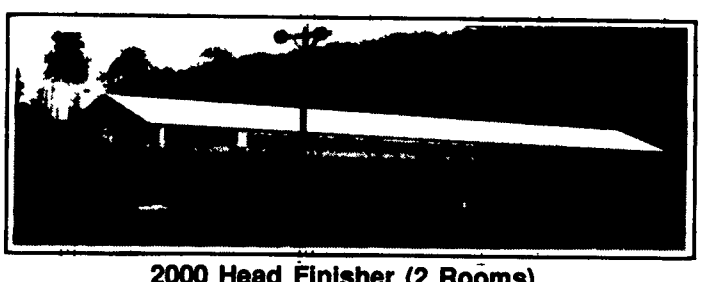
1200 Sow Farrow-Feeder Pig Unit



2800 HP Offsite Nursery (7 Rooms)
(Pull Plug, Preferated Ceiling Ventilated)

NURSERY PENNING
Nursery penning has been improved by the use of an optional solid stainless steel panel on the front gates which keeps walkways clean. Stainless steel feet on penning eliminate corrosion where penning attaches to the floor. Stainless steel drinker pipes & mounting brackets also increase durability.





2000 Head Finisher (2 Rooms)
(Deep Pit, Tunnel Ventilated)

FINISHING PENNING
Standard stainless steel feet and fasteners offer improved durability over other similar types of penning. Loop and flapper latch arrangement eliminates the use of drop pins. Stainless steel fence line feeders provide excellent durability and a minimum of waste.

STRESS-FREE ROW CROP GUIDANCE

IN STOCK!

- Unique design keeps the implement parallel with the rows even when the tractor moves laterally as it drifts off course. Most other systems oversteer the toolbar which adds damaging side pressure to the stabilizing coulters.
- Automatically compensates for sidehill drift
- Eliminates excessive pull and stress on hydraulic components associated with other guidance systems.
- Very few moving parts provide smooth, friction-free lateral movement.
- Works effectively on all conventional and ridge-till cultivators, planters and 4-wheel drive articulated tractors.

Cornell Dairy Records Accepts Information Electronically

ITHACA, N.Y. — Dairy producers can choose to send herd information to Cornell Dairy Records from anywhere. They are no longer tied to a dairy records processing center (DRPC) because of their location.

This change came about at the 1993 National Dairy Herd Improvement Association (NDHIA) Convention when delegates supported a bylaws proposal that removes geographic barriers between dairy producers and their choice of DHI membership organization. As a result dairy producers wishing to change processing centers needed a method to easily transfer herd information.

NDHIA worked with the processing centers to set up a uniform method of electronically transferring data among DRPCs. This uniform method of transferring herd data is called the National Standard Transfer Format. NDHIA Quality Certification rules state all processing centers must complete this national format by July 1, 1994. Cornell Dairy Records has completed this National Standard Transfer Format well ahead of the deadline.

Records for a herd can be transferred to Cornell Dairy Records from another processing center once that DRPC has completed the National Standard Transfer Format. Herd information Cornell Dairy Records receives consists of name and address information, current rolling herd average information (previous if available), herd totals for a minimum of 12 tests (more if it is available), string herd totals and herd averages for individual strings. Individual cow information Cornell Dairy Records receives includes identification (cow, sire and dam), all completed lactations (305, 305 ME and 365 day records), complete record-in-progress, breeding information from all lactations, calf information, sample day test information for all lactations (milk, fat, protein, somatic cell and linear score). The center also receives calf program information.

According to NDHIA, a processing center must make a herd's information available to the recipient processing center within two days of receiving the request.

"We lead the way in implementing a new NDHIA herd and cow record format system for herds transferring from one center to another," said Lyle Wadell, Cornell Dairy Records director. He added, "Our efforts put us months ahead of the deadline set by NDHIA."

For DHI supervisors and field technicians the implementation of the uniform transfer format means they have to complete a lot less paperwork in order to transfer a herd's data to Cornell Dairy Records.

A big plus for DHI field technicians using on-farm supervisor entry personal computer (PC) software is that now they only have to complete a download and treat the herd being transferred into Cornell Dairy Records center as a normal herd. When they arrive at the farm the herd's information can immediately be pulled up on on the PC.

Eli Riehl, a DHI field technician who now tests a former Pennsylvania herd that was transferred to Cornell Dairy Records using Cornell's new National Standard Transfer Format said, "I think it is great, I am the type of person that feels, having the modern technology we do, if you are going to do some things without paperwork why not do all without paperwork. When a field technician goes to the barn, now the herd is right in front of you and there is not a lot of guesswork."

If you have any questions about transferring herd and cow records please contact Kathy Hagin at 1-800-USA-DRPL.

application of manure nutrients at levels exceeding the crop removal rate.

General guidance and requirements for handling manure in Pennsylvania is found in the Department of Environmental Resources publication Manure Management for Environmental Protection.

Material and ideas about manure handling systems are available from cooperative extension offices, conservation district offices, Soil Conservation Service offices, equipment suppliers, builders, land improvement contractors and other farmers.

Visit farms that have similar situations to yours and learn how the system is working.

Any of the above individuals can help you locate farms to visit.

DAIRY NUTRI-DRENCH™

Dairy Nutri-Drench is an oral nutrient rich concentrate which delivers energy, vitamins, essential amino acids, and trace minerals rapidly into the bloodstream of the animal.

Dairy Nutri Drench...

- Gets ketotic cows quickly back on feed and in full production fast.
- Assists the newborn calf to overcome chilling, and calving trauma.
- Assists the scouring calf to immediately assimilate critically needed nutrients.
- Is an excellent source of energy and micro-nutrients for the sick animal.

Cows Are First At Bashore Farm Where Whole Family Works Together In Dairy Promotion And Production

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Jennifer Lynn Bashore has been active in dairy promotion long before she became the Lebanon County Dairy Princess last year. That's because her parents, Ricki and Roberta, believe every farmer should be doing something to advertise milk and its products.

Those who drive by Udder Valley Farm get the message that milk is important to this family. Emblazoned on the side of the white barn is the Real Seal emblem and the scarlet-colored message: Drink Milk.

The project was a family affair. Dad did the painting after Jennifer and her sister cut the stencil for the letters and emblems.

"It was so easy. It only took a little paint and time to leave, what I think, is a big impact," Bashore said. Several families told him that whenever they drive by the farm, their children chant: Drink milk. Drink milk.

"So I know some people are hearing the right message," Bashore said.

The Bashores purchased the 120-acre farm in 1987 at a bankruptcy auction.

"The place was unbelievable. People said it was so bad they didn't want to touch it," Roberta said.

But the Bashores, accustomed to hard work and long hours, remained undaunted. They invited their Berks County family and friends to help clean up the property. The barn gutters were filled level with manure that had to be shoveled out by hand. Almost all the equipment had to be replaced. New stalls, a manure system, and pipeline milkers were installed.

Ricki said, "When I spend money, I try to spend it on things that will make everyday chores easier and more convenient rather on a purchase like a big tractor that is only used seasonally."

His motto is: "No keeping up with the Joneses on our farm."

Nonetheless, Ricki did purchase a new tractor recently — but only because the larger tractor saves him time by allowing him to plow more in his allotted daily plow time.

In addition to the farm's 120 acres, the Bashores rent an additional 300.

"Although we farm a lot of land, cows are number one on this place," Ricki said. "It's the best part of farming. I could spend all day with the cows."

That preference was honed only after he farmed on his own.

He said, "When I worked for my dad, milking cows was just work. But when those cows became mine, and I needed to produce more milk to pay the bills, those cows became top importance. It was exciting to see how I could make the cows produce more milk by feeding them differently."

Ricki grew up on his dad's Berks County farm.

"Things have changed dramatically since then. Farming was just working hard then. Now farming is more than working hard. It requires spending hours pushing a pencil — but I love that part too," he said.

Ricki spends hours pouring over DHIA reports.

"You got to do that to succeed," he said. "It tells you everything you want to know. The bottom line for me is the income over feed costs.

"I don't work 16 hours a day for fun. All it boils down to is trying to make a living."

Bashore said, "When you farm, you've got to do a little bit of everything — mechanic, carpenter, accountant . . . At the same time, you've got to realize you can't do it all and learn to let consultants help."

A few weeks ago, Bashore hired a crop consultant. "I'm real tickled with his help. He already saved me more money than what he cost this year."

Forages are always carefully analyzed and formulated for total mixed rations.

"You've got to do a good job in the fields if you want the cows to give good milk," Bashore said.

The grain used is always homegrown but corn often runs short and additional needs to be purchased.

Bashore recalled that the first year he started farming on his own, he did things just like his dad had done, but the next year, he parked the planter and said, "We are going to cut hay."

His dad was nonplussed and said. "You've got to finish planting before you cut hay."

Bashore was adament. "We got to get the hay in when it's younger to make better milk."

Bashore said his dad was skeptical, but the next year, he didn't need to answer any questions "because Dad had seen the difference and he was convinced."

Roberta helps milk cows every day. "I did not grow up on a dairy farm, but I did know how to drive tractor and throw bales before I got married," she said.

When she married, Roberta determined to learn all she could about cows and attended breeding school and read articles.

Since high school graduation, Jennifer works from 6 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on the farm. After milking, she does field work or whatever needs to be done — except planting.

"I don't plant because a shrill squeal sounds whenever the planter isn't planting for who knows whatever reason. I can't stand the noise," she said.

The family has devised an incentive plan to get cows bred. Jennifer gets $2 per cow per day for every day the cows is under 125 days open. Currently, the cows average 113 days, which means Jennifer gets a $77 bonus this month.

The animals on the Bashore farm are not all black and white. A pair of white pigmy goats run free on the land. The goats are tame as puppies and do not wander away from the farm.

(Turn to Page B4)

The sign at the entrance to Udder Valley Farm informs passerbys that this is the home of the Lebanon County Dairy Princess. Jennifer Bashore stands with her calf, Leaping Lilly.

Not all the cows are kept in the barn. This is just a small part of Roberta's cow collection, which also includes 55 T-shirts and sweatshirts. Roberta poses as Hildegard Holstein, left, an outfit she sewed for milk promotions at school and at the Reading Hospital. Roberta sews and sells many of the items shown.

Cows Are First At Bashore Farm

About one dozen Muscovy breeder ducks also roam free. When the ducklings are born, the wings are clipped and the ducklings are placed in a pen with the hen until they reach three to four weeks of age. The hen is then let out of the pen. The ducklings remained penned until eight to 10 weeks of age, when they are left free. Because the ducks' wings are clipped at birth, it is fairly easy to capture the ducks when they are ready to sell. The children help pluck the feathers, and Roberta dresses the ducklings, which are sold privately.

The family keeps a few bull calves to eat the leftovers that are scraped out of the cow troughs daily.

"The kids complain about scraping the troughs, but I ask them, 'Would you want to eat off last night's plate with the leftovers still on it?'" said Bashore.

Much of Jennifer's work in dairy promotion requires speaking before an audience, which never daunted her.

She said, "I developed my speaking ability in FFA, and I've been on the parliamentary procedure team since ninth grade."

When Jennifer was a senior, her team was a semifinalist at national competition.

She is also a member of the Dairy Bowl Team for Lebanon County and will compete at nationals in July.

She is treasurer of the county junior Holstein Club and president of the 4-H Norlebco 4-H.

Jennifer received the star farmer award in 9th through 12th grade.

Jennifer's term as dairy princess expires July 1. It is with sorrow that she relinquishes her crown. She does not regret that she postponed college so that she could work wholeheartedly in dairy promotion. "I really enjoyed talking to children who don't know much about dairy farming or milk," Jennifer said. "After I left school promotions, the children knew they needed three servings of dairy products every day and where to get it."

Jennifer found the majority of people receptive to trying samples during store promotions.

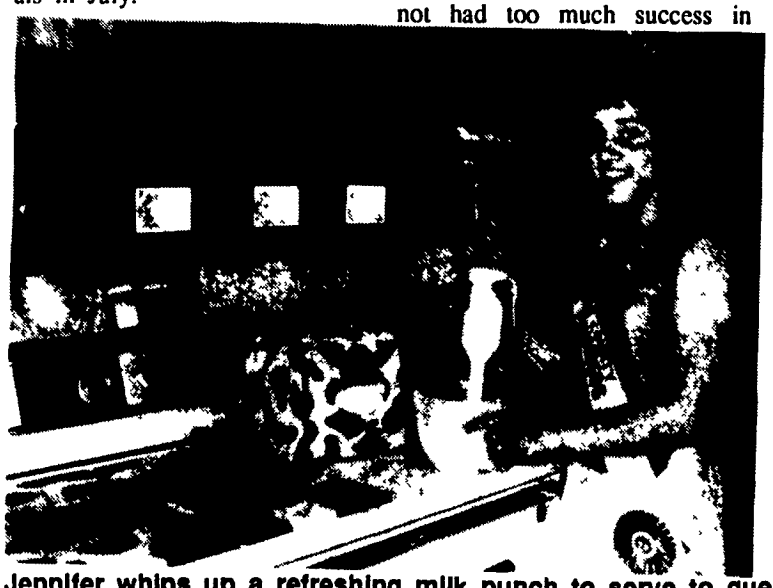
"They loved getting recipe pamplets," she said.

She met a few stubborn consumers who insisted that brown cows give chocolate milk and who refused to believe that cows are milked at least twice daily.

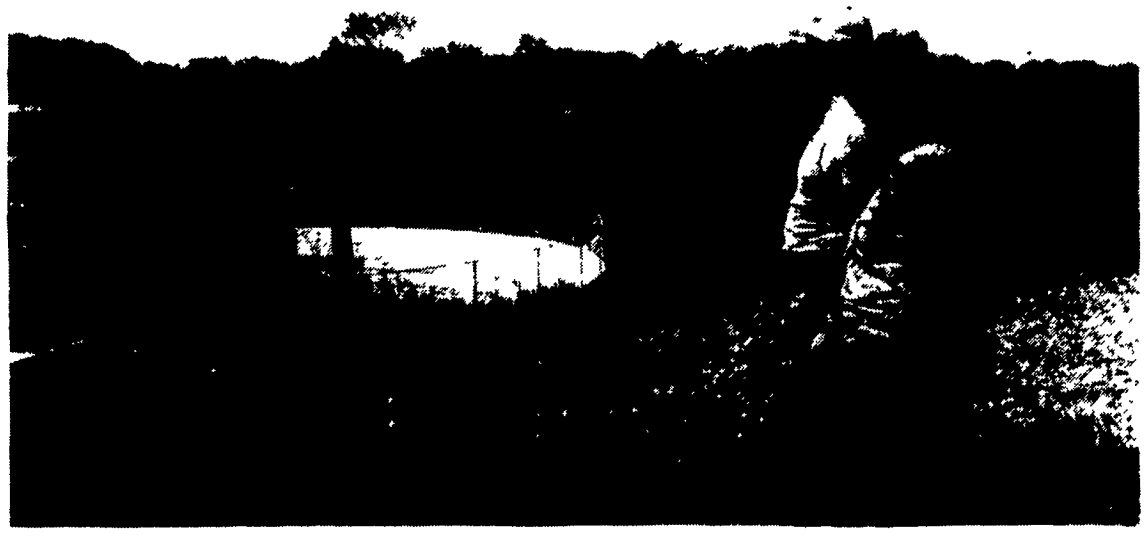
Although frustrated by these folks, Jennifer said the experience taught her to show more respect for other people's ideas and thoughts.

This fall, she plans to study early childhood education at the Lebanon branch of Harrisburg Community College.

She will continue working on the farm while attending college. Jennifer has 10 cows of her own. When she was nine, she got her first heifer. She said that she has not had too much success in expanding her herd because she always has bull calves, which she sells and saves the money to purchase heifer calves.



Jennifer whips up a refreshing milk punch to serve to guests.



Ricki and Roberta survey the farmland and the manure pit that was recently installed on their Lebanon County farm.

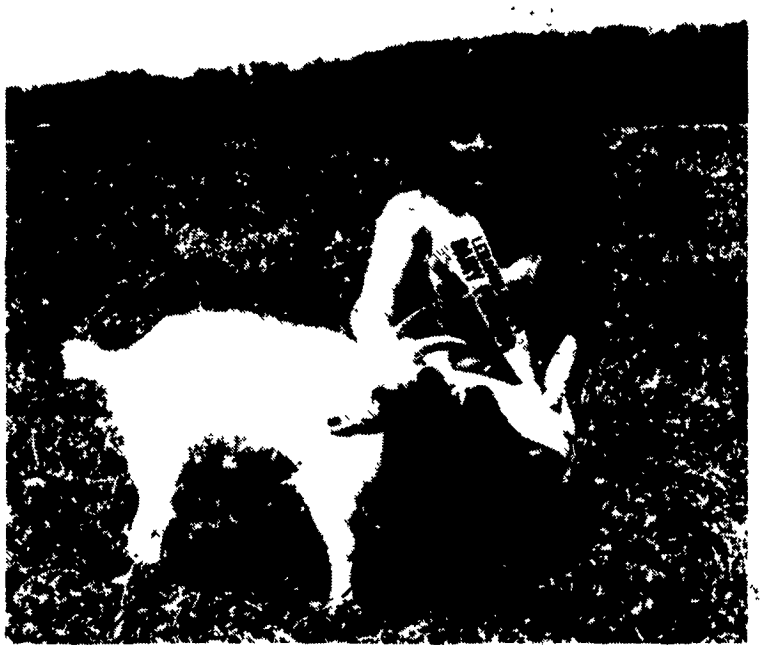
While FFA, 4-H, and dairy princess involvement has often required Jennifer to miss evening milking time and even several days chores during conventions and competitions, her parents are firm believers that it is worth the extra work on their parts.

Bashore said, "I think all farm kids should go out for FFA, 4-H, and other activities. It's good for them. We were never parents to say you must stay home and work."

Recently 19-year-old Ricki Jr., who had worked full-time on the family farm, traveled west to work on a combine crew from May to November.

While Ricki said that he wants his children to chose whatever career they prefer, he admits that if none of the children want to take over the farm when he is ready to retire, he'll be "absolutely upset."

He said, "I tell them (the children) what's mine is yours, if you want it. It's not a bad living."



Two white pigmy goats run free and are adorable pets for Jennifer and her sisters.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

The grass is green, the roses are blooming, swimming pools are officially open. Shorts have replaced jeans for casual wear, weddings blossom with beautiful brides and nervous grooms and evenings beckon us all to linger out on porches and patios.

Flies are back. Our calf pen is beginning to fill with the early — summer burst of black-and-white bawling babies. And strawberries are ripe! Celebrate!

You betcha' ..... 'cause June is here. June. The month during which we dairy farmers — and we hope all milk and dairy product consumers of ours — celebrate the cream of the cow.

Now plop a big scoop of vanilla ice cream down on top of that bowl of strawberries because we have some language studying to do. In order to best appreciate June Dairy Month, it helps to understand the lingo.

So, class, we present: COWSPEAK

COW — The female of a bovine animal (That's real Webster, friends.)

COWNT — To number your cows, as in: 1, 2, 3, 4, etc.

COWNTER — Person who numbers those cows.

ACCOWTANT — Professional numbers person who keeps track of cow expenses.

COWCH — Furniture on which a cow stretches out to take a nap.

COWNTY — Municipality in which cows live; may resemble a pasture.

COWNCIL — Ruling board of officials who oversee the cownty.

COWARD — Whole bunch of cows, i.e. cow herd.

COWCATCHER — Person chasing that whole, blasted, coward that escaped through the fence.

COWPUNCHER — What this "cownter" chasing our escaped "coward" threatens to become if she ever corrals the rascals.

COWSLIP — What a cownter might do if she doesn't watch where she's running while chasing the coward.

COWHIDE — What cowards try to do after jumping the gate to avoid recapture.

NO ACCOWNTS — Mischief-making cows that constantly stir up trouble.

COWNSEL — Legal advisor hired by no accownts to bail them out of trouble.

COWLICK — How cows groom one another.

COWBOY — Usually known as a "bull;" with slight alterations, a "steer."

COWGIRL — Often called a "heifer"; a young female cow.

COWLENDAR — Record on which you keep track of important herd dates.

COWLENDER — Agricultural lender who finances the purchase of your dairy herd.

And, in the interest of avoiding gender problems and eqcow rights, we include these terms as well:

BULL — The male of any bovine (That's real Webster, too.)

BULLHORN — What the bull blows at you when you cut him off on the Route 30 Bypass.

BULLHEAD — One end of bull, opposite of tail.

BULLETIN — Publication read by bulls to keep up with the cownty news.

BULLPEN — Where to keep a bull who leads the coward outside the fence.

BULLFIGHTER — Farmer (or farm wife) who didn't pay attention to where the bull was in the coward.

BULLION — Broth made from bull who led the coward outside the fence one too many times or who threatened the bullfighter.

There, Now that you've mastered the lesson, reward yourself.

Have another scoop of ice cream.

Dairy Recipe Extravaganza

Every year our readers send in stacks of dairy recipes. Each year, I think, this is the ultimate. No better recipes exist. Originally and creativity have limits, and this batch of recipes is the final result.

But every year, our readers do it again. The most amazing and unusual recipes — and old favorites — again flood the mail.

The creativity and taste of these recipes is actually a tribute to milk and the versatility it offers for endless possibilities.

This is only the first batch of recipes. Each week during the month of June, more recipes from the Dairy Recipe Extravaganza will be printed.

Thanks to each for your contribution. A special thank you to those who included a little note and a picture about themselves and family.

And, a great big thank you to all the dairy farmers who keep producing milk to make good eating an ongoing pleasure.

RIGATONI FAMILY STYLE

1 medium-size carrot
1 medium-size onion
1 medium-size celery stalk
8-ounces mozzarella cheese
2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
¼ pound ground beef
35-ounce can Italian plum tomatoes
8-ounce can tomato sauce
½ teaspoon sugar
Salt
16-ounce package rigatoni or ziti macaroni
15 ounces ricotta cheese

Chop carrot, onion, and celery. Thinly slice mozzarella cheese. In 12-inch skillet over medium-high heat in hot oil, cook carrot, onion, and celery until tender. Add ground beef and cook, stirring, until all pan juices evaporate and meat is browned. Add tomatoes with liquid, tomato sauce, sugar, and a teaspoon salt; over high heat, heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low; simmer 5 minutes, stirring occasionally to break up tomatoes.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Meanwhile, prepare rigatoni as label directs, using 1 tablespoon salt in water. Drain rigatoni and return to saucepot.

Reserve 1½ cups tomato sauce; stir remaining tomato sauce into rigatoni in saucepot. Into deep 4-quart baking dish, spoon half the rigatoni mixture. Drop half the ricotta by spoonfuls over rigatoni; top with half the mozzarella. Spoon in remaining rigatoni, then remaining ricotta. Spoon reserved tomato sauce over ricotta layer; top with remaining mozzarella. Bake rigatoni, uncovered, 30 to 35 minutes until mixture is hot and bubbly. If necessary, cover with foil during baking to prevent browning. Makes six main dish servings.

This is one of the many dairy recipes our family enjoys. This recipe tastes just as good reheated as the first day it is made. Enjoy!

CHOCOLATE ECLAIR CAKE

2 small packages instant French vanilla pudding
3½ cups milk
1 box graham crackers
2 cups whipped cream
1 can chocolate frosting

Line 13x9-inch pan with whole graham crackers. Mix pudding and milk, blend in whipped cream.

Pour half the pudding mixture over graham crackers. Place second layer of crackers over pudding.

Pour remaining pudding over top. Cover with more crackers. Melt icing and spread over top. Chill 24 hours.

Creamy Mexican Chocolate Iced Coffee makes a refreshing sipper or dessert. It's easy, too. Just stir whipping cream, chocolate syrup and cinnamon into cold coffee and top with a dollop of whipped cream.

BANANA SPLIT

1½ packs graham crackers, crushed
3 bananas, sliced
½ gallon chocolate and vanilla ice cream
1 cup walnuts, chopped
1 cup chocolate chips
½ cup butter
1½ cups confectioners' sugar
1½ cups evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
9-ounces whipped cream topping

Press crumbs in 11x15-inch pan. Reserve one cup for topping. Arrange banana slices on crumbs. Slice ice cream into ½ -inch thick slices and put over bananas. Sprinkle chopped nuts over ice cream.

Freeze until firm. Melt the chocolate chips and butter. Add sugar and milk. Cook mixture until thick and smooth, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat, add vanilla. Cool chocolate mixture and pour over ice cream. Freeze until firm. Whip the cream. Spread over chocolate and sprinkle with remaining graham cracker crumbs. Soften whipped topping until you can easily spread over all.

Remove from freezer 10 minutes before serving.

I am 18 and have two sisters and three brothers. My parents are Benuel and Priscilla Stoltzfus. We live on a veal farm. We really enjoy this banana split.

WHIPPED CHEESE TOPPER FOR BAKED POTATOES

½ cup butter, softened
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
½ teaspoon oregano

Cream butter until light and fluffy in small mixing bowl. Add cheese and oregano; beat until mixture is smooth. Serve over hot baked potatoes.

We enjoy reading Lancaster Farming and trying the different recipes from it. We have three children who are involved in a dairy operation. I enjoy gardening, cooking, baking, and sewing.

Drink your coffee cold — it's a trendy new drink.

There are many different kinds of iced coffee flavors and combinations, but the one constant ingredient is milk — and lots of it.

Iced coffee is definitely catching on. Not surprisingly, the hotter the weather, the more iced coffee is enjoyed.

Specialty coffee shops, supermarkets, and restaurants offer a wide variety of flavors. But it can also be prepared at home. Here a a few tips:

• Use freshly brewed coffee, preferably double-strenght (use two times more coffee than usual for the same amount) prepared no more than three hours in advance. Allow the coffee to cool before using it. It can be stored, covered, in the refrigerator.

• To keep the ice cubes from diluting iced coffee, make creamy coffee cubes. Stir half and half or milk into leftover coffee; pour into ice cube trays and freeze.

CREAMY MEXICAN CHOCOLATE ICED COFFEE

1 cup whipping cream divided
6 tablespoons chocolate syrup
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 cups double-strength coffee, cooled to room temperature
Ground cinnamon
Chocolate covered coffee beans, if desired

Whip ½ cup cream to soft peaks, set aside. Combine remaining ½ cup cream, the syrup, sugar, and ¼ teaspoon cinnamon in pitcher or bowl. Stir in coffee until sugar dissolves. Fill 4 glasses with ice; pour coffee mixture over ice. Top with whipped cream and sprinkle with cinnamon. Garnish with coffee beans.

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

24-ounce container of cottage cheese, large curds
3-ounce box Apricot Jell-O
Two 11-ounce cans mandarin oranges, drained
20-ounce pineapple tidbits, drained
8-ounce container Cool Whip.

Mix cottage cheese, dry apricot jello, mandarin oranges, pineapple tidbits, and Cool Whip all together. Chill for several hours in refrigerator and serve. A refreshing dessert.

I live on a 90-cow dairy farm in Armstrong County. The farm's name is Star-Lite Acres. My family farms 600 acres of ground. My grandparents (Roy E. and Martha Bowser) own the farm, but my family, the Freehlings, do the farming.

There are 10 people at our supper table every night.

I love to cook and bake, and especially enjoy trying new recipes.

PEACH CUSTARD PIE

6 large peaches, sliced
2 eggs, beaten
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Pinch salt
1½ cups milk
1 unbaked 9-inch pie crust

Arrange peaches in pie crust. Combine other ingredients and pour over peaches. Sprinkle with nutmeg, if desired. Bake 5 minutes at 450 degrees and then at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes.

BAKED MASHED POTATOES

9 medium potatoes, cooked
8 ounces cream cheese
1 cup sour cream
2 teaspoons onion salt
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter
Parsley

Mash potatoes and add other ingredients. Pour into casserole dish and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

My husband and I along with our four children live on a dairy farm. We have 41 cows plus young stock and farm about 110 acres corn, hay, soybeans, and speltz.

Our two oldest boys, ages 13 and 9, like to help with barn chores and field work. Our daughter, 6, and youngest son, 2, love to go to the barn too. We all enjoy working together as a family on the farm.

CRAB PASTA ALFREDO

½ cup butter, melted
1 cup half and half cream
1 cup grated parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon parsley
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup crab meat
1 pound pasta (any kind)

Cook pasta according to directions; drain. Melt butter. Warm crab meat. Combine butter, cream, cheese, parsley, salt, and warmed crab meat. Toss mixture with pasta.

Carey and Cathy Christ of Parkesburg.

SHRIMP DIP

1 cup sour cream
8 ounces cream cheese, softened

Mix together sour cream and cream cheese and spread on bottom of meat platter.

Layer the next ingredients in order on top of cream cheese mixture:

2 cans tiny shrimp, drained
1 bottle cocktail sauce
1 cup Swiss cheese, shredded
1 cup mozarella cheese, shredded
1 green pepper, chopped
Scallions, chopped
1 tomato, chopped

Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate overnight. Serve with crackers.

This is my favorite! It's delicious!

Carey and I have been married for almost 5 years. I love to cook because he loves to eat. We hope to rent a farm someday soon so we can spend all our time together. Being married is pretty cool.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Helen Kofran would like a recipe for Amish shredded roast beef salad.

QUESTION — Mary Martin, Annville, would like a recipe for Moravian pie.

QUESTION — A Lititz reader is having trouble with hull peas turning a dull green after freezing. They do not taste good and she asks what she did wrong.

QUESTION — Nancy Kring, Johnstown, would like a recipe for Oriental muffins, a spicy muffin with a brown sugar bottom.

QUESTION — L. Weaver, Ephrata, would like a recipe for tomato sauce (similar to Hunt's) to can.

QUESTION — Rebecca Helm would like to find a recipe for soft tortilla shells made with cornmeal and whole-wheat flour.

QUESTION — A reader from Morgantown would like a recipe for spaghetti sauce that tastes like the Ragu brand.

QUESTION — Lavenia Campbell, Benton, is searching for a dill pickle recipe using an open crock method. The pickles are packed into an open crock, covered with liquid, and kept in a cool place to be used one at a time as needed.

QUESTION — Christine Martin, New Bethlehem, would like a recipe for vegetable pizza in which the dough can be made from scratch instead of using refrigerated crescent rolls for the base.

QUESTION — Patricia Potter, Middleburg, would like a recipe for blueberry dessert that has graham crackers for the crust and blueberry filling on top.

QUESTION — Elfrieda Sames, Coopersburg, would like the recipe for rhubarb cake that appeared in this paper about a year ago. Does anyone know which recipe she is referring to and did you clip it? If so, please send the recipe.

QUESTION — Ann Lincoln, Genesee, lost her Insterella Mozzarella Cheese recipe that she made from her sweet Jersey milk. Does anyone have the recipe?

QUESTION — Jannelle Jonrs, Volga, W.V., would like a recipe for elderberry pie that is not watery.

ANSWER Grace Hornbaker, Shippensburg, wanted the recipe for Homemade Lemonade by Lynn that was previously published in this paper. Here it is.

Lynn's Lemonade

4 lemons
1 quart water
Ice

Wash lemons thoroughly. Slice ¼ -inch and place in bowl. Pour sugar on top. Let set 3 to 4 hours, mixing sugar and lemons occasionally to make more juice. Add 1 quart water, squeeze lemons slices, remove slices, and strain. Add ice cubes to chill.

For freezing a concentrate, add only one or two cups water and freeze. Add remaining water when ready to serve.

ANSWER — Karen Yourga, Hermitage, wanted a recipe for salmon steaks. Thanks to Betty Light, Lebanon, for sending a recipe.

Salmon Steaks

2 salmon steaks, ¾ -inch thick
Garlic powder
Ground pepper
Onion powder

Sprinkle steaks with garlic powder, pepper, and onion. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes, turning once after 12 minutes. Cover with dill sauce before serving.

Dill sauce:

8 ounces half and half
4 ounces shredded sharp cheddar cheese
½ cup butter
Dill weed
Cornstarch

Combine half and half, cheese, and butter. Sprinkle generously with dill weed and add cornstarch to thicken. Bring to a slow, rolling boil.

ANSWER — Robin Svec, White Hall, Md., wanted jam and preserve recipes similar to Polaner's All Fruit, which is sweetened only with fruit juice concentrate. Thanks to Holly Steinruck, Benton, for sending a recipe.

Strawberry Fruit Spread

4 cups prepared fruit
2 12-ounce cans frozen concentrated, sweetened white grape juice, thawed
1 box Sure-Jell for lower sugar recipes
½ teaspoon butter

Stem and thoroughly crush strawberries, 1 cup at a time. Measure 4 cups into an 8-quart deep saucepot. Stir in juice concentrate. Prepare jars, keep lids hot. Stir Sure-Jell gradually into fruit in saucepot. Add butter. Bring mixture to a full rolling boil on high heat, stirring constantly. Boil exactly 20 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim off any foam with a metal spoon. Ladle quickly into jars, filling to within ⅛ -inch of top. Wipe and cover. Invert jars 5 minutes, then turn upright or use the water bath method.

Note: Sets slowly, allow one week.

ANSWER — Linda Beiler wanted recipes for yeast fruit breads. Thanks to Betty Light, Lebanon, for sending recipes.

White Bread With Variations

2 packages active dry or compressed yeast
1½ cups warm water
1½ cups milk, scalded
¼ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons shortening
7 cups flour, approximately

Dissolve yeast in water. Add sugar, salt, and shortening to milk; let cool to lukewarm. Combine with yeast. Add 4 cups flour, beating until smooth, then work in about 3 cups more flour. At this stage the dough is somewhat sticky and rough looking. Turn out on a lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, 8 to 10 minutes. Form into a ball and set in a large, greased bowl. Grease the top of the dough and cover the bowl with cloth. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 to 1½ -hours. Test by pressing finger deeply into dough; if indentation remains, the dough has risen sufficiently. Punch down, let rest 10 minutes, then cut in half and shape into 2 loaves. Place in greased pans, about 9x5 inches. Brush tops with melted fat and cover with clean towel. Again let rise until doubled, about 50 minutes. Bake at 425 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes, or until browned. Remove from pans at once; let cool on racks away from draft.

Apricot: Use 1 cup juice drained from cooked dried apricots in place of 1 cup milk or water in the recipe, then add 2 cups cooked apricots, cut fine, to dough.

Orange: Add 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup chopped candied orange peel to dough.

Prune or raisin: Replace ½ cup milk or water with 2 beaten eggs and add 1 to 2 cups chopped cooked prunes or raisins.

ANSWER — R. Wenger, Dayton, Va., wanted some cheese ball recipes. Thanks to M. Zimmerman, New Holland; Betty Light, Lebanon; Lois Matter, Millersburg; Sarah Clark, Breezewood, and others for sending recipes.

Cheese Ball

2 cups grated cheese
1 teaspoon onion or chives
½ cup chopped nuts, divided
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
8-ounces cream cheese

Mix ingredients together except half of the nuts. Shape into a ball by using your hands. Roll the ball in the remaining nuts. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Serve at room temperature with crackers.

Cheese Balls

3 eggs
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons vinegar

Cook together eggs, sugar, and vinegar until thickened. Add:

3 8-ounce packages cream cheese with pimento
One small onion, grated

Mix well. Form into two balls. Serve with crackers. May roll in parsley flakes or bacon bits.

Cheese Ball Or Log

8 ounces sharp cheddar cheese
8 ounces cream cheese
8 ounces soft cheese spread, sharp or cheddar

Bring cheese to room temperature. Beat cheddar cheese with dough hooks and gradually add cream cheese. Add soft cheese spread until well mixed. Put on wax paper and freeze until firm enough to handle, about 20 minutes. Shape into ball or log. Roll in chopped walnuts and garnish with marachino cheeries or parsley.

Mystery Cheese Ball

Makes 3 to 5 balls

Let set at room temperature and whirl in the electric mixer:

2 pounds Old English cheese
5 ounce jar blue cheese spread
8 ounce package cream cheese

Mix, then roll 3 to 4 large balls. Roll each ball in chopped walnuts or pecans. Refrigerate or freeze.

CHIVE AND DILL BATTER BREAD

½ cup warm water
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon yeast
2 cups low-fat cottage cheese
½ cup chopped chives or onions
1 tablespoon heaping dill weed or seeds
2 eggs
2 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
4 cups flour (can use 1 cup whole wheat and 3 cups all-purpose)

Dissolve sugar and yeast in warm water using a large bowl. Heat cottage cheese slightly in a saucepan; add chives, dill, eggs, salt, baking soda, and flour. Remove from heat.

Combine cheese mixture with yeast mixture, and blend well.

Cover and let rise 1½ hours on counter or all day in refrigerator.

Stir down and pour into 2 greased bread pans. Let rise until doubled. Bake 30 to 35 minutes until browned and crusty at 350 degrees.

CHEEZY CAULIFLOWER

1 large head cauliflower
¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup diced onion
1½ cups shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup seasoned bread crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter

Break cauliflower into good-sized sections and drop into boiling water for 10 minutes, drain well. Combine cauliflower, butter, onion, cheddar, and sour cream and salt. Spoon into 1½ quart casserole. Toss bread crumbs and 2 tablespoons butter and sprinkle over casserole. Dust with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until heated thoroughly. Enjoy!

CRUNCHY POTATO BALLS

2 cups stiff mashed potatoes
2 cups finely chopped fully cooked ham
1 cup shredded cheddar or Swiss cheese
⅓ cup mayonnaise
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper
2-4 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1¼ cup crushed corn flakes

In a bowl, combine potatoes, ham, cheese, mayonnaise, egg, mustard, and pepper; mix well. Add enough flour to make a stiff mixture. Chill. Shape into 1-inch balls; roll in cornflakes. Place on a greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot. Yield: about 6 dozen.

Dairy Desserts Top List Of America's Favorite Foods

Ice cream lovers get ready for the fourteenth celebration of Ice Cream Month this July.

Nothing beats the cool, creamy sensation of this frozen dairy treat. Just ask the 98 percent of us who indulge, consuming about 23 quarts of ice cream annually.

Our favorite flavors? In descending order they are vanilla, fruit flavors, nut flavors, candy mix-in flavors, chocolate neapolitan and cake/cookie flavors. In the mood for something a little different? How about Jalapeno Pepper (vanilla ice cream with mild jalapeno peppers) or Prickly Pear, ice cream with pieces of cactus fruit. If you wold just like to dress up an old stand-by, try one of American's favorite toppings (indescending order): hot fudge, chocolate fudge, caramel, butterscotch, and strawberry.

It should come as no surprise that ice cream sales are greatest in the warm weather months of June through September, with peak sales in July. And while ice cream appeals to all age groups, 13- to 17-year-olds consume the most, accounting for 53 percent of ice cream sales every week. Location also is a factor in how much ice cream we eat. New Englanders eat close to 30 quarts each year, while people on the West Coast eat 24. Folks in Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, and the Dakotas gobble up about 35 quarts a year each.

Bring On The Yogurt

Topping the list of dairy dessert success stories is the increasingly popular frozen yogurt. Frozen yogurt tallied sales of $1.7 billion last year, up 28 percent from 1992.

New flavors and flavor combinations are adding to frozen yogurt's popularity. Another reason for yogurt's booming success is its ability to transcend all age groups. Originally targeted to "yuppies," frozen yogurt appeals to children and in particular, adults watching their calories intake.

Novel Ideas

In the mood for something really different? Try a frozen novelty. The novelty revolution was launched between 1919 and 1924 with the invention of the Eskimo Pie, Good Humor Bar, and Popsicle. Today's frozen novelties have come a long way since then. They are available in countless flavors, coatings, shapes, and sizes and are made with ice cream, ice milk, yogurt, sherbet, and fruit juice and cream combinations. Total frozen novelty sales have reached more than $3.3 billion and now account for nearly one-third of total retail dollar sales of all frozen desserts.

No matter what form it takes - scooped in a dish, topped with fruit and nuts or dipped in chocolate and frozen on a stick - ice cream and frozen dairy desserts continue to top the list of America's favorite foods.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — J. Medaglia, Birdsboro, wanted recipes for using dry meringue powder. Thanks to Betty Light, Lebanon, for sending one.

Chocolate Chip Meringues

4 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
Dash salt
1 cup sugar
1 cup chocolate bits
1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Add vanilla and salt to egg whites (that are at room temperature) beat until frothy. Gradually add sugar. Beat until stiff peaks form.

Carefully fold in chocolate bits and nuts. Drop by teaspoon on a greased cookie sheet. Put in preheated oven to 350 degrees. Close door and turn off oven. Do not open for 4 to 5 hours. May be left in oven overnight. Cannot be made successfully on a humid or rainy day.

Yield: 2½ dozen. Can freeze.

ANSWER — Harriet Young, Long Island, N.Y., wanted a recipe for cucumber salad like that served at Bird-in-Hand Restaurant. Thanks to Alta Hoshour, Bowmansville, for sending a recipe.

Cucumber And Onion Salad

2 medium cucumbers
2 medium onions
Salt
2-3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon sugar or 2 packs artifical sweetener
1 tablespoon vinegar

Peel cucumber and onions and slice thinly. Sprinkle salt on the the cucumber and onion mixture. Let stand overnight in refrigerator.

In morning, rinse and drain well.

Beat together the mayonnaise, sugar, and vinegar until creamy. Stir in mixed cucumbers and onions (the dressing should be plentiful so the salad is creamy. Increase amount of dressing ingredients proportionally if needed).

School Kids Have Blast At Walker Grove Farm

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — Second grade kids from the Maple Ridge Elementary School were just like frisky colts in the springtime at the Walker Grove Farm. They romped and rolled over the giant yard. They were thrilled to find a big farm pond nearby. Although their host, Kurt Walker was kept busy chasing them back from the water's edge.

Kurt, his wife, Cindy, their son Daniel, aged three, and grandparents Ray and Ann Walker all live on Walker Grove Farm. It's a pretty place and just the right distance from traffic on four-lane Route 219.

For three days each spring, the Walkers have school children visit their farm. The Walkers give them milk, soft-freeze, and cheese from the Allied Milk Producer's Cooperative, Inc. and tell them about the dairy farm. Some of the kids are also from the Sipesville Elementary School.

The big yellow bus pulled in at noontime. Each person had a packed lunch. They sat on hay bales and on the grass to eat before the tours began.

Grandpa Ray got into a conversation with the bus driver. Grandma Anna and Cindy bustled around serving white and chocolate milk to everybody. Hurt was like the watchdog, making sure the kids didn't wander away to explore anything unsafe. And little Daniel had his own interests, strolling around and chatting to himslef, sort of ignoring the group as a whole.

Lewis and Naomi Shaffer helped, too. They are Daniel's other grandgarents.

Then one section of kids, with teacher and chaperones prepared for a hayride. Each stepped on a bale then kurt would assist them into the wagon. Cozy blankets were there to cuddle into because the wind got really strong in some areas.

Before starting the tractor Kurt gave instructions. "Don't put your hands or heads out of the wagon," he said. "And don't stand while the wagon is moving." Then he showed the fluorescent orange warning triangle that is used when farmers take their machinery on the roads. That way drivers of other vehicles can slow down when they see the triangle.

Every so often Kurt would stop the tractor to explain about machinery or seeds and crops. He talked about the corn planter and plows. He passed around jars of corn and alfalfa seeds which make the crops to feed the cows all year.

And then what did Kurt do but pull out fists full of fresh alfalfa at one field. He passed it around, telling the kids that it was okay for them to sample it themselves. One little girl liked it so much she decided to take a bunch along home. "I like it," she said. "It's good."

Most of the others didn't care for it that much.

"We make alfalfa into haylage," said Kurt.

The kids got excited to learn that Walker Grove Farm is a neighbor to their school principal's home. In fact Kurt took the hayride tractor there to turn around.

Later Kurt said, "We keep our machines a long time because they cost a good bit." He said, "You could buy three or four new cars for what we pay for one machine."

Then he used that word "recycle." "Everything the cows don't use to make milk, we recycle back into the field and spread it with the manure."

The barn tour was Cindy's job. Just outside the barn sat a row of buckets. In them was water, feed, and manure.

Cindy explained that each cow ate and drank that much food and water to produce its milk and so much manure every day. "Cows have four stomachs," she said. Four, wow!

"Are we going to smell manure in the barn?" asked some kids.

"Sure," answered Cindy.

She told them what happens when a cow gets sick and needs medicine. The milk from that cow goes into a separate container so good milk from other cows isn't contaminated.

The sick cow's medicine will be in the milk she gives.

Every one of the Walker's cows has a name. If one is getting medicine a red band is put around her leg.

Cindy said that if some of the contaminated milk would get to the dairy that buys it from the farmer, the farmer could be in trouble. He might have to pay lots of money for the ruined milk of other farmers because milk from many farms is mixed in the big tank of the hauling truck.

The truck driver has a little sample of each farm's milk that is kept for testing. That's how the dairy folks know which farm has contaminated milk.

Cindy warned the kids to be quiet in the barn because the cows weren't used to a commotion. It didn't work. The kids forgot everything she said the instant they saw the big black and white Holstein cows. They tried to pet them but jumped a lot when the cows moved their heads.

She showed them the electric feeding cart where corn, corn silage, and haylage are mixed to feed the cows. Then she demonstrated how the cow's manure is carried away automatically by switching on the system.

Seeing the kids' reaction, Grandma Anna said, "That's what fascinates them more than anything, when cows go to the bathroom."

Cindy pointed overhead to the glass pipeline system which carries milk from the cow to the big 1,000 gallon, refrigerated holding tank. She told the kids how the cow's teats are always cleaned before she is milked. She said that inspectors come sometimes to make sure everything is sanitary. Milk is so important for people's health, that's why it must be kept clean, from the cow to our home refrigerator.

At least one boy thought he would like to be a farmer and work with the cows.

Anna took the children to see the steer barn. Ray, Lewis and the bus driver kept right on talking.

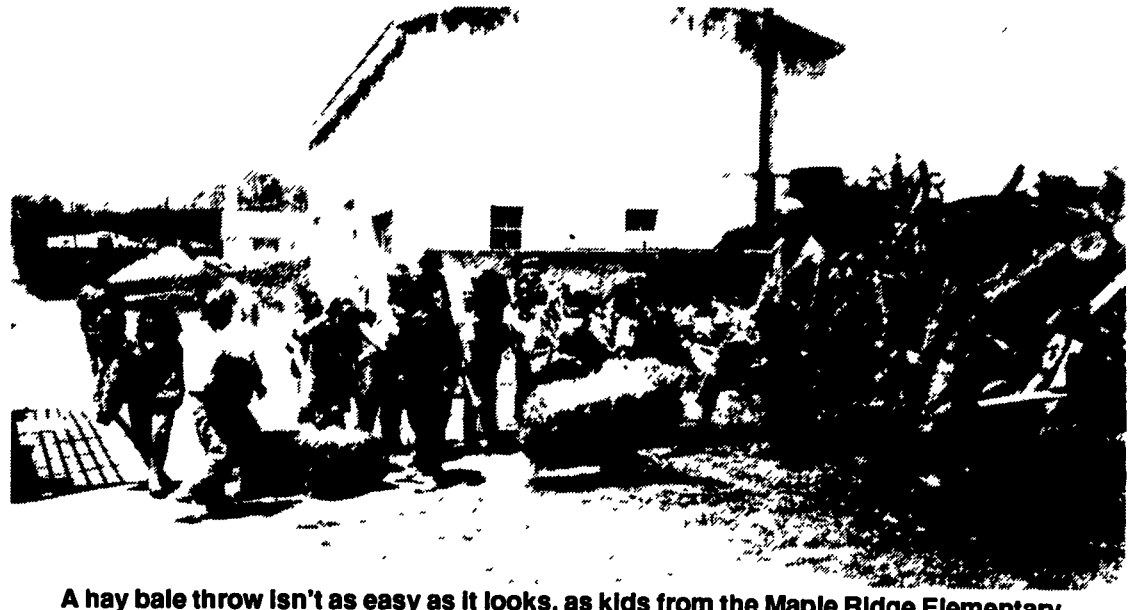
Kurt and Cindy run the farm with help from his brother Scott, whose wife is Sally. There are 60 milking cows and about 30 steers.

The farm has 500 acres but 300 are used for crops. Corn is the big crop, then alfalfa, oats and other grains are raised on the remainder.

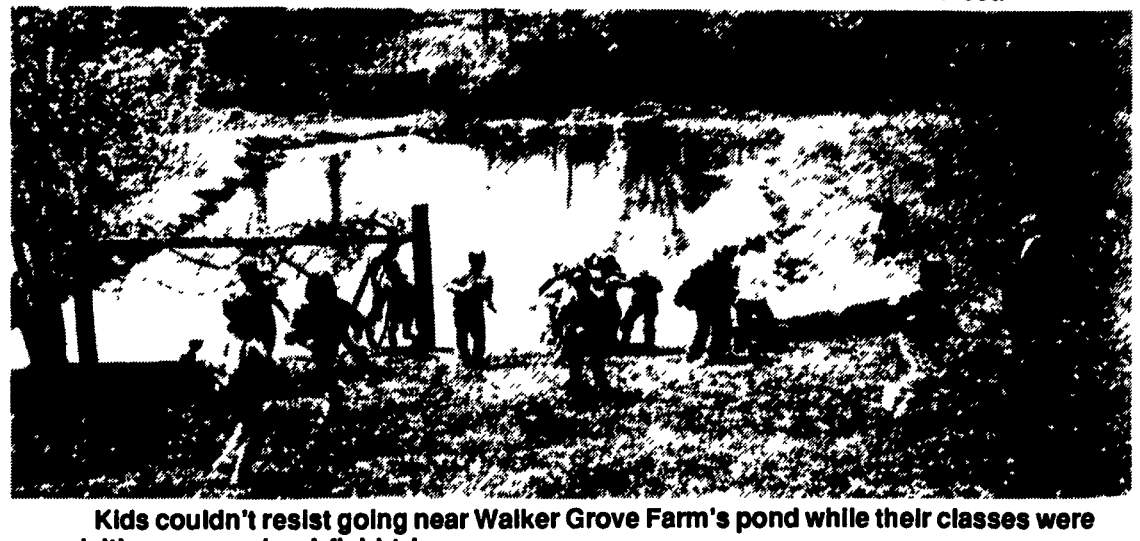
"Come back and see me," invited Grandma Anna, as the kids returned to their school bus.

Second graders are getting off their school bus and following Anna Walker to the hay bales in the yard where they will eat packed lunches. The kids are guests at Walker Grove Farm near Somerset.

Kurt Walker of Walker Grove Farm near Somerset explains the corn planter to kids on the haywagon. He also showed them seeds of crops planted at the farm.



A hay bale throw isn't as easy as it looks, as kids from the Maple Ridge Elementary School discovered on a field trip to the Walker Grove Farm near Somerset.



Kids couldn't resist going near Walker Grove Farm's pond while their classes were visiting on a school field trip.

BREAKFAST CRACKER PUFF

1 package Saltine crackers (approximately 40 two-inch squares)
¼ -pound Velveeta cheese
2 teaspoons chopped onion (optional)

Layer ingredients into medium casserole or baking dish, forming two layers of each. Cover layers with the following:

2½ cups milk
4 beaten eggs
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash of pepper

Mix well and pour over cracker layers. Soak 1 hour, then bake at 300-325 degrees for 40 minutes or until done.

I grew up and still live on a dairy farm. Although I am now a teacher, I help my brothers and father with our dairy herd whenever they need my help. We love this breakfast dish on chilly mornings after finishing the milking.

PHILADELPHIA CHEESE CAKE

18 graham crackers, rolled fine
¼ pound butter

Mix crackers and butter and press into 8x8-inch pan. Beat the following until fluffy:

1½ pounds cream cheese
¾ cup granulated sugar
Pinch salt
2 large eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Pour into crust. Bake at 325 degrees for 35-40 minutes. Cool 2 hours.

Beat the following ingredients:

1 pint sour cream
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pinch salt

Spread sour cream mixture on top of baked cake and bake an additional 10 minutes. Cool several hours before serving.

I've lived on a farm all my life and I'd never be happy living in the big city. I enjoy the Lancaster Farming very much

Marie Loy

LEMON CHEESE CAKE

6-ounce box lemon Jell-O dissolved in
1 cup boiling water

Add:

2 8-ounce packages cream cheese

Stir until dissolved over heat. Let cool.

Whip until thickened:

1 can cold canned milk

Add Jell-O mixture to whipped milk. Add:

1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon flavoring or vanilla

Crush 34 graham crackers and add:

½ cup melted butter
½ cup sugar

Layer part of the cracker mixture in bottom of pan and then the Jell-O mixture. Sprinkle remaining cracker crumbs on top.

CONNECTICUT SUPPER

1 pound ground beef, browned
4 medium potatoes
1 can mushroom soup or white sauce
2¼ cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup grated cheese

Layer beef in 9x13-inch pan. Place potatoes on top of beef. Mix soup, milk, and seasonings, and pour on potatoes. Sprinkle with cheese and bread crumbs, if desired. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours.

This recipe is good and simple to make. We live on a dairy farm and use lots of milk. I have six brothers and they always snack before they go to bed. It's usually cookies or pretzels or peanut butter crackers and a glass of milk.

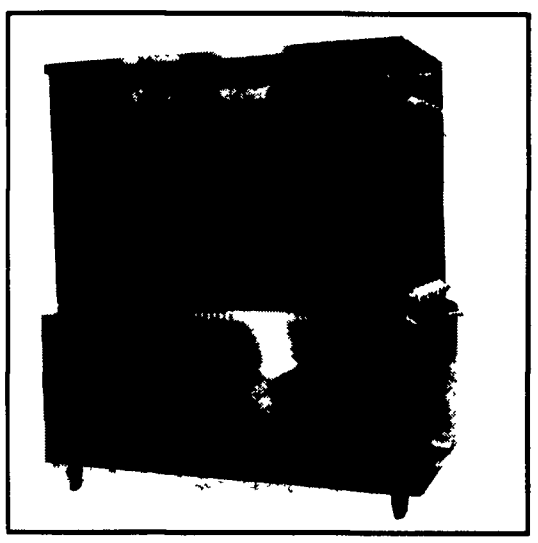
Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994

You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller® milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-priced" milk-cooling equipment.

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk.



Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$ 17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for 10 years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

Mueller scroll compressors have higher energy-efficiency ratings (EER), and are highly durable with only two major components, compared to our competitors' reciprocating compressors requiring 12 parts.

UPSIDE-DOWN PIZZA

1 package ground chicken
1 medium onion, chopped
15½ -ounce jar pizza sauce
½ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon oregano
8 ounces shredded mozzarella cheese
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup flour
½ cup Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Brown chicken and onion, pour off fat. Blend in pizza sauce, garlic salt, and oregano. Put mixture in greased 9x13-inch pan and sprinkle with mozzarella. In small bowl, mix eggs, milk, vegetable oil, salt, and flour; pour over mixture and sprinkle with parmesan. Bake uncovered 30 minutes. Makes 12.

We live in the slate belt area of Northampton County. We have lived here for almost 20 years. I work as a learning consultant/ coordinator on a child study team in New Jersey. We have a three-year-old son who is the joy of our life. We summer in Canada on an island on the Rideau Lake system.

My husband's favorite newspaper is Lancaster Farming*. His Saturdays are lost if he doesn't receive the paper. I have been giving him the subscription for Christmas. He is disabled. He cares for our son, twice a week cleans house, goes grocery shopping and does the wash. In his spare time, he buys and sells farm tractors.*

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE

1 pound confectioners' sugar
½ cup milk
12 ounces peanut butter
7 ounces marshmallow
2 tablespoons butter

Bring sugar, butter, and milk to a boil. Boil for 2 minutes and remove from heat. Add marshmallow and peanut butter. Mix well and pour into a buttered 8x8-inch pan and cut into squares when cool.

My name is Megan Warshefski. I am 8-years-old. I am a Dauphin County Li'l Dairy Miss. I live in Millersburg. I am in second grade. I have a sister named Kayla who is 2. I take piano lessons and I like to bowl. I like to hand out ice cream at dairy promotions. And, I like to eat ice cream almost every night. My grandpa owns a feed mill. I like when my grandma makes this peanut butter fudge.

MINNI'S HOT CHEESE DIP

10¾ ounce can condensed tomato soup
½ envelop onion soup mix
8 ounces American cheese, grated
4-ounce can Mexican green chilies, drained and diced

Heat tomato soup in saucepan. Add cheese and stir until melted. Add chilies to cheese and tomato mixture. Serve hot with corn chips.

BROCCOLI CHEESE SOUP

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped onion
6 cups chicken broth
12 ounces wide egg noodles
2 10-ounce packages frozen broccoli
⅛ teaspoon garlic salt
3 cups milk
1 pound Velveeta cheese
½ pound American cheese

Melt butter in large pot. Add onions and saute 3 minutes. Add broth and heat until boiling. Stir occasionally. Gradually add noodles, continue to boil. Cook uncovered 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in broccoli and garlic. Cook 4 minutes. Cook longer if using fresh broccoli. Add milk and cheese and cook until cheese melts. Add more milk if soup is too thick.

I make this recipe for parties and picnics and everyone always enjoys it.

My husband Keith and I live on a 72-acre working farm. We raise mainly corn, barley, wheat, soybeans, and a vegetable garden. We have two sons Zachary, 4, and Tyler 2½. Both love farming with their daddy.

EARTHQUAKE DESSERT

Coconut
1 cup chopped nuts
1 German chocolate cake mix
1 stick butter
1 pound confectioners' sugar
8-ounces softened cream cheese

Grease 9x13-inch pan and cover bottom with coconut and nuts. Prepare pan as directed and pour into pan. Combine butter, sugar, and cheese until smooth. Spoon over cake mix. Do not stir. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

I live on a diary farm in Juniata County with my parents, brothers, and sisters. I don't help much on the farm because I am busy with my jobs. I assist two people who are handicapped.

CHOCOLATE SYRUP CAKE

1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 cup milk
1½ teaspoon vanilla
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup chocolate syrup
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Grease and flour angel cake pan. Cream butter and sugar 5 minutes. Add eggs. Combine milk and vanilla, add dry ingredients. Beat well. Put two-thirds of batter in pan. To remaining batter, add chocolate syrup, baking soda, and vanilla. Pour over top of other batter. Bake at 350 degrees for 75 to 80 minutes.

I am the mother of four and have one grandson. I work with farmers at the Carroll County ASCS office and am a volunteer with the Rolling Clovers 4-H Club. I am also a member of the Frizzellburg Homemakers' Club. My husband works at a local stone quarry and farms about 80 acres as a hobby. He grows corn, hay, and soybeans. We raise our own beef, vegetables, and fruit.

YUMMY CHERRY CAKE

3 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup sugar
1 cup butter
2 eggs
1 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 can cherry or blueberry pie filling

Sift first four ingredients, cut in butter. Beat eggs and add sour cream and vanilla. Stir into flour mixture. Beat on medium speed until well blended. Spread half of batter on floured 13x9-inch cake pan. Spread pie filling evenly over batter. Spread remaining batter over filling. Put crumbs on top. Crumbs:

½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup flour
2 tablespoons butter, softened

Bake at 375 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes.

We are dairy folks so I'm looking forward to these dairy recipes. We have 3 children and we all love to eat, especially dairy products. Ice cream is a real favorite and this cake goes very good with it.

One of our neighbors brought over this cake for a meal after our newest addition arrived. He was born on March 10, weighing 7 pounds 4 ounces. We got a neighbor to help with the chores and he is still helping. I'm sure thankful for him as our baby is an early riser and on the fussy side. It sure is nice to stay in bed longer in the morning. I feel kind of spoiled, but I'll enjoy it while it lasts.

DAIRYMEN'S DELIGHT

1 pound ground beef
Salt and pepper to taste
2 10-ounce cans asparagus, drained or freshly cooked
1 can cream of celery soup
¼ cup milk
1 cup grated cheese

Brown ground beef and onions, drain. Place in 1½ quart buttered casserole. Add aspargus. Top with soup mixed with milk. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

DELICIOUS BAKED EGGS

1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1½ cups cottage cheese
½ pound grated cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons onion, chopped
1 teaspoon parsley
½ teaspoon salt
6 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
½ cup butter

Melt butter in 13x9-inch baking pan. Combine other ingredients in order given and stir well. Pour into the melted butter. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Cool several minutes before cutting into squares.

My husband Jason and I, and six children, ages 1 to 14, live on a dairy farm in central Pennsylvania. We all find plenty to do and thoroughly enjoy our country lifestyle and the Hartleton Mennonite Church where we are members.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

This year I have iris blooms! There are hundreds and hundreds of huge flowers. Most of them are blue and white but there are also light yellow, slate blue, and brown and maroon. I've just walked to a neighbor's house with a bouquet.

On the way I saw a pair of bluebirds inspecting a bluebird house that Allen put on a post of his new rail fence. But, a pair of jenny wrens got there first and have already built a nest in the box. They totally ignored the special bird box for wrens which is nearby. All day long they sing their exuberant song. I've read that they lay five to eight white eggs speckled with brown.

Last week we fished at a local pond, which was filled with trout. It was almost too easy to catch them as I immediately caught three. The first thing you realize is that you owe money for the fish you've caught and so I stopped fishing. We gave away two fish and baked one for supper.

The other day I did something that I hope I won't be sorry for doing. Ever since I found a snake under a bush lima, I've grown pole limas on a fence. But, this year we bought seed and upon opening the bag I discovered tiny baby lima seeds. Against my better judgment, I put in a 100-foot row. Surely hope someone will help me to harvest them.

When our son, Philip, mowed the meadow, before putting heifers in for the summer, we saw a beautiful red fox run up the hill. His coat glistened in the sun and he even lay down in full view of the tractor. There are so many things to see if you keep alert.

CAULIFLOWER SUPREME

1 medium cauliflower, cut up
⅔ cup chopped celery
1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon thyme leaves
¾ cup shredded cheddar cheese
½ cup chicken broth
2 tablespoons parmesan cheese

Cook cauliflower 6 minutes in boiling, salted water. Drain, combine with celery and put into 1½ quart buttered casserole. Combine remaining ingredients, pour in casserole, sprinkle with parmesan cheese over top.

CHOCOLATE HO-HO CAKE

1 package chocolate cake mix
5 tablespoon flour
1¼ cups milk
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter

Frosting:

3 cups confectioner's sugar
½ cup butter, melted
½ cup cocoa
1 egg
2½ tablespoons hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix cake mix as directed on package. Bake in 350 degree oven on 10x15-inch cookie sheet for 20 minutes or until done.

While in the oven, mix the flour and milk. Cook and stir until thick, cool. Beat shortening, sugar, and butter until mixed. Add to flour mixture. Beat until fluffy. Spread on warm cake. Freeze cake slightly before spreading frosting.

Mix ingredients for frosting together. Beat well. Spread over top of cake.

Our family farms at Greene-Summit Farm near Erie. My husband Ernie milkes about 50 cows and grows corn, alfalfa, clover, and grass hay. I work one day per week as a crop consultant. I enjoy quilting, reading, and sewing. We have two beautiful daughters, Elisabeth (Betsy) just turned three in April. She is an active little girl who enjoys riding her tricycle, playing on her swing set, and taking care of her bunnies. Emily is 10 months old and beginning to walk. They are both a joy to us, and we are so thankful that we can raise them on a farm.

ICE CREAM PIE

1 box ice box chocolate cookies, crushed
¼ pound butter, melted
3 tablespoons sugar
½ gallon vanilla ice cream

Mix together first three ingredients. Divide into 2 pie plates, spread crumbs evenly on bottom and sides of two pie plates.

Cut ½ gallon ice cream in half and place carefully in center of both pie plates. Press ice cream gently into pie plates with spoon not to disturb crumbs — smooth out and put in freezer. Perfect and delicious for those hot summer days — no heating up the kitchen.

I have two children, a son and a daughter, and two grandchildren. My son has a daughter and my daughter has a son. My husband Bruce works for Laneco. I work for Soil Conservation Service in Nazareth, part time for 22 years.

I love the Lancaster Farming and the wonderful recipes. Keep up the good work. My mother died when I was 10 years old and I'm always looking for old-fashioned recipes. Believe it or not I find quite a few dishes that taste like Mom's.

Here's to our American Dairy Producers!

Every day, over 200,000 million Americans enjoy a cool, fresh glass of pure milk, or another wholesome dairy food including cheese, butter, ice cream, and yogurt. Milk products put flavor, texture and other qualities into many processed foods too.

That's why during June, National Dairy Month, we are proud to honor our American dairy producers who make today's dairy products one of the good things in the lives of so many people.

Milk Marketing Inc, an eight state dairy co-op marketing and processing over 3.8 billion lbs. of member milk each month to a global market, thanks its 5,700 owner/member families.

PAISLEY PRINT CHEESECAKE

Graham crust:
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup melted butter

Stir together all ingredients and press into 9-inch springform pan. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Cool.

3 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar, divided
½ cup dairy sour cream
2½ teaspoons vanilla, divided
3 tablespoons flour
3 eggs
1½ squares unsweetened baking chocolate, broken into pieces

In large mixer bowl, combine cream cheese, ¾ cup sugar, sour cream, and 2 teaspoons vanilla.

Beat on medium speed until smooth. Add flour, one tablespoon at a time, blending well. Add eggs and beat well.

In small microwave-safe bowl, place chocolate. Microwave on high 1½ to 2 minutes or until melted and smooth when stirred. Add 1½ cups cream cheese mixture, ¼ cup sugar, and ½ teaspoon vanilla, blend well. Spoon plain and chocolate mixture alternately into graham crust, ending with dollops of chocolate mixture on top. Gently swirl with knife for paisley effect. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, decrease temperature to 250 degrees and bake 35 minutes longer.

SPREADING CHEESE

2½ gallons milk

Let milk sour until it is very thick (a few days). Heat until it is too hot to touch but not boiling. Drain through a course cloth bag; squeeze out as much liquid as possible. Put curds in a bowl and crumble. Let set at room temperature for 2 to 3 days or longer if stronger taste is desired.

To the 4 cups curds, add 2 teaspoons baking soda, mix. Let stand 30 minutes. Stir in 1½ cups warm water. Put all in double boiler. Heat to boiling, stir vigorously. Add ½ cup butter, 2 teaspoons salt. Add 1 more cup hot water, a little at a time. Cook 10 to 12 minutes longer until crumbs are dissolved. Stir occasionally until cold. Makes approximately 1½ quarts cheese.

This is very good spread on homemade butter bread or used as a cracker dip. I makes this often as we live on a dairy farm and milk is plentiful.

Smile And Say Cheese

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

HANCOCK, Md. — "Cheese!" That's what approximately 175 dairy farmers throughout Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia say each time they ship their milk to Jefferson Cheese Manufacturing in Hancock, Md. The manufacturing plant has been in business since the early 1970s and has adapted to changing times thanks in large part to a number of innovative and progressive management decisions about the way the plant operates.

Started by the DeStefano family in the 1940s with one processing plant in Vermont, the cheese manufacturing business was successful and grew. In 1974, a second plant, Jefferson Cheese Manufacturing, was opened in Hagerstown, Maryland. This plant remained in business at the Hagerstown location until June 1991, when operations were shifted from Hagerstown to the company's present location in Hancock. In 1988, the Vermont plant was sold to a Canadian company out of Montreal, and in early 1991, right before the move to Hancock, the Hagerstown operation was also sold to the same company. Bruce DeStefano, a member of the original founding family, is President of Jefferson Cheese Manufacturing.

A COMMITMENT TO AGRICULTURE.

AN EXPERIENCED TEAM WITH AN AGRICULTURAL BACKGROUND.

CoreStates Hamilton Bank believes that agriculture is the backbone of America. In Pennsylvania, agriculture is our number one industry.

We recognize the significant role farm and Agri-business plays in contributing to a viable economy. That is why CoreStates Hamilton Bank is so interested in supporting agriculture.

Your friends at CoreStates Hamilton Bank know that with the value of agricultural production rising every year, the need for sound financial planning rises, too. We will work with you on the full range of financing, credit, trust and estate services, designed to help your business.

CoreStates Hamilton Bank is committed to tailoring a program to fit your needs . . . comfortably.

Talk to your friend at CoreStates Hamilton Bank, where we believe that agriculture is still the backbone of America.

CONGRATULATIONS TO HIDDEN-VIEW HOLSTEINS FOR 15 YEARS OF COMMITMENT TO AGRICULTURE AND THE DAIRY INDUSTRY.

CoreStates Hamilton Bank believes "THE FAMILY FARM IS THE BACKBONE OF AGRICULTURE." On behalf of all dairy farmers, we are pleased to salute the success of HIDDEN-VIEW HOSTEINS at 1700 Brownsville Road, Robesonia, in Berks County. The Tim Kissling family has been dairying for 15 years and currently includes Tim, Teresa, and son Andrew. The current milking herd of 75 registered holsteins has a herd average of 24,059 milk, 839 fat, 783 protein, and a 107.8% BAA. Domestic and international marketing of genetics through bulls and embryos plays a major role at Hidden-View. Members of some of the cow families at the forefront of the holstein breed have been added over the past 6 years to develop an intense genetic marketing program. A promotional herd sale has been planned for November 12, 1994 at Hidden-View. Everyone is invited to attend.

A SALUTE TO DAIRY FARMERS. EVERY MONTH IS DAIRY MONTH WITH US.

June is National Dairy Month and at CoreStates Hamilton Bank, we feel you deserve credit more than one month out of the year. Managing a successful dairy operation requires working capital all year round. We're here to help you meet your financial needs.

Dairy is the major agricultural enterprise in Pennsylvania and accounts for 28.2% of the total agricultural production value. The total annual volume of dairy production for our seven-county area is $486 million. This represents 32.4% of the yearly production for Pennsylvania. That's a record you can be proud of.

Approximately three million pounds of milk a week is processed at Jefferson Cheese. The company has producers in Maryland, Pennsylvania as far north as Harrisburg, and in West Virginia. They contract with local haulers to bring in about 50% of the milk, and purchase the balance from Dairyman, Inc., ADC, and NOF. What they are looking for from producers is high protein milk, contingent on bacterial quality and low somatic cell count. Jefferson Cheese has a Grade A and Grade B permit as far as farm inspections go, however, the majority of the milk they buy tends to come from Grade A dairies. A premium is paid for protein more than 3.2%.

Making mozzarella. These large vats are filled with pasteurized milk, then the culture and enzymes, or rennet, are added. The cheese gels here, is cut into small cubes, and then heated to drive out moisture, before being sent downstairs to drain and ripen.

Mozzarella and provolone in various grades andf forms are manufactured at the plant. Cheese is shipped all over the Eastern Seaboard, as well as to Japan and Islands. There are no other producers of hard or Italian cheese in Maryland. A few exist in Pennsylvania and New York, but the majority of them are in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Whey, a by-product of the manufacturing process, is used domestically and also exported to Japan, where it is used as a protein base.

When milk comes in from the farm, it is first screened for bacteria, scc, and drug residue. Next pasteurization takes place, just like at a processing plant. The milk is then piped to large vats, where it arrives at an inoculation temperature. A starter culture and rennet are added (Jefferson Cheese blends their own cultures), causing the mixture to set up like a white gel. The gel is then cut into small cubes, and heat is applied, which drives out most of the moisture. Whey is the by-product of this process. The small cubes are pumped from the vats downstairs to a series of ripening tables. The mixture ripens very fast: it only takes forty-five minmutes to an hour to complete the ripening stage. Once ripened to the optimum point, the cubes are melted and cooked, then molded into blocks and dunked into a stream of cold water. Finally, the blocks of cheese are floated into a large tub filled with brine or salt solution, where they are salted overnight. They are packaged the following day. The entire procedure, from vat to block, takes only four hours. The cheese is aged before it is shipped from the manufacturer; mozzarella, for example, is ready in 14 days.

Gleaming stainless steel pipes corkscrew through the immaculate interior of the plant, and the hiss of steam and loud piston-like popping of the machinery is overwhelming in the processing room.

In order to accommodate the quantity of milk processed, the equipment runs sixteen hours a day. The company employs approximately forty-five people, and someone is there twenty-four hours a day, to make sure everything runs smoothly. Once it is started, the manufacturing process cannot be stopped, or the entire batch would be lost. And since different batches are constantly cycling through at various stages of completion, it is crucial that the equipment be monitored closely.

The Jefferson Cheese plant is designed to be uniquely self sufficient in its waste treatment. The ideology of the management, particularly President Bruce DeStefano, stands out as refreshingly responsible in a time when so many businesses invest great deals of money and energy engaging in the politics of compliance with municipal regulations while taxing already overloaded community resources.

Instead of straining the local waste management facilities, Jefferson Cheese is completely self-sufficient in its waste treatment. The business processes waste water through its own digester, one just like a municipality would have. On their 60-acre site the company also has its own water wells. Refrigeration from the cold milk coming into the plant is recycled for cooling purposes, such as cooling the hot cream produced by pasteurization. Similarly, heat energy from the cooking and pasteurization processes is harnessed and utilized. The water driven out of the milk during the condensation process is used for cleaning and washing, and to pre-warm the incoming raw milk. The plant's Hancock facilities produce more cheese in one day than was made in a week at Hagerstown, utilizing about the same amount of energy.

Another progressive practice at Jefferson Cheese is the recycling of the nutrients in the waste water to grow hay. A private consultant from Wisconsin was hired to design and implement an operation that irrigates about twenty acres of timothy using the nutrient rich waste water. In conjunction with the Maryland Department of Environment, geological tests were done to establish an irrigation program. Nutrient analysis can be controlled through treatment of the waste water. Although the fields may be put into mixed grass hay in the future, the idea has been a great success since its implementation; six cuttings were made last year, while some area farmers could only make several cuttings. To complete the cycle, the hay is ultimately given to Jefferson Cheese producers if they want it, or to local farmers.

Jefferson Cheese Manufacturing is always actively seeking protein milk. Those wanting more information may contact Bruce DeStefano, president, at (301) 678-6325, or write to 14738 Warfordsburg Road, Hancock, Maryland 21750.

Attend Armstrong Dairy Pageant

WORTHINGTON (Armstrong Co.) — The 1994 Armstrong County Dairy Princess and Promotion Committee will hold a Dairy Princess Pageant on Thursday, June 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the Glade Run Academy, Dayton. The present Armstrong Indiana County Dairy Princess Anna Calhoun will crown the 1994-1995 Armstrong County Dairy Princess.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception to honor the 1994-1995 Armstrong County Princess and Dairy Maids.

Family, friends and the general public are invited to honor the young people who will be promoting the dairy industry throughout the next year.

For additional information, call (412) 545-6419 or 297-3181.

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

Maryland Correspondent Karen Butler lives in Yellow Springs, Frederick County. She holds a degree in art history and history from Western Maryland College, Westminster. Her past experiences include research work at the Baltimore Museum of Art, and a year as educational specialist for the Maryland Museum of African Art in Columbia, Maryland. Currently, Karen works from home part-time doing medical billing and decorating specialty cakes. She volunteers at her church in both the pre-school and cribbery.

Karen and her husband Bryan maintain the Butler family orchard in Boonsboro. They grow fruit, primarily for wholesale, and asparagus. When they lived on the orchard, they had pick-your-own and a farm stand and still do that on a limited basis. At home, they have a mixed bag of livestock, including some grade Brown Swiss heifers that are involved in the Identity Enrollment program. They also raise a small flock of laying hens.

Karen and Bryan have two wonderful sons, Beau, age 2½, and Tommy, age 1½. They look forward to the arrival of baby number three later this year.

Karen loves her work for LANCASTER FARMING. She enjoys the opportunity it gives her to meet new people, and feels especially privileged to have such a good excuse to talk with farmers and others involved in agriculture and learn more about their work.

BUTTERY ONION SOUP

2 cups thinly sliced and chopped onions
½ cup butter
¼ cup flour
2 cups chicken broth
2 cups milk
1½ to 2 cups shredded mozzarella
Salt and pepper, to taste
Croutons, optional

In a large kettle, saute onions in butter over low heat until tender and transparent, about 20 to 30 minutes. Blend in flour. Gradually add broth and milk; cook and stir over medium heat until bubbly.

Cook and stir for one minute more; reduce heat to low. Add mozzarella cheese and stir constantly until melted. Do Not Boil! Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve with croutons if desired.

Yield: 6 servings or about 1½ quarts.

I got this recipe from Country Woman magazine, which is where I find many favorites. I like to use Vadalia onions. This soup goes well with grilled steaks, fresh salad, and crusty bread.

My husband Mark and I keep busy on 23 acres and I enjoy being a stay-at-home mom to our two daughters, Lyndsey, 4, and Lauren, 8 months.

SUGAR DROP COOKIES

4 cups granulated sugar
2 cups brown sugar
3 eggs
1 cup vegetable oil
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 cup cream
2 cups buttermilk
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
7 cups bread flour
4 cups all-purpose flour

Bake on greased cookie sheets in 300 degree oven and roll in powdered sugar while warm.

CRACKER PUDDING

4 cups milk
1 cup shredded coconut
2 cups coarse cracker crumbs (saltines and graham crackers mixed)
2 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat milk, sugar, and egg yolks and cook 1 minute. Add cracker crumbs and coconut. Stir until crumbs are soft and mixture is thick. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Spread with meringue made by beating 3 tablespoons sugar into stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes in a greased 2-quart casserole until meringue is golden brown.

TURKEY NOODLE CASSEROLE

4 ounces medium wide noodles
1 package frozen broccoli
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups cooked turkey, diced
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1 cup cheddar cheese, grated
¼ cup grated and sharp cheddar cheese

Cook noodles and broccoli separately until just tender. In saucepan over low heat, melt butter. Stir in flour, salt, mustard, pepper, and milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat, stir in cheese.

Arrange noodles, broccoli, and turkey in shallow casserole dish. Pour cheese sauce over all. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until bubbling hot.

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM

4 eggs
2½ cups sugar
6 cups milk
4 cups light cream
2 teaspoons chocolate extract
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon salt

Beat eggs until light. Add sugar gradually, beat until thickened. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Freeze in ice cream freezer.

We milk 60 cows, Jerseys and Holsteins. The cream in our own milk is so thick it works well in this recipe and is delicious. Homemade ice cream is something special the whole family can join in on. When our sons, Benjamin, 7, and Jacob, 4½, are bored and have nothing to do, this makes a refreshing treat. Dad, David, enjoys it too.

SOUR CREAM COOKIES

1 cup butter
3 cups brown sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 eggs
5 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups sour cream

Cream together butter and sugar, add eggs and beat. Sift together flour, soda, baking powder and salt. Alternately add flour mixture and sour cream to butter mixture. Add vanilla. Bake at 350 degrees for 5 to 10 minutes.

My name is Janelle Burkholder. I am 11 years old. I live on a dairy farm. My parents' names are Leon and June. I have two sisters and two brothers. They are Lynford, 13; Kevin, 9; Christine, 5; and Sheila, 7 months. My hobbies are sewing, baking, reading, and babysitting.

FAVORITE BREAKFAST CAKE

1 cup sugar
¼ pound butter
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon soda dissolved with 1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder.

Prepare a topping made of ½ cup (or more) of brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, and ½ cup chopped nuts. Mix batter ingredients and spread ½ of butter in a 9-inch by 13-inch cake pan. Sprinkle half of the topping on this and add remaining batter and top with remaining topping. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes.

Hi! I'm Katie and my husband is Benuel. We have six children ages 1 to 15 years. They are all in the growing stage, so it takes lots of food to satisfy their appetites. They like when I try new recipes. I have collected quite a bunch from Lancaster Farming. I am thankful for a healthy family. We live on a dairy farm in Paradise.

BLUEBERRY CREAM MUFFINS

4 eggs, beaten
1 cup sugar
1 cup oil
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups sour cream
2 cups blueberries

Mix eggs, oil, sugar, and vanilla together with a fork. Stir in all dry ingredients. Add sour cream. Fold in blueberries. Batter will be thick. Spoon into 24 muffin tins (either greased or paper-lined). Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Yield: 24.

I love to make muffins and have found it's a wonderful thing to make for children beginning to bake. This muffin recipe is probably my favorite. It's very moist.

We are a farm family living in eastern Lancaster County. We have seven children raning in age from 3 months to 13 years. A farm is absolutely the best place to raise a family. I realize I am just a bit biased!

PEACHES FILLED WITH CHEESE

1 can peach halves
3 tablespoons grated cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon grated parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon softened butter
Salt
Cayenne pepper
Lettuce
3 ounces cream cheese
5 to 6 tablespoons light cream
Paprika

Drain peaches. Mix cheeses with butter; season to taste with salt and cayenne. Fill peach halves with cheese mixture. Arrange on a platter or on an individual bed of lettuce. Beat together cream cheese and cream; spoon over peaches. Sprinkle with paprika. Serves 4 to 5.

LIME PEAR SALAD

1 quart pears, drained (save juice)
8 ounces cream cheese
6 ounce package lime Jell-O
2 cups unwhipped cream

Add water to pear juice to make 2 cups. Heat to boiling. Add Jell-O and stir to dissolve. Put pears in blender; puree and add remaining ingredients. Chill to firm.

This is a very simple recipe but very delicious. I enjoy looking at the recipes in Lancaster Farming. It's always fun trying new recipes.

BROKEN GLASS DESSERT

3 3-ounce packages Jell-O (raspberry, lime, orange)
3 cups boiling water
1½ cups cold water
1 cup pineapple juice
½ cup water
¼ cup sugar
3-ounce package lemon Jell-O
1 pint whipping cream
½ teaspoon vanilla

Dissolve each of the Jell-O flavors in 1 cup boiling water and ½ cup cold water. Pour into three 8-inch square pans. Chill until firm.

Blend pineapple juice, water, and sugar; bring to a boil. Add lemon Jell-O and stir until dissolved. Chill mixture until it is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip this mixture, then whip the cream, then whip together both mixtures. Add vanilla.

Cut the three Jell-O flavors in ½ -inch cubes and fold through the lemon mixture.

Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Delicious! Looks real colorful in glass dishes!

Consuming Thoughts

Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

Since June is Dairy Month, milk and dairy products will be featured in supermarkets and dairy stores throughout Pennsylvania and neighboring states. Look for store specials on milk, cheese, ice cream, and cottage cheese.

You know the farmer is not the only person to determine the keeping quality of milk and dairy products. Dairy farmers, processors, and store personnel should protect milk by keeping it cold and out of the light. If these practices are followed, milk will stay fresh for a longer time after processing.

Pasteurization also assures of safety and extends keeping quality while not robbing milk of any significant nutrients.

But you, the consumer can also extend the keeping quality by purchasing milk last at the store and taking it directly home to minimize exposure to heat and sun.

Putting milk in a box or covering it in your car keeps it cooler and away from the sun. Place refrigerated and frozen foods in storage as soon as possible after arriving home.

Since milk absorbs the odor of fish, onions, and smoked meats, keeping milk in containers closed or covered in the refrigerator will extend keeping quality. Setting the refrigerator at 40 degrees F or below also keeps your milk fresh longer.

Rotate milk to use the oldest first and note the expiration date for quality and flavor. To ensure good quality, flavor and nutrition, keep milk cold, covered, and in the dark.

When serving milk, return the unused portion to the refrigerator immediately. Don't let it sit on the table or kitchen shelf.

When buying ice cream at the store make sure it is hard. Products stored at zero degrees F or below, as they should be, will be solid and not spongy. You will not be able to depress the sides of the container with your fingers.

Ice cream that has softened won't be spoiled, but the texture may no longer be as smooth. Buy ice cream — and other frozen foods — just before heading to the checkout counter. Be sure frozen foods are packed together in a double bag. Go directly home and place frozen foods in the freezer immediately.

Do not set ice cream on the kitchen counter to soften. Instead use a scoop dipped in warm water. After scooping out servings, return the ice cream and container to the freezer. To soften ice cream in the microwave oven, microwave on high (100%) in carton. One pint requires 10 to 15 seconds; 1 quart 20 to 30 seconds; and ½ gallon 40 to 50 seconds.

Manufacturers of ice cream and other frozen dairy desserts keep their products at about minus 40 F. This prevents the formation of ice crystals and assures a smooth texture.

At this temperature, ice cream will have good quality and texture. Keep your freezer at zero degrees F or cooler if you plan to keep any frozen dairy desserts for longer than two weeks.

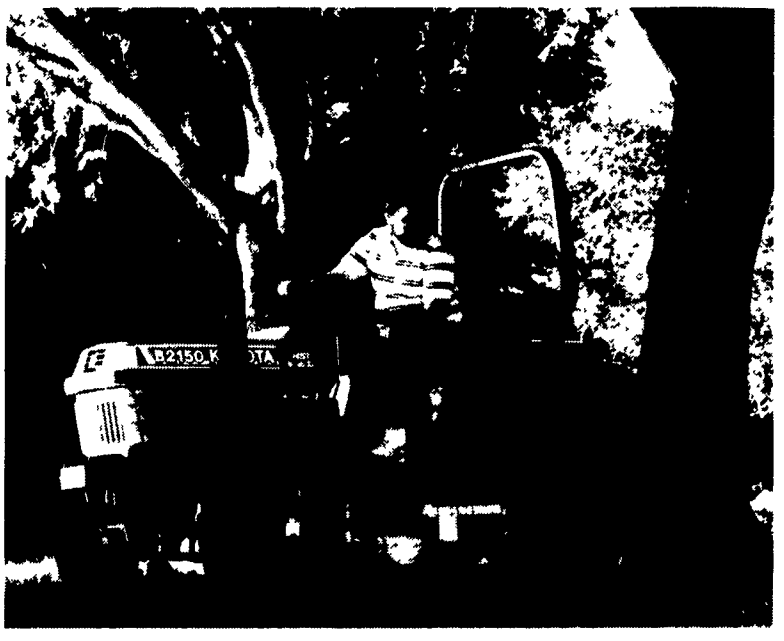
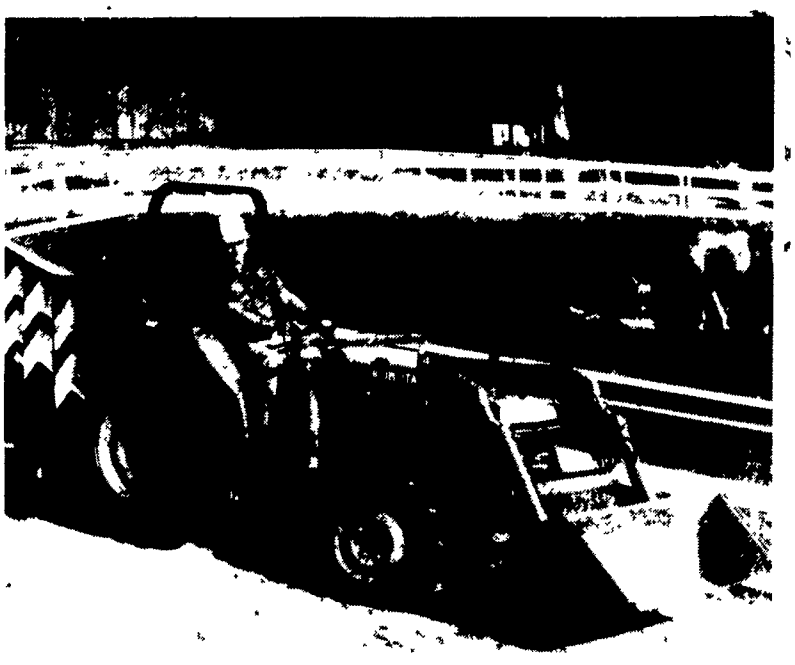
A MACHINE FOR ALL SEASONS





No matter what the task or season, Kubota's mid-sized tractors have the versatility and implements to handle the job.

Like our B-50 Series tractors that come with liquid-cooled diesel engines, 2 or 4-wheel drive, quick-attach implements and a powerful 13 - 20 PTO HP. Optional Bi-Speed Turn allows for amazing precise turns in 4-wheel drive for lawn care in the spring and snow removal in the winter. HST transmission and power steering are available, too.

Our Kubota L-Series tractors provide the extra horsepower you need, boosting 20 - 49 PTO HP. Built with liquid-cooled Kubota diesel engines, these mid-sized tractors come in 2 or 4-wheel drive. These models come with lots of choices which include the new Ever-Clutch - a first-of-a-kind wet clutch that doubles clutch life and even comes with its own warranty and the Kubota exclusive Glide Shift Transmission, enabling you to "glide" through 8 forward and 8 reverse gears without clutching.

When you need a tractor that can handle any job in any season, look at a Kubota.

Kubota Tractor Corporation markets a full line of tractors through a nationwide network of over 1,000 dealers.

You Ask ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? You Answer

In response to readers' questions, this column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for the answers. In the past, many readers sent non-cooking requests to Cook's Question Corner, a cooking column on page B 8.

"You Ask — You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. The concept is the same: When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask — You Answer, Lou Ann Good, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522.

QUESTION — A. Nolt of New Holland would like to know the words to the complete poem that was recited in the 1920s when her father-in-law went to school. The poem contains these lines: The carpenter's house is falling down. The preacher's kids are the worse in town.... Since this request appeared, Theresa Litecky, Eastampton, N.J., and several others have written to say they remember parts of this poem and can hardly wait to see the complete poem. Any readers who remember the complete poem, please send it immediately.

QUESTION — Marie Lorah, Box 299 R.D. 3, Tamaqua, Pa. 18252, is looking for water glasses with pictures of owls on them.

QUESTION — Romaine B. Answell, Sumerdale, would like to know who manufactured the Webalco electric skillet.

QUESTION — A reader would like to know how to keep bees away when holding outdoor picnics.

QUESTION — Barbara Davis, Sewell, N.J., would like to know where to purchase the old Parker Brothers card game called "Touring."

QUESTION — Judi Spurling of Limerick would like to know where to purchase a sturdy quality bent willow or twig settee for use in an outside country flower garden.

QUESTION — G. Depew, Mifflintown, wants to know where to buy signs to erect along the highway to alert motorists of tractors and farm machinery crossing the highway.

QUESTION — Dawn Lesher, Pitman, would like to know how to discourage birds from building nests in hanging basket plants.

QUESTION — Marie Loy of Pine Grove would like to know how to keep rabbits from eating garden plants. Also, voles have eaten all the tulip bulbs in her garden. How does she get rid of voles, which make holes in the ground not ridges as moles do?

QUESTION — Beverly Budnick, Carlisle, Md., asks for an explanation of the saying: A needle shall not pierce fabric on Ascension Day.

QUESTION — Donald Gayman, Chambersburg, has an Equi-Flow Dehydrator with plastic trays. Food items are sticking, especially pears and tomatoes. Any suggestions as to what she can do to make the dried food fall easily from the trays after the food is dried? Also, does anyone have a new address for the company?

QUESTION — A York County reader would like to know how to clean aluminum storm doors or enclosures that are becoming pitted.

Clinton County Herb Festival

CLINTON (Clinton Co.) — The Clinton County Herb Guild in conjunction with Penn State Cooperative Extension is sponsoring the first annual Herb and Craft Festival, June 11 at the Clinton County Fairgrounds. The fairground is located ½ mile from exit 26 off Interstate 80.

Events are planned for the entire family including hands-on workshops, for both adults and children, an English Tea and a children's Mad Hatter Tea Party. Additionally, many demonstrations are planned to run throughout the day. Three speakers, Robert Nuss, Constance Miller, and Greta Ferris, will be discussing topics such as, preparing the soil, planning and planting an herb garden, and making topiaries and tussie mussies.

More than 30 food and craft vendors will be selling herbal related products. Some of the items available for purchase will be herbal vinegar and jellies, honeys, herbed goat cheese, beeswax candles, ornaments, plants, potpourri, swags and wreaths, herbal paper products, jewelry, bonsai pots and leather items, including muzzle loader accessories and much more.

An English Tea will be held at 1, 3, and 5 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the hospitality table in advanced on a first basis. Cost is $5. The children's Mad Hatter Tea Party is being presented in cooperation with Millbrook Playhouse. It is limited to 25 children, ages 3-9, with pre-registration required.

York Ag Museum Expands Agriculture Exhibits

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK, (York Co.) — The milk wagon has been resurrected in York County.

Actually two milk wagons have been resurrected in York County and are on display at the Agricultural Museum on East Market Street.

Restored milk wagons once used by Rutter's Dairy, York, and the W.B. Warner Dairy, Red Lion, are historic testaments to an earlier era of the dairy industry. The wagons are two of the largest artifacts in the dairy section of this museum devoted to the county's agriculture heritage and legacy.

On display along with the milk wagons are cream separators, bucket milking equipment, fountain waterers, milk cans, milk strainer, even a Babcock milk testing machine donated by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

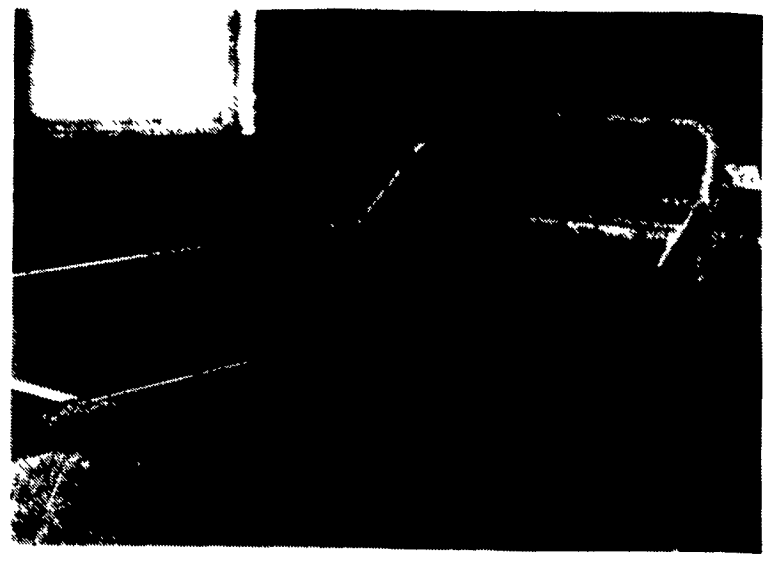
Helping round out the museum's dairy display are milk cans, bucket milkers, surcingles, even rubber inflations for milking machines.



Even during early eras of York County agriculture, manure spreaders helped move nutrients back out to the fields. This early version was manufactured in York by the Farquhar equipment-manufacturing firm.

York Ag Museum

Replicas of a cow and a calf are flanked by bales of straw.

The museum, which opened in 1992, is located in the Old Eastern Market house at 480 East Market Street. Built in 1889, the structure was operated as a farmers' market until 1947, when it was renovated for use as a Sears Roebuck and Company farm equipment store. Now restored for museum use, some 13,000 square feet of display space are contained within the original brick walls and wood timber tress roof supports.

The dairy display and collection is just part of the museum's collection of historic York County agricultural equipment and memorabilia, but a section which the museum staff hopes to expand.

"We want to present an overview of the dairy industry in York County," states museum executive director Carol Kearney. "Using artifacts, photographs and text, we want to show the changing technology of the dairy farm.

"What we need are more artifacts and people from within the industry to help design the ingredients of our display. And we definitely want a kids' section," she emphasizes.

Kay Louise McGarry the museum's education director, prowls

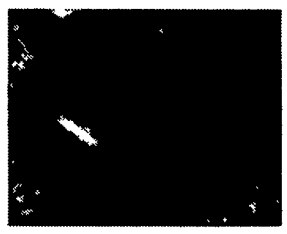
BUSH HOG® Finishing Mowers

Floating lower linkage on all Bush Hog Finishing Mowers allows the implement to ride over objects on the left side independently of the right side, for a closer cut.

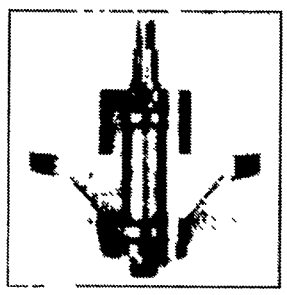
Rounded left front edge of mower directs cut material into air tunnel for fast discharge on the right side.Height of deck provides plenty of space beneath for fine cutting heavy growth



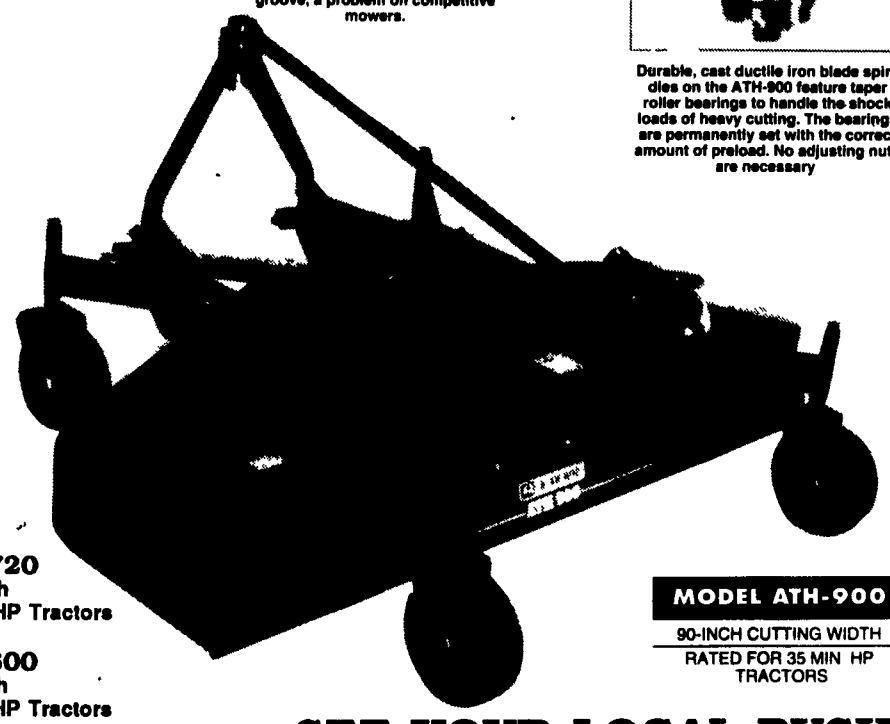
The grass chute on the ATH-900 Mower is spring loaded. This feature lets the chute "float" during operation, preventing damage to the grass when working uneven terrain.

Optional front rollers prevent scalping when mowing on rolling terrain. Two rollers are provided for the ATH-900.

Massive cast iron belt sheaves absorb heat due to high belt tension, and the machined casting eliminates sheave separation at the bottom of the groove, a problem on competitive mowers.



Durable, cast ductile iron blade spindles on the ATH-900 feature taper roller bearings to handle the shock loads of heavy cutting. The bearings are permanently set with the correct amount of preload. No adjusting nuts are necessary



Also Available:

Model FTH-720
72" Cutting Width
Rated for 20-40 HP Tractors
and
Model FTH-600
60" Cutting Width
Rated for 15-35 HP Tractors

MODEL ATH-900
90-INCH CUTTING WIDTH
RATED FOR 35 MIN HP TRACTORS

York Ag Museum Expands Agriculture Exhibits

During an earlier era of York County agriculture, fresh warm milk from the dairy herd could be poured into this "pig saver" to feed orphaned baby pigs or supplement nursing sows with large litters.

similar displays around the country when she has the opportunity, scouting for ideas. In a New York museum, she found a children's dairy display which featured a large, put-together puzzle of a cow, a hands-on exhibit highly popular with visitors. Another dairy display she has seen was fashioned like a giant, walk-through cow.

"We have a lot of teachers who bring their classes in on field trips when they're studying a dairy or a farm chapter. In fact, the numbers of children coming through the museum doubled from 1992 to 1993," says a pleased McGarry. She envisions adding a dairy display "with something that kids could do, could interact with."

Six thousand children toured the exhibits in 1993, mostly from schools within York County. Others travel farther, some from neighboring Lancaster County, classes from schools near Philadelphia, and from northern Maryland. Total museum attendance through 1993 was more than 12,500.

Popular with local children are special events planned periodically, "just for kids"-type programs. One favorite annual one, says Kay McGarry, is a roll-a-can, ice-cream making activity held in August.

To present a comprehensive overview of the county's historic-to-present dairy industry, the museum is seeking assistance from area farmers with dairy-related artifacts stashed away in corners of their buildings, items which they would consider donating or putting on loan for display use.

Carol Kearney, executive director of the Agricultural Museum of York County, tries her hand at operating a cream separator. Kearney and her staff of volunteers hope to expand the museum's dairy display with the assistance of county farmers.

Included in a "want" list are old dairying artifacts like water buckets, feed troughs and feed bins of wood and/or metal, a three-legged milking stool, manure shovel and

Hershey Museum Offers Summer Programs

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Parents interested in involving their youngsters in engaging, enjoyable and educational summer activities look no further! The Hershey Museum is offering high quality programs for children ages four through twelve.

DISCOVERY DAYS for ages four through six does just what the title indicates. Children are encouraged to actively explore and discover their community by visiting seven interesting sites, participating in special tours, and engaging in "take-home" activities. Youngsters will play games and hear stories at a one-room school house; find out what actors do behind the scenes at the Hershey Theater, take a hay ride, meet baby animals first-hand on a farm visit; and learn about tasty chocolate at the Hershey Museum. Choose from two, eight-day sessions scheduled from 10 - 11:30 a.m.: Discovery Days I runs Tuesday through Friday, June 28th through July 8, Discovery Days II will be held Monday through Thursdays, August 1 through August 11. The teacher for the sessions is Sue Mitchell.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR CHOCOLATIERS explore the wonderful world of chocolate by seeing an actual production line process, sculpting chocolate with a pastry chef, becoming taste testers and participating in many other fun and tasty chocolate-related activities. Junior Chocolatiers, ages 7-9, meet from Monday, August 8 through Thursday, August 11 from 1 - 2:30 p.m. Senior Chocolatiers, ages 10 - 12, meet from 1 - 2:30 p.m. from Tuesday, July 5 through Friday, July 8.

Enrollment is limited so register early. For registration fees and additional information, call (717) 534-3439.

a wooden stanchion. Museum staffers are searching as well for old dairy-related photographs, from production through processing, for a visual display of county dairying over the year. Items such as cream pans and milk bottles from York County dairies are also sought.

Dairy producers, processors or anyone with dairy artifacts they would consider sharing for museum and educational use should contact dairy extension agent Jerry Myers at (717) 757-9657 or Howard Mayo or Carol Kearney at the Ag Museum, at (717) 852-7007.

The range of agriculture commodities and activities featured at the Museum include displays on potato and tobacco farming, equipment for various field uses, a shingle mill, weaving equipment. Even a huge well-drilling rig stretches up to the historic roof trusses.

"We want to qualify how important each type of farming industry is and has been over the years, so visitors can understand the importance of agriculture in York County," says director Carol Kearney.

Well-preserved directions for the operation of a cream separator helps explain to museum visitors how this piece of earlier dairying equipment was used.

A Victory For Dairy Farmers

MESHOPPEN (Wyoming Co.) — According to Arden Tewksbury, manager of Progressive Agriculture Organization (Pro Ag), the American Journal of Public Health reports that diets high in margarine and similar foods substantiates what Pro Ag has been claiming for several months.

According to the Health Journal, the trans fatty acid found in margarine and other similar foods are probably worse then saturated fats. Tewksbury said, the Journal quotes Dr. Walker Willett, a Harvard researcher, as claiming parents are making wrong decisions for themselves and their children bu substituting margarine in their diets.

A Pro Ag official said, the Community Nutrition Institute reported in their House organ (nutrition week) on March 12, 1993 that the 1987 Harvard Nurses study found that women who consumed four or more teaspoons of margarine a day had a risk of heart disease 50 percent higher than women whose margarine intake was limited to once a month. Those odds went to 70 percent by increasing the intake of margarine.

According to the Search for Health Journal, Dr. Mary Enig and others at the University of Maryland have been concerned about the link between vegetable fat and the acceleration of breast and colon cancer.

Tewksbury said the real problem doesn't appear to be vegetable oils per say — but when hydrogen is bubbled through these oils to make them solid, a new fat is formed, called trans-fat. This trans-fat is not a natural fat and could be responsible for destroying good cholesterol.

In addition, according to Tewksbury, the May 28, 1993 issue of the C.N.I.'s (Consumer's Nutritional Institute) Nutrition Week has called on McDonald's and other fast food changes to eliminate their present cooking oil and return to the old cooking oil of animal tallow.

The Pro Ag leader feels the new revelation will place the dairy farmers on a level playing field with the vegetable industry.

Furthermore, the revelation by the Health Journal comes at a time when such companies as Milk Made Inc. in New York are introducing new substitute fluid milk drink such as Cool Cow. Tewksbury concluded by saying a local veterinarian has been claiming for years, that hydrogenated oils are a real culprit to our consumers and "Certainly, now is the time for the dairy industry to continue to supply our American Consumers with the most pure milk and milk products possible.

Plans Under Way For Beaver-Lawrence Pageant

WESTFIELD (Beaver Co.) — The 20th annual Beaver-Lawrence Dairy Princess Pageant will be held June 25 at Westfield Grange. Festivities begin at 7:30 p.m. with a cheese social. The pageant will start at 8:00 p.m. and will be followed by an ice cream social.

Previous Dairy Princesses will be present to celebrate twenty years of combined dairy promoting in Beaver and Lawrence Counties.

There are four contestants for the pageant this year. They are Jennifer Brown, the daughter of Kenneth and Judy Brown of Volant; Gwendolyn Harman, the daughter of Wendell and Katherine Harman of New Castle; Roberta McConnell, the daughter of John and Lois McConnell of Volant; and Farin Weltner, the daughter of Albert and Carol Weltner of Georgetown.

Before the pageant each contestant will be interviewed by a panel of three judges. During the pageant the contestants will either give a presentation or a speech, and answer an impromptu question.

Lead From Well Pumps Can Contaminate Drinking Water

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — An estimated 750,000 Pennsylvanians may be in danger of getting "pumped full of lead."

The lead is coming for submersible well pumps and getting rid of it could be expensive, says a water quality expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences and the Environmental Resources Research Institute.

"A recent study has found that many of these pumps could be leaching high amounts of lead into private water supplies," says William Sharpe, professor of forest hydrology.

"Pennsylvania has more than a million individual private water systems that provide an estimated 2.5 million people with drinking water, he says. "Most of these systems are deep wells fed by groundwater, and about 20,000 new wells are drilled in the state each year. Since no government agency monitors private systems, those who rely on individual wells should have their water tested and take action if necessary."

Submersible well pumps made of stainless steel and plastic do not cause any lead problems.

But most pumps are constructed with brass fittings and housings. Brass alloys used in such pumps contain lead. If water coming from a well is corrosive, meaning it is soft and acidic, lead can dissolve into drinking water, posing a potential health risk.

"If your water is not corrosive, you probably won't have a lead problem," says Sharpe.

Children and fetuses are at greatest risk from lead exposure. Once in the bloodstream, lead can cause serious neurological damage, loss of IQ, mental retardation and other problems. Lead also may cause hypertension, hearing loss and kidney and liver damage.

Penn State research has been shown how often lead is found in Pennsylvania's private water supplies. "We sampled about 1,600 individual supplies from around the state," says Sharpe. "About 20 percent had lead concentrations larger than the Environmental Protection agency's action level of 15 parts per billion, and nearly 30 percent exceeded 10 parts per billion, which is considered unacceptable by many in the environmental health community. That means about 750,000 rural Pennsylvanians may be exposed to excessive lead.

"In most cases, lead in drinking water is thought to come primarily from lead-soldered plumbing joints," he says. "We don't know exactly how much well pump fittings are contributing to the problem."

To find out, homeowners with wells should have their water tested. "To do this take a first-draw sample from your faucet first thing in the morning," Sharpe explains. "The let the water run for 30 seconds or longer and take a second sample. Comparing this to the first-draw sample will help determine how much lead is coming from your well and how much is coming from your inside plumbing."

The samples should be tested by a firm certified to check for lead. A list of certified testing firms is available from any county office of Penn State Cooperative Extension.

If excessive lead is found to be coming from a well pump, a homeowner has several options.

- Contact a well-driller to have the pump's brass fittings replaced.
- Install a point-of-use treatment system that removes lead. "We usually recommend activated aluminum or reverse osmosis treatment systems," says Sharpe. "The January 1990 and February 1993 issues of Consumer Reports, available in most libraries, contain useful reviews of lead removal treatment equipment."
- Use bottled water for drinking and cooking.

If high levels of lead are found to be comimg only from leaded components of your inside plumbing, you have another option. "Since it takes about an hour for lead to begin leaching from pipes, let the water run for about 30 seconds to flush any water that's been in the pipes for more than an hour," says Sharpe. "Your tap water then should be safe to drink. To conserve water, do this once in the morning, fill a container and place it in your refrigerator. That water can be used for drinking the rest of the day.

"But if the lead is coming from your pump, this method won't work because you can't very easily flush all the water out of your well."

For more information about lead in drinking water or household water testing, contact the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county.

Extension Plans June Programs

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension will be sponsoring several programs of interest in June including educational exhibits for those interested inn sewing, needlework and textile crafts at the Creative Festival, June 3-5, Sheraton Convention Center in Valley Forge.

"Train the Trainer on Life Skills" on Wednesday, June 8, 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Chester County Extension office in the Government Services Center, is designed to help agency personnel and volunteers in community education address basic life skills education for their clientele.

The Certified Food Safety & Sanitation Course begins Monday, June 13, 6:00-9:30 p.m., at the Chester County Extension office in the Government Services Center. This 16-hour program is for those who have a food service establishment or those required to have a certified food sanitation manager on site.

Is a home-based business for you? Learn how to turn "Your Crafts Business" into a successful enterprise on Thursday, June 16, 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., at Bentley's Restaurant, Routes 202 & 63, North Wales.

EFNEP Programs Help Break Cycle Of Poor Nutrition And Poverty

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — This year marks the 25th anniversary of the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP), a federally funded program offered by Penn State Cooperative Extension to low-income families throughout Pennsylvania.

EFNEP paraprofessionals help thousands of families — especially those with young children — and pregnant teens choose a healthful diet on a limited income.

"Families living on an extremely tight budget often are chronically undernourished," says Judith Heald, EFNEP program manager in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "They often have limited access to affordable, healthful foods, including fresh fruits and vegetables. Their diets are likely to be deficient in vitamins A and C, calcium and iron."

One in six Pennsylvanians age 17 or younger lives below the poverty level — that's nearly 440,000 children. Long-term, chronic undernutrition slows learning and cognitive development, lowers motivation and hinders concentration.

Poorly nourished children and teens also have weakened resistance to viruses and other infections. In addition, approximately 40 percent of all girls in low-income families become pregnant at least once before they reach age 20. Many of these girls make nutritionally poor food choices.

Of the infants born to teenagers who gain less than 20 pounds during pregnancy, more than 15 percent have low birth weights. These low-birth-weight babies are more prone to a wide range of health problems and disabilities.

"Participants in EFNEP programs learn ways to stretch food dollars and provide nutritious meals for their families," says Heald. "This includes information on preparing food, food safety, reading food labels, making good use of food stamps and other resources, eating sensibly during pregnancy and feeding babies and children."

Surveys show that upon entering EFNEP programs, only one-third of the participants had diets containing recommended quantities of foods from all five food groups. This number increased to more than three-fourths by completion of the programs.

But EFNEP paraprofessionals and volunteers do more than teach nutrition. They help participants further their education, find jobs and become more self-sufficient.

Graduates often report that they are making use of educational-assistance programs and other services. Many have returned to the workforce or have enrolled in high school, general-equivalency diploma (GED) classes or job training. Others have had their children returned to them from foster care.

For many clients, EFNEP programs have been a starting point for turning their lives around. "I learned how to prepare creative and nutritious meals on a low budget," says Denita Anderson, a mother of six in Meadville. "When you have a big family, that means a lot.

"But that was just the beginning," Anderson says. "The program also helped me make contacts to further my education. Thanks to the encouragement I got through EFNEP, I'm going to attend Penn State and major in agricultural business."

Prevent Fire Blight In Woody Ornamentals

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — With proper management, you can extinguish fire blight before it damages the woody ornamentals in your landscape, says an expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Fire blight is a disease that can attack more than 75 species of trees and shrubs," says Dr. Gary Moorman, associate professor of plant pathology. "Susceptible plants include apple, pear, quince, mountain ash, crabapple, hawthorn, cotoneaster, serviceberry and pyracantha."

Infected plants display a variety of symptoms. Twigs, branches and leaders on trees and shrubs wilt and blacken, especially during flowering. Affected twigs and branches may bend over into the shape of a shepherd's crook. Blackened flower parts remain attached to the tree. Cream-colored liquid may ooze out of the cankers and run down the trunk and branches in the spring if contitions are very wet.

"The bacterium that causes fire blight overwinters on infected plants in darkened, slightly sunken cankers," Moorman says. "In the spring, the bacteria are spread by insects, rain, wind and birds. Although plants are most susceptible during flowering and new shoot development, fire blight can continue to spread later in the season."

Certain conditions promote fire blight. "Fertilication practices that product very succulent growth can make plants more susceptible," says Moorman. "Temperatures between 70 and 81 degrees Fahrenheit, combined with high relative humidity and rainfall during flowering, provide optimum conditions for the disease. Injury due to hail or wind-blown soil opens plant tissue to infection."

Moorman says to avoid fire blight, you should grow resistant varieties when ever possible. "Purchase and plant only disease-free trees and shrubs, and remove severely infected plants."

Once the disease has begun, Moorman recommends a three-pronged management strategy:

• During the growing season, inspect susceptible plants and prune infected tissues. Look for blackened twigs, branches and flower parts. Find the sunken, darkened cankers on the wood. Prune when the weather is dry, cutting at least 12 inches below the canker. Disinfect pruning tools between cuts by placing them in one part household bleach to nine parts water for 10 minutes, then rinsing them in clean water.

• During the dormant season, prune infected tissues by cutting at least four inches below the canker. Disinfect pruning tools between cuts.

• If necessary, use a chemical that is registered for use on the type of plant infected or contact a professional landscaper or arborist for treatment. When using pesticides, be sure to read and follow all directions and safety precautions on labels.

For more information on plant diseases, contact the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county.

Organized Homemaker Shares Insider Tips

Not so, says Deniece Schofield, author of Confessions of an Organized Homemaker: The Secrets of Uncluttering Your Home & Taking Control of Your Life (Betterway Books, $10.95, paper). Schofield shares time-saying clutter-control techniques and her list of unique housekeeping tools in this fun-to-read book. Here's just a sampling:

• Bathroom bowl brush — handy for brushing around and underneath heavy pieces of furniture; on the carpet between stair posts; on the furniture cushions (it's good for removing pet hair); on cold air vents and exhaust fan grates and under piano pedals.

• Wrist sweat band — wear one when cleaning shower walls, windows or any vertical surface. It catches all the drips that would normally run-down your arm.

• Nylon net — if your clothes come out of the washer covered with lint, just put them into the dryer with a nylon net dish scrubber to gently brush the lint away.

• Coffee filters — they don't leave a speck of lint and are great for polishing mirrors, chrome and anything glass.

• Denture brush — it's a sturdy tool for scrubbing small areas such as window and door tracks.

• Seam ripper — cuts through the thread, hair and string that gets twisted around the vacuum brush.

• Art gum eraser — good for removing black heel marks.

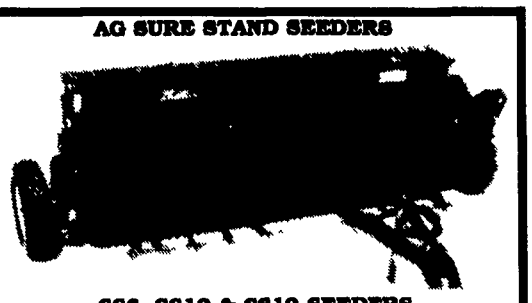
Brillion Implements Keep Going When Others Quit!

AG SURE STAND SEEDERS



SS8, SS10 & SS12 SEEDERS
For years Brillion Grass Seeders have proven to be the best machine for planting grasses and legumes... and now they're even better! Larger, heavier boxes, high seeding rates, nylon lined seed meter, heavier frame, new drive system and more. 5 ft., 8 ft., 10 ft., 12 ft., 3-point or pull type.

X-FOLD PULVERIZERS
19 Ft. to 46 Ft.

The X-Fold pulverizers are designed to meet the needs of today's larger acreage farmers... and Brillion offers them in two models and 11 sizes from 19' through 46'. Now available with 20" Ductile Rollers.

SOIL BUILDERS

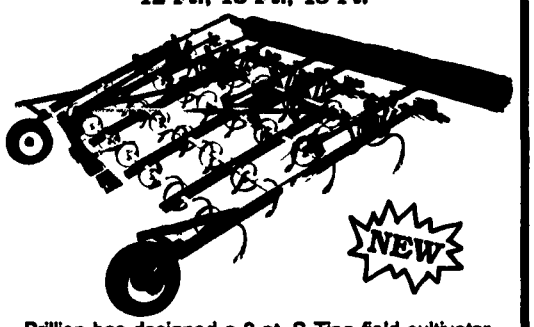
SOIL BUILDERS. Coulter gang can be hydraulically controlled to save maintenance dollars. 5, 7, 9, 11 & 13 shank. Available in 2 & 3 bar.

ML & WL PULVIMULCHERS

- Easy rolling 20" ductile iron notched or crowfoot roller wheels with a 5 year limited warranty.
- Longer life external mounted bearings.
- Longer, heavier drawbar for shorter turns. Available 12'6", 13'10", 15'2" & 18'9" rigid, 21'8", 25' & 30' flat fold.

There's lots more reasons to buy Brillion... stop in and we'll talk.

3 PT. BASKET HARROWS
12 Ft., 15 Ft., 18 Ft.

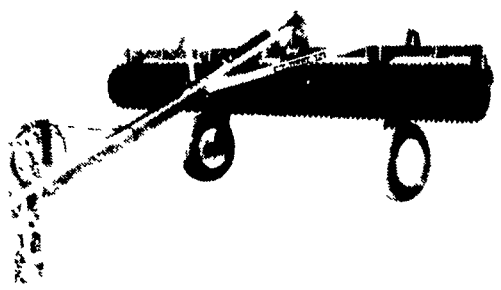


Brillion has designed a 3 pt. S-Tine field cultivator with a larger, aggressively angled 12" diameter rolling basket, a 4-bar frame that allows for either 4" or 6" tooth spacing and an adjustable coil tine leveler bar. Gauge wheels are optional.

FLAIL SHREDDERS
12 Ft. to 15 Ft.

FLAIL SHREDDERS Heaviest gearbox on the market eliminates the number one cause of downtime. Available in 12' and 15'. Either cup or side slicer knives. 540 or 1000 RPM.

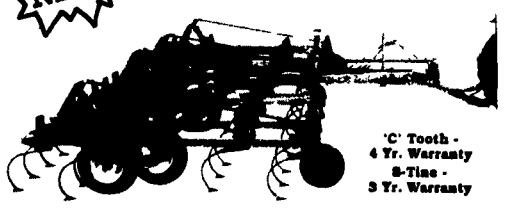
P-SERIES
TRANSPORT PULVERIZERS
10 ft. to 16 ft.



New P10 Series Single Gang available as pull type or transport. Available with most old style rollers and the new 20" Ductile Wheel. Also Available As Pull Type.

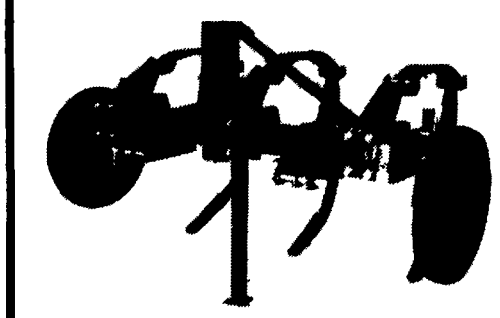
NEW

HFC FIELD CULTIVATORS
16½ Ft. to 31½ Ft.



The "heart" of any field cultivator is the shank pivot point. A "bulked up" shank bracket made of cast ductile iron instead of the usual formed steel bracket, incorporates a hardened steel bushing AND a zerk grease fitting to lubricate the pivot point to reduce wear. The result is thousands of acres of extended life of the shanks.

3-SHANK DEEP TILLS



The three shank model, shown above, has a Category II hitch. With a cutting width of 7'6", it is ideal for operators with smaller acreages and horsepower. It is extremely maneuverable, yet provides the same basic deep tilling job as its "big brothers". Available with coulters.

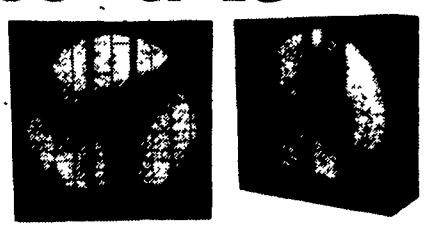
BELT DRIVE OR DIRECT DRIVE PANEL FANS FOR AGRICULTURE



FAN STRUCTURE
- All galvanized frame and orifice – corrosion resistant, long lasting
- Premounted in particle board box – easy handling and fast installation with wire screens on both sides
- Vertical support – maintains proper alignment
- Quiet operation – no disturbance during operation
- Direct Drive – no drive losses, no belts to slip
- Optional Discharge Diffuser Cone – increases performance of fan without additional HP

PROPELLER
All galvanized blades riveted to matching heavy gauge galvanized spider. High performance camber twist propeller, stabilizes air flow through lower speeds.

MOTOR
High efficiency "C" face mounted motor includes thermal overload protection, gasketed wiring and capacitor covers Delivers high CFM at normal speed with capability of operating at lower speeds without overheating. Speed may be controlled with PB 100 Series speed controls.

Schaefer Barn Kooler®

The Barn Kooler® System incorporates a series of fans and controls into an integrated system that is used for both high velocity air cirulation for cooling during the Summer and gentle, draft-free air movement during the Winter months. By utilizing thermostically controlled speed modulators, the speed of the circulating air is constantly adjusted to the temperature. As the temperatures in the building rise and fall, so does the volume of air being circulated.

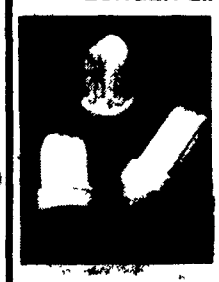
ENERGY EFFICIENCY AND LONGER LIFE



Earth Light Collection lamps pay for themselves many times over by providing significant savings on energy, maintenance and replacement. Compared to ordinary incandescent lamps, Earth Light Collection lamps save up to 76 percent on energy. The SL323, for example, will save $67* over the life of each lamp. What's more, these energy savings are compounded by savings on maintenance and replacement. With an average life of 10,000 hours, Earth Light Collection lamps last up to 13 times longer than ordinary incandescents.

These Dairy Farmers Turn To Intensive Grazing To Ease Work Load

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

WINDBER (Somerset Co.) — This is the year that Phillip and Debra Ott of Hillsboro Road are taking the plunge and turning some 50 of their 250 acres into 12, two and a half acre paddocks for intensive grazing. The overworked couple, both not yet 30, find themselves among a handful of county dairy operations using the graze-it-clean, feeding system.

But because they work hard, have no time off, evening help only from Phillip's brother, and two little girls to raise, Phillip says frankly, "I'm behind — I should have switched (to intensive grazing) eight years ago."

Which is about the time the two were newlyweds taking over the family farm from another of Phillip's brothers.

"I never thought I'd make a farmer," says Debra, a 1986 graduate of the Indiana University of Pennsylvania with a degree in Sociology. "But I drove tractor, and when Phillip saw I could do that, he gave me other stuff to do — once he found out I wouldn't break everything," she added with a mischievous twinkle in her laughing eyes.

Phillip shows their highest producing cow that has six lactations and peaked last year at 130 pounds of milk per day.

These Dairy Farmers Turn To Intensive Grazing

Although the tomboyish Debra grew up around farming in the Ligonier area she wasn't a dyed-in-the-wool farm girl. She interned at New Day, a Christian ministry to troubled youths and their families in a three-county area. Then she worked for Sani-Dairy and at Miller-Picking.

Phillip, after his 1982 high school graduation and 1983 graduation from the Johnstown Area Vocational Technical School, worked part time at Sears Automotive and the remaining time on the family farm.

Brother Ed was running the farm because their dad had decided it was time to start a partnership with his sons.

Then in April of 1984, while a triple-bypass heart surgery was being performed on their dad in Pittsburgh, and Phillip and his mother Eva, were by his side, tragedy struck the farm. The too-familiar barn fire, ignited during an afternoon when nobody was home.

Some neighbor boys, seeing the disaster begged permission to exit the afternoon school bus at the farm. Their driver, trying to be responsible, wouldn't allow it.

So as soon as they reached a bus stop, the boys hopped off, went tearing back to the Ott's barn and began leading out livestock, despite the fire dangers facing them.

Still 26 cows, and 13 younger animals died. Those survivors were taken to neighboring farms. The electrically caused disaster also destroyed the first hay crop.

Phillip says the family knew about the valiant effort of the school boys from the newspaper. Until recently, they had never personally met them. And then, the Otts' cows got out of their pasture somehow. When they were found some six miles away, it was by the same fellows whose dramatic rescue 10 years ago touched their lives. How life does distill fascinating coincidences for us to ponder.

Milk production fell drastically. "It seemed like all the good cows died in the fire," recalls Phillip. "Then we had some health problems with selenium deficiency," he said.

But, in the typical style, neighbors turned out in multiplied numbers, determined to see their friends back in business. Volunteer labor rebuilt the barn.

Stanchions were increased to 76 and a pipeline system was installed for milking. It also had a gravity flow manure system.

Then in 1985 Phillip's dad died. Besides owning the farm, he was a retired steel worker. His mother, brothers and sisters looked to one another for support in the face of still another loss. "As far as coping it was a long process," they said. Strength was gained by supporting one another.

Friends had introduced Phillip and Debra to each other by then, but Phillip was wary of college girls. His strong opinion was that most of them were just party animals. But in Debra he had to revise his attitude.

"He wanted to propose on the day of my graduation," said Debra, "but then he thought it was a big enough day."

Mother Eva continued to live in the big farmhouse while the newlyweds lived in the attached smaller house.

After Stephanie, aged 5, and Alyssa, aged 2 were born, obviously, housing arrangements grew increasingly lopsided. That's when they reasoned that switching houses was the most viable option. Now everybody has space and privacy, yet the togetherness is a mere door's width away.

While Phillip and Debra labor together to build their Holstein herd's productivity, they take every available moment with their daughters and on Sundays they attend church at St. Thomas Lutheran where Debra teaches Sunday School.

They're milking 67 cows but have 75 with the dry cows. Milk production is at 19,350 pounds with a percent of fat at 3.6 and percent of protein at 3.1.

Phillip says the herd's 1993 milk production was some 1.2 million pounds. He says his best cow — Number 37 — peaked last year at 130 pounds a day. She's been through six lactations.

The feeding program was developed by Singo Feed-in Somerset. Haylage and corn silage are both fed.

"We have a short growing season," states Phillip. "We plant 85-94 acres of corn in the growing season. We can get frost in June or August." The farm site is precariously exposed to nature's elements, yet not far away, other farms are just the opposite and have the advantage of longer growing seasons.

Phillip said he waits for the second crop to make some four to five thousand square bales of hay. Forages are stored first. Then he bales some 250 round bales on land belonging to his uncle.

Although intensive grazing should lighten the workload for the energetic couple who found themselves nominated for the Pennsylvania Young Farmer Award, it's gonna' take time to make a difference. And this summer still promises to demand plenty of sweat and muscle, and long hours.

Arranging the 12 permanent paddocks with guidance from Soil Conservation experts demands careful planning and preparation. So far Phillip has ordered some 3,000 feet of piping for the all-critical water supply and is considering the use of hydrants, he said.

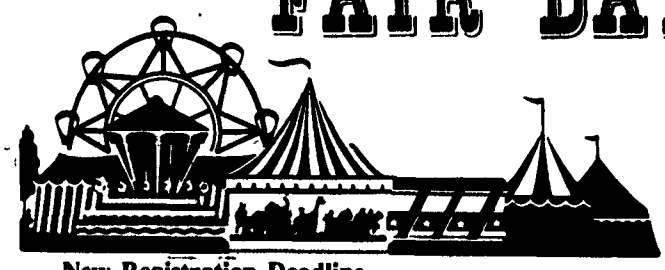
"This is going to be a learning experience for me," says the obviously capable, young member of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau and National Rifle Asso. He's also qualified to perform artificial insemination procedures.

Phillip Ott has drive. He has ambition. He believes in innovative practicality, that in the long run it will reap the better dividends.

He strolls around the outbuildings, dreaming, talking about his plans for the farm's future. A farm should not only be productive, it should be beautiful, it should be enjoyed.

Perhaps Debra will soon have the time to enjoy sewing, and romping with her daughters. And if she sews there will be plenty of pinks and purples to dominate her projects, for the whole gang has fallen victim to wearing Stephanie's favorite colors. All but Cecilia, the dog, who probably wouldn't resist wearing pink judging by her gentle disposition.

FAIR DAYS



New Registration Deadline For Schuylkill County Fair Exhibitors

Those who wish to enter exhibits at the 1994 Schuylkill County Fair should note that there is a new registration deadline of July 15 (earlier for livestock entries).

The purpose of the deadline is to allow sufficient time for all entries to be logged onto a new computer system, which will prepare the exhibitor's entry tags prior to the fair.

If you aren't sure if an exhibit will be ready in time for the fair, send in the early registration anyway. Entry fees for "no shows" will be refunded.

The 1994 Schuylkill County Fair Premium books will be made available at various locations throughout the county, including the Schuylkill County Cooperative Extension Office (located next to Penn State's Schuylkill Campus), the Schuylkill Conservation District office in the Fairlane Village Mall, Cressona Agway Store, and offices of Pennsylvania National Bank.

Prevent Roller Chain Mishaps With Regular Inspection

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — There's more to roller chain maintenance than slopping an old chain with recycled motor oil once a year. Following a proper maintenance and inspection program will insure roller chain performance and extend service life.

Although any roller chain maintenance program begins with correct lubrication, there's much more. According to Glenn Bromley, product and pricing analyst for Ford New Holland Parts and Service Operations, farmers should follow a program that includes elimination of drive interferences, replacement of damaged chains or sprockets, replacement of worn chains or sprockets, proper alignment of sprockets, adjustment of the chain tension, and propert installation of quality guarding.

Bromley recommends the roller chain drives be inspected after the first 50 hours of operation. "Ordinary drives should then be inspected every 500 hours of operation," he said. "And drives under severe operating conditions or heavy shock loads should be inspected every 200 hours."

Bromley said farmers should be sure to follow the manufacturer's lubrication schedule and use the correct grade of oil. If the chain is dirty, it should be coated with kerosene or a solvent and then lubricated.

"The shear act of lubrication is very beneficial. It's essential the chain receives enough lubricant on a periodic basis to achieve maximum wear life," he said.

Bromley said lubrication of the pin and bushing surfaces which articulate under load is most important, but some lubrication between the roller and bushing is also necessary. The lubricant should be applied to the upper edges of the link plantes in the lower span of the chain shortly before the chain engages a sprocket. Lubrication will also dissipate heat, flush away wear debris, and retard dust.

Following lubrication, Bromley recommends inspecting for drive interferences. This inspection should include checking for any evidence of interference between the drive components and other parts of the equipment.

"Many times roller chain failure can be attributed to rubbing between the chain or sprockets and other parts of the machine causing abnormal wear and damage," he said.

He also suggests inspecting for any buildup of debris or foreign material between the chain and sprockets. Debris between the sprocket teeth can cause excessive load on the chain leading to failure.

During inspection, check for deformities or corroded parts on the chain. Bromley says if any are found, the entire chain should be replaced with a quality chain like those available through Ford New Holland dealers.

Ford New Holland parts and service operations recommends inspecting roller chain drives after every 500 hours of operation. Drives under severe stress should be inspected every 200 hours.

"Even though the majority of the chain is in good condition, it's best to replace the entire chain. In most cases it's been damaged and more problems are likely to develop."

Examining the sprocket for chipped or broken teeth is another good idea. If damage is found, replace the sprocket. And Bromley says it's best to replace both the chain and sprockets together.

"What happens when you replace your chain and don't replace the sprockets is that the chain quickly elongates to where the original chain was," he said. "The replacement chain elongates prematurely to fit the worn sprocket. The reason for replacing both is that a new chain and sprocket wear together and will last longer."

Bromley says a roller chain is considered worn out when it has reached 3 percent wear elongation. When a chain reaches this point is does not engage the sprocket properly and can lead to chain breakage and sprocket damage.

"To check for wear, measure a section of the roller chain from pin to pin and compare it to the original length," he said. "When you hit that 3 percent elongation, the chain is functionally worn out."

According to Bromley, checking for sprocket wear is not that well defined. Things to look for include roughness or binding when a new chain engages or disengages the sprocket, and reduced tooth thickness and hooked tips. If these conditions exist, replace the sprocket.

Running a chain too tight also affects wear life," Bromley said. "A good rule of thumb for chain tension is to have slack equal to 2-3 percent of the sprocket center distance."

Sprocket alignment should be another part of the inspection. Bromley said wear on the inside surface of the chain rooller llink plates and on the sprocket flange faces are good indicators sprockets need alignment.

Bromley said if elongation exceeds available adjustment, two pitches may need to be removed from the chain. If two pitches cannot be taken out, he suggests shortening the chain by one pitch using an offset link or section.

INspection is the key to roller chain maintenance, Bromley said. By regularly inspecting and lubricating roller chain, farmers can save themselves downtime and extend the life of chain drives.

Dip Is Effective, Gentle Way To Prevent Mastitis

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Della-Care™ premium teat dip from Alfa Laval Agri has been dramatically enhanced to become "Della-Care ™ Enhanced," one of the most effective formulas available to prevent intramammary infections caused by major mastitis pathogens.

Tests at Cornell University show the incidence of new intramammary infections caused by major mastitis pathogens was reduced by 52.5 percent in teats pre- and post-dipped with high free iodine technology as compared to those treated with conventional iodine technology. Teats that weren't dipped at all were 75.6 percent more prone to intramammary infections.

New Della-Care Enhanced has a substantial increase in mastitis pathogen killing power as compared to the original Della-Care formula. The added effectiveness is a result of an increase of free-iodine from four-to-six to six-to-eight ppm. This increase in free-iodine also makes it a "faster killer" for use as both a pre- and post-dip.

"While Della-Care Enhanced is one of the most effective teat dips on the market, it is also extremely gentle," said Bill Thompson, marketing manager for Della-Care Enhanced. "The new patent-pending formula contains lowered teat irritating complexers, as well as twice the glycerin level improved teat conditioning with every treatment."

New Della-Care ™ Enhanced from Alfa Laval Agri is an effective and gentle way to prevent mastitis.

Hancor Develops Recycled Pipe For Ag Applications

FINDLAY, Ohio — Hancor, Inc. introduces four-inch diameter Environmental Solutions™ corrugated pipe, containing 50 percent recycled high density polyethylene (HDPE), to provide effective water management solutions for agricultural drainage applications and an environmental service.

The four-inch Environmental Solutions pipe meets or exceeds all performance requirements of ASTM F405 and SCS 606 as well as help fill the need to utilize a growing raw material resource.

In 2,900-foot maxi rolls, the 4-inch corrugated drainage pipe is available with 1/16-inch wide slots for average soils and 1/32-inch wide slots for course sandy soils, allowing it to adapt to different soil types.

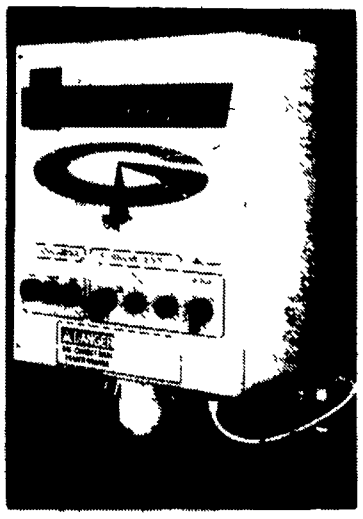
Harvestore Introduces Forage Unloader

DeKALB, Ill. — A.O. Smith Harvestore® Products, Inc. recently introduced the new Alliance forage unloader.

Using state-of-the-art design and patented engineering concepts, this new unloader is a dramatic leap forward in the feedroom application of modern technology.

Two key featurs on the Alliance unloader will have a profound effect on a farmer's daily feeding procedures. The first is the new Arm Advance Sentry™ arm control. This device automatically monitors the length of time the cutter chain arm advances into the forage material. It greatly reduces the need for an operator to monitor or to make adjustments during the unloading sequence. Established parameters are maintained from feeding to feeding.

Also new is the Hydra Force™ H.P. Oil Unit. This mobile unit works with a built-in cutter and conveyor chain lubrication system to make regular chain lubrication an easily accomplished task.



The Alliance™ unloader offers built-in convenience, consistency and uncomplicated maintenance features.

EPA Grants Second-Year OK For Herbicide EUP

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Battalion herbicide for preemergence control of broadleaf weeds in corn without carryover concerns has received a second experimental use permit from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

If registration continues as expected, Battalion, which was used on an experimental basis last year, will be available for the 1995 season. Battalion can be applied early preplant, preplant incorporated, or preemergence and can be tank mixed with grass herbicides such as Harness Plus.

Monsanto, which is developed the new herbicide, said growers who tested Battalion last year were pleased with its performance against competitive standards such as atrazine mixtures, Bladex, and Broadstrike.

Sixty percent or more of last year's EUP participants rated Battalion the best treatment for broadleaf weed control, performance in wet weather and full season control. More than 50 percent rated it first for dependable performance, dry weather performance, and crop safety versus competitive standards.

Building Ideal For Small Storage

MORGANTOWN (Berks Co.) — The attractive, affordable Town & Country building is available through Valley View Construction, Inc., of Morgantown.

Individuals considering a new storage building can receive a free video and design kit from Valley View Construction, Inc. at (215) 286-5407. The design kit puts the information needed to make building decisions right at your fingertips.

The Town & Country building, manufactured by Lester Building Systems, is ideal for smaller sized storage and shelter needs. The pre-energineered buildings range in size from 20-feet wide by 20-feet long and up to 36-feet wide by 48-feet long. Eave heights are available in 8-feet, 9-feet, 10-feet, and 12-feet.

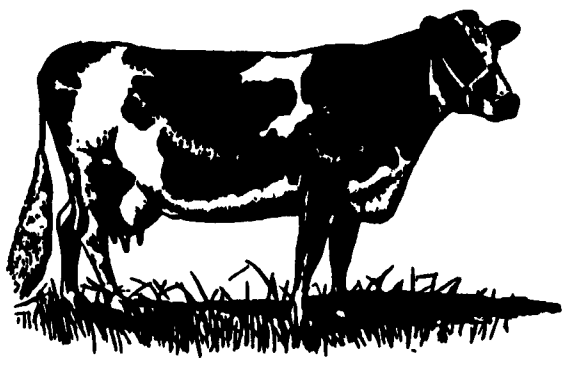
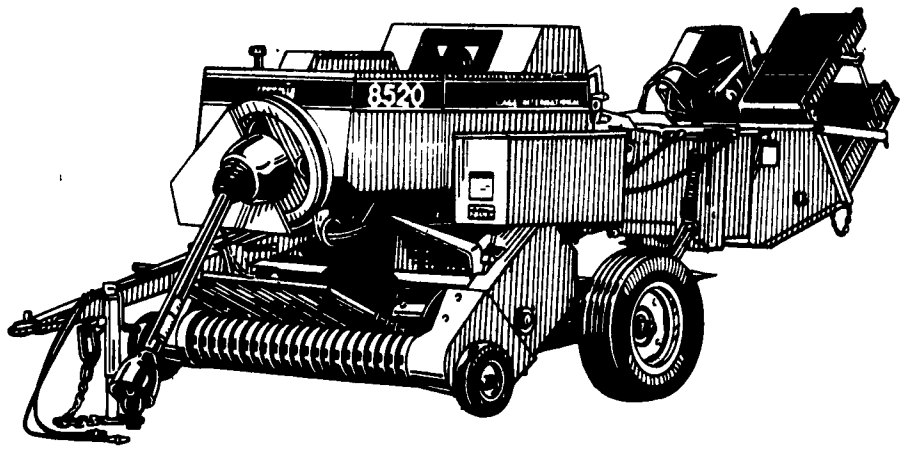
"Her" Choice





If Holsteins could talk, the conversation around the hay manger would be "Case IH Center Line Balers".

Why? More leaves per bale.

Our low profile pickup allows alfalfa hay to retain more dry leaves. We don't lift the windrow as high, saving leaves at the pickup. We also start to compress the hay before it enters the chamber to lock in leaves throughout the flake...leaves don't settle to the bottom and fall out the back of the baler to the degree of older style square balers.

More leaves means more milk, without increased overhead. Many studies show increased production of $1,000 per year over a milking herd of 100 with 2% leaf savings!

Case IH Center Line Balers...one of the quickest ways to increase milk production without adding cows. Improve your bottom line with improved leaf savings.

University Announces Research Awards

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Imagine keeping crops insect and disease free without pesticides. Westinghouse Electric and researchers at the University of Maryland at College Park are trying to do just that. The project, if successful, will take microwave technology already developed for defense and apply it to a new market — agriculture.

The Westinghouse project is one of the 25 projects funded in areas from biology to computer technology in the 13th round of Maryland Industrial Partnerships (MIPS) awards.

The MIPS program encourages scientific and technical research with commercial potential. MIPS awards matching funds of up to $70,000 annually for university faculty to research technologies or processes for a company. Each MIPS project is chosen by a panel of industry, government and academic experts based on technical soundness and economic benefit for the state.

Sixteen new projects were funded. Other awards will fund continuing work on previous MIPS projects. A list of winners is attached.

In the Westinghouse project, a team of researchers from different disciplines will study whether microwave energy sources that Westinghouse manufactures for the military can be adapted for agricultural use. Possible uses include disinfection, drying and sterilization.

Another project, with Hughes Network Systems, could move the "information superhighway" closer to reality. Researchers at the College Park campus are developing a way for people to receive information by satellite from the Internet, the free-form network linking government, academic and commercial agencies worldwide.

The Germantown-based company is hoping to sell devices people could attach to their computers to receive information, sound and video images more than 100 times faster than currently possible over telephone lines.

In a project that combines high tech and high school, Edvotek, a Bethesda biological supply firm, is studying the use of genetically-altered plants in biology class laboratory experiments. Mark Holland, an assistant biology professor at Salisbury State University, will work with Edvotek and tap genetic stock centers traditionally used by researchers to develop experiments that could be used in secondary schools, high schools and colleges.

MIPS is a program of the Engineering Research Center at the University of Maryland at College Park. The center promotes scientific interaction between the university and businesses.

To find out more about MIPS and other business-assistance programs, call the MIPS office in College Park at (301) 405-3891.

Education Programs Create Demand In Tomorrow's Consumer

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Education, the "E" in the PREP (promotion, research, education and public information) gets an expanded emphasis in 1994. The Pennsylvania Beef Council (PBC) has been investing checkoff dollars to educate elementary students and teachers about the important role of Pennsylvania's beef industry.

As part of the Consumer Information Program, PBC's education program develops and supports the communication of nutrition and other information to ultimately help students, our future consumers, consider, buy and enjoy beef as a nutritious, convenient, and safe food. In some cases the education program targets teachers rather than students directly as key influencers by providing them with classroom materials either through selective direct mailings, workshops, or special events.

The purpose of PBC's education program is to develop positive attitudes about the beef industry, its products and management practices. Teachers must be comfortable accepting and using industry-provided information. Activities and materials that present beef outside the context of a balanced diet or discuss cattle production outside the context of total agriculture, may be unacceptable to some educators. It is essential to keep education and promotion separate or teachers may be hesitant to continue to use the beef industry materials as resources. All Beef Industry Council (BIC) and PBC education kits have been developed under the guidance of educational consultants with expertise and practical experience in the curriculum area for which the kit is developed.

The BIC has identified grades K-6 as priority audiences, with great emphasis placed on grades K-4. Pennsylvania represents a large education market. There are approximately 1,500 school districts, with more than 6,000 elementary schools. If the PBC targets other grades, it dilutes the national efforts. Therefore, the PBC has made special efforts to focus statewide programs on grades K-4 through the distribution of education packets, sponsorship of Ag in the Classroom programs, and educational tours.

In the past, the PBC has cooperated with the BIC in sending cover letters and flyers to teachers offering them a particular educational kit targeted by grade and curriculum area. For instance, in the fall of 1993, the BIC and PBC contacted a total of 5,800 Pennsylvania teachers (rural and suburban environmental/science teachers) offering Caretakers All. In order for the teacher to get the educational kit, the teacher must return the response card/flyer stating how he or she plans to use the kit. This type of "action" on the part of the teacher is used as a qualifier so that kits are not sent to those who have no interest in using them — thus wasting a valuable resource. More than 857 Pennsylvania teachers requested and received Caretakers All as a result of the fall of 1993 mailing.

Distribution of educational kits through mailings such as the Caretakers All mailing are continuous throughout the year. Cooperative mailings are an efficient use of state and national staff and materials. The PBC pays the cost of duplicating a cover letter — a few pennies a sheet. The BIC pays the cost of printing the flier, the cost of the mailing, and the fulfillment of the educational kit. For Caretakers All, each kit costs $8.95, or it costs the BIC about $7,900 to fulfill the PBC's 857 responses.

Other continuing and new activities for 1994 include:

• In an effort to bring cooking demonstrations back in the school, the PBC initiated the Veal Home Economics Project. This program emphasizes the ease and versatility of the preparation of veal. Along with teaching its high nutritional value and role in a balanced diet. The first 100 home economic teachers to respond to a recent veal educational mailing were provided with a $15 veal gift certificate to be used in the classroom to increase the knowledge of preparing veal dishes with the ultimate hope of increasing consumption.

• In September, PBC will distri-

Appraiser Completes Course

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — Ken Sutter, appraiser with Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA, successfully completed the advanced rural appraiser course offered by the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers (ASFMRA) in Denver, Colo.

A thorough and comprehensive review of the appraisal process, plus advanced rural valuation techniques covering a wide array of property types, is presented in the course. It brings together all advanced rural techniques and includes a narrative case study. This completes the rural appraisal training by emphasizing market abstraction for components used in all three approaches to valuation. This advanced rural appraisal course is a necessity for practicing and/or reviewing appraisers.

Polled Hereford Sale Averages Post Gains

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Early spring averages of Polled Herefords sold at public auction have posted nearly a $250 increase over the same time period last year.

Overall averages for early spring and last fall sales were $2,016, compared with $1,774 at this point in 1993. Bull averages were up $154, while females were up $276.

"These increases in prices represent more than 5,000 lots of seedstock," said Ed Bible, American Polled Hereford Association president. "Polled Hereford breeders are seeing the results of breeding programs that have focused on efficiency, disposition, fertility, adequate growth and consistency."

Agricultural Sciences Honors Scholars

NEWARK, Del. — Twelve incoming University of Delaware freshmen have received the highly competitive Agricultural Sciences Scholar awards from the College of Agricultural Sciences.

To be eligible, applicants must be accepted by the university and plan to major in an area of agriculture. They must graduate in the top 20 percent of their high school class and score at least 1050 on the SAT. In addition to outstanding scholastic records, they must also complete faculty interviews and an essay competition. Scholarships are renewable for four years of study within the college.

The 1994 recipients are Laurel C. Christy of Methacton High School, Worcester, Pa. and Susan H. Cook of Arundel High School, Crofton, Md., Agricultural Scholar Awards; Laura A. Gubbine of Elkton High School, Elkton, Md., Helmuth Agricultural Scholarship; Heather M. Irish of Dickinson High School, Wilmington, Del., and David B. Education Programs Create Demand bute a newly created Nutrition Lesson Plan to 6th grade health and home economics teachers. Most consumers in the beef industry target audience have children living at home, many of whom influence food buying decisions. Therefore it is important to reach this young audience and the 6th Grade Nutrition Lesson Plan gives us that opportunity. The Nutrition Lesson Plan emphasizes the important role red meat has in the diet, a point that is often overlooked. This brand new lesson plan has been developed by Barb Ford, R.D., Health Programs Coordinator for the PBC.

• Several Agriculture in the Classroom activities such as farm tours, teacher information sessions, and material distribution mailings have been sponsored by the PBC and will continue in late summer and September. PBC will also be supporting the efforts of the Foundation of Better Living's summer teacher educational program.

Also look for the continued support of elementary farm tours as well as tours at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

As the successful Education Programs have done in the past, these continuing and new activities will broaden the beef industry's influence, and visibility, and can increase our opportunities for effective communications through the establishment of positive relationships with key educational professionals.

For more information on the Education Program efforts of the Pennsylvania Beef Council, or ways your farm or promotional group can help extend these efforts, contact Tammy Balthaser, Industry Relations Director, at (717) 545-6000.

NAAB To Hold Dairy Press Tour

COLUMBIA, Mo. — The National Association of Animal Breeders (NAAB), the national trade association for the U.S. artificial insemination (AI) industry for cattle, is co-sponsoring its sixth International Dairy Press Tour on June 11-25.

Journalists from 10 different countries (Australia, Chile, China, Denmark, France, Hungry, Italy, Japan, Mexico and the United Kingdom) will travel across the U.S. to get a first hand look at what the U.S. dairy industry has to offer.

Participants were selected by NAAB from the staff of prominent dairy magazines world-wide. Hosts for the tour are 21st Century Genetics, American Breeders Service, Flatness International, Federated Genetics, Landmark Genetics (California and Wisconsin), NOBA, Select Sires, Sire Power, Spermco, Tri-State Breeders, and World-Wide Sires.

The cross-country tour covers four distinct areas of the U.S. and begins on the east coast in Baltimore, Md. From there, the group will travel to Orlando, Florida, and Madison, Wis., and finish on the west coast in California.

A VIEW TO THE FUTURE

John W. Comerford
Lowell L. Wilson
Erskine H. Cash

In any beef cattle enterprise with a given set of management and other feed resources, the ceiling on the level of production will be imposed by genetics. This holds for not only growth, but also for reproduction, milking ability, and carcass traits.

In some ways, it is fortunate that the beef cattle industry historically has had a broad genetic base with which to work. This allows for faster and more lasting progress through selective breeding.

However, the negative aspect of this broad genetic base is that it contributes to a lack of uniformity in consumer beef products, both within breeds and across breeds. This lack of uniformity often has been identified by consumers as an important reason why they prefer to buy and eat other meats, particularly poultry.

The vision statement recently adopted by the Beef Industry Long-Range Task Force says, in part, that the beef industry should "consistently meet consumer needs and increase market share." If cattle breeders, particularly seedstock breeders, are to remain competitive in the future — both in the beef business and as producers of protein food — they must adopt a breeding program that meets these requirements.

Recent efforts in the generation of information related to the beef industry — strategic alliance, integrated resource management, and quality assurance programs — have been useful in charting directions and defining goals for the industry. However, genetic information from expected progeny differences (EPDs) will be the most important tool available to breeders.

We already know the power of EPDs in raising the production ceiling on a farm. In a bull selection program for the 1993 calf crop on a Pennsylvania farm in Washington County, a bull of known genetic value was compared to two other bulls in the herd with unknown genetic information.

What a difference a bull makes! Using the weaning percent and average weaning weights, calves from the selected bull returned 67 pounds more weight per calf than those from the other two bulls.

What value is there in using the tools available for genetic improvement in the beef business? In this case (using an average price of $82/cwt for feeder calves), it was about $55 per calf — that was $1,320 for 24 calves.

Recent research in Georgia, Florida, and Nebraska has shown that cattle can be simultaneously selected using EPDs for growth of the animal and higher marbling score and lower rib fat in the carcass. This means that many of the well-known genetic antagonisms, such as fat and marbling score, can be overcome by using EPDs.

The first step in any breeding program is to focus on the important things — those with real economic value. The first of these is to produce and wean a calf from every cow in the herd every year. This can be accomplished by using EPDs for birth weight and calving ease (to reduce calving difficulty); EPDs for yearling weight, milk production, and mature size (to be sure feed resources match the feed needs of the herd); and EPDs for scrotal size (to ensure heifers reach puberty earlier in their lives). From this point, the plan can address other important traits, such as preweaning growth, frame size, fat thickness, ribeye area, and marbling.

John W. Comerford

Erskine H. Cash

Watch for the application of new technology as it becomes available. The best example of new technology that could be applied to the industry is the identification of the tenderness gene (or genes) in cattle. If this technology becomes available on a commercial scale, then a new set of rules will need to be written for how carcasses are valued. Producers must be able to adapt to these changes and take advantage of them.

Use all of the information that applies to your program. The road to profitability in the cattle enterprise is paved with accurate and complete records. Producers will remain competitive by knowing not only their level of production, but the cost of that production. This information will allow for informed decisions on feeding, health, and genetic programs that will optimize the use of resources.

Know which cattle are in the most demand in the marketplace. A recent survey by the American Gelbvieh Association indicated the cattle in greatest demand by feedlot operators were older (short yearlings), heavier (650-750 pounds), black, frame size 5 to 6, and preconditioned. If most commercial herds are to produce these cattle, they will need bulls that are no larger than frame size 7 and genetically superior for a host of traits, ranging from low birth weights to high marbling scores.

Test your own seedstock production in a commercial environment. Most breeds have a progeny testing program in place that will allow you to evaluate what you are selling to your customers. Also, a feedlot test program is now available for producers in Pennsylvania. Look at what's beneath the hide of the cattle you are producing. Use these tools to improve your program.

Find lower-cost, sustainable resources that are compatible to both economics and the environment. One good example is rotationally grazing pastures to make more effective use of the grass resource, reduce fertilizer applications, and produce beef at lower cost. A selection program must be adopted that will produce cattle that will work under these conditions. It is a foregone conclusion that, if beef producers don't voluntarily make necessary changes in the industry to support the environment, then somebody will eventually force them to.

The manager of a leading meat packing company recently said, "There are no premiums in this business, only discounts." Beef cattle can be genetically designed

Nitrates In Groundwater A Concern On Delmarva

NEWARK, Del. — The issue of pesticides in drinking water has received nationwide media attention, but nitrate contamination is a bigger concern on the Delmarva peninsula.

Both homeowners and farmers must share the responsibility for protecting water supplies, said Tom Williams, University of Delaware Cooperative Extension water quality specialist.

A study conducted on the Delmarva peninsula between 1988 and 1991 by the U.S. Geological Survey found nitrates to be more pervasive in groundwater than pesticides.

Nitrate-nitrogen levels in the study ranged from 0.4 to 48 parts per million, or an average of 8.2 parts per million, Williams said. Thirty-three percent of the wells tested were above the drinking water standard, which is 10 parts per million for nitrate-nitrogen.

"The percentage of private wells exceeding the nitrate drinking water standard has nearly doubled in recent years," Williams said. "Twenty-seven percent of the 960 water samples analyzed from wells in Sussex County by the Public Health Laboratory in 1993 had nitrate-nitrogen readings above the drinking water standard. Previously, only about 14 percent of the samples tested exceeded it."

From a health standpoint, high nitrate-nitrate nitrogen levels in drinking water are a major concern. Levels above 10 parts per million are known to cause blue baby disease (methemoglobinemia).

"Blue baby disease can occur when an infant consumes water contaminated with high levels of nitrate-nitrogen," said Williams. At these levels, bacteria in the infant's stomach change the nitrate to toxic nitrite. The nitrate converts hemoglobin to methemoglobin, so the blood can't carry oxygen to all parts of the body. As the oxygen level in the blood declines, the baby suffocates.

The most obvious symptom of methemoglobinemia is a bluish skin color, particularly around the eyes and mouth, the water quality specialist said. The disease is usually not a problem once the baby's digestive tract is fully developed after six months of age. The condition is treatable if recognized in time.

Wellhead protection practices targeted by Delaware Cooperative Extension educational programs in Sussex County are proper septic system maintenance, siting of private septic system drain fields at least 100 feet from drinking water wells, and use of a program called Farm-A-Syst to identify and reduce the risk of farm well contamination.

The water table aquifer is most susceptible to nitrate contamination; especially on the sandy soils of southern Delaware. To protect groundwater, Williams advises farmers and home gardeners to use no more manure or fertilizer than necessary to profitably grow the crop.

For more information on how to protect wells and groundwater from nitrogen contamination, contact your county extension office in Newark (302) 831-2506, Dover (302) 697-4000 or Georgetown (302) 856-7303.

Food Export Show Successful

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the six Maryland food companies that exhibited at the U.S Food Export Showcase in Chicago during the first week in May made numerous overseas sales contacts.

"From what I saw at the show, our Maryland companies did exceptionally well. For the first time ever, we featured our food companies in a Maryland Food pavilion and this helped highlight what our state has to offer the overseas market. The show featured buyers from more than 90 different countries and I look for the contacts made at the show to result in many concrete sales," Riley said.

The Maryland companies featured in the show included M & L Gourmet Ice Cream, Wilkins Rogers bread and muffin mixes, Martin Gillet salad dressings, Grand Ma Ida's Mondel Bread, Chun King Oriental vegetables and meat products, and Sysco Lankford's institutional food products.

The U.S. Food Export Showcase is sponsored by the U.S. Foreign Agricultural Service and is held in conjunction with the Food Marketing Institute's Supermarket Industry Convention. It is the largest show of its kind held in the U.S., attracting an estimated $4 billion in food sales.

For more information on Maryland's participation in the U.S. Food Export Showcase, contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, (410) 841-5770.

PFU President Meets With Clinton

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Members of the executive committee of the National Farmers' Union, including PFU president Robert Junk, told President Bill Clinton during a White House meeting that the depopulation of rural America caused by low farm income is threatening the future of rural areas.

NFU leaders from 10 states expressed a desire for the administration to place a high priority on returning profitability to agriculture through positive investment policies that will attract people to and keep people in rural areas.

In response, Clinton indicated that he thinks investment programs in rural America are critical and that he strongly supports the development of program to help young people get started in farming and ranching.

"As rural Americans move to urban centers, it not only hurts rural communities but contributes to concentration in metropolitan areas that are already faced with population burdens," said NFU President Leland Swenson.

An important part of the meeting was spent on health care reform, a subject near and dear to NFU members who have "supported universal health care coverage for 60 years," according to Swenson.

Clinton said his reform package would help farm families by providing them with "economies of scale" once they became part of a large insurance pool under the proposed alliance system, and by providing the self-employed with 100 percent deductibility of health care premiums.

The challenge with passing a health care reform package, according to Clinton, is that mnay Americans are worried that government involvement in health care will make the system worse — not better. "The cynicism is amazing," said the President.

Although NFU believes health care reform is critical to rural people, Swenson said farm incomes must improve so that farm families aren't forced to work second jobs for income or employer-provided health insurance. And without profitability, there's no taxability and therefore no deductibility, said Swenson.

SURFACE DRIVE SILO UNLOADERS

Smart farmers look to Van Dale for all the right moves when it comes to surface drive technology. Even frozen and hard packed silage and haylage are no match for Van Dale's Magnum and SD 2000. Now Van Dale offers even greater efficiency with its DURAGLIDE® Impeller available on the SD 2000. The Duraglide lessens gummy buildups, uses less power and provides faster and more reliable delivery.

Make a move in the right direction to Van Dale. Leaders of the pack since 1950!

"IT IS TIME TO ONCE AGAIN GET SERIOUS ABOUT STORING YOUR VALUABLE FEEDS!!!"

The recent "innovations" and temporary methods of storing your grains and forages are just not protecting your feeds like they should, nor are they really efficient.

Research and practical experience has shown that "the tower silo has never been equalled in its ability to protect your forage quality." And remember..." on most dairy farms, forage quality is the single most important factor affecting profit."

Contact us soon to be sure you get on our schedule to have your poured concrete tower silo constructed in time!

No used silos!
No rebuilt silos!
No pre-owned silos!
All New For You!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

TIRED OF LEAKING ROOFING? USE

WHEELING Channeldrain®

ROOFING & SIDING

Exclusive drain channel guards against wind, rain and snow...assures dryness.

1. Wide overlap: Increases strength and leak protection at each joint.
2. Wide nailing surface: Makes nailing easier and faster.
3. Drain channel: the exclusive leak-proof system that prevents capillary action; stays weather tight. This Wheeling feature has insured "dry barns" for thousands of farmers over the past 50 years.

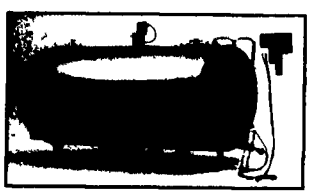
And...

MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Offer

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31 000	$28 000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12 000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17 550	$22 850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48 550	$50 850
Savings	$ 2 300

Contact your Mueller distributor for further comparisons.

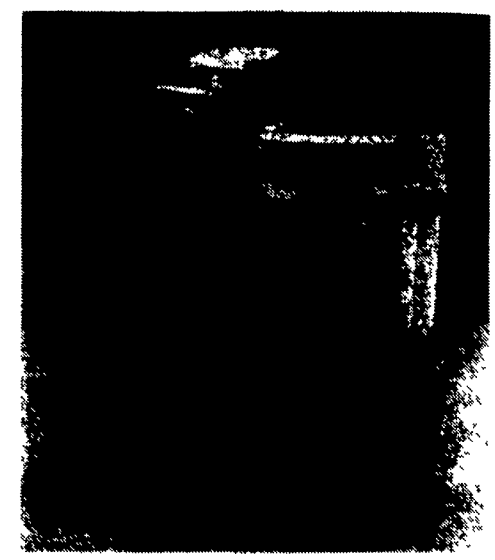
Alfa Laval Agri™

Flo-Master™ 2000 Milk Meter

Take measures to keep your management decisions on target



Unlike meters that measure production by volume, the Flo-Master 2000 physically weighs the milk that's produced. Conventional metering problems _ foam, milk slugs, liner slips, slow- or fast-milking cows - become a thing of the past. So the management information you depend on is derived from milk production, not foam production.

Plus, the Flo-Master 2000 is so accuratte that it has not only passed Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) testing, but it has been approved by the International Committee for Recording the Productivity of Milk Animals (ICRPMA) - the world's most stringent milk meter approval standards.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

Registered Highland Cattle

- Discover the breed that still retains special traits acquired from its ancestors of Scotland.
- Great foragers, clearing most pest plants common to poor pastures
- Thrive in cold, damp climates
- Produce excellent lean beef in adverse conditions where other cattle would fail
- Docile and Hearty
- Calve easily due to small birth weights— something of interest to dairy people for servicing first-calf heifers
- Brucellosis, TB, BVD free herd and inoculated against rabies

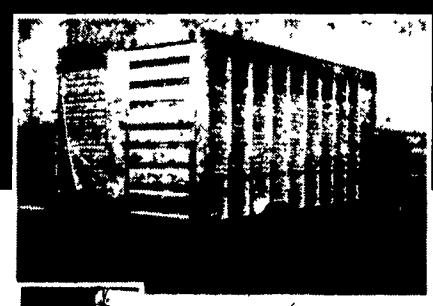
Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies



M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Let EBY custom build one for you.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.

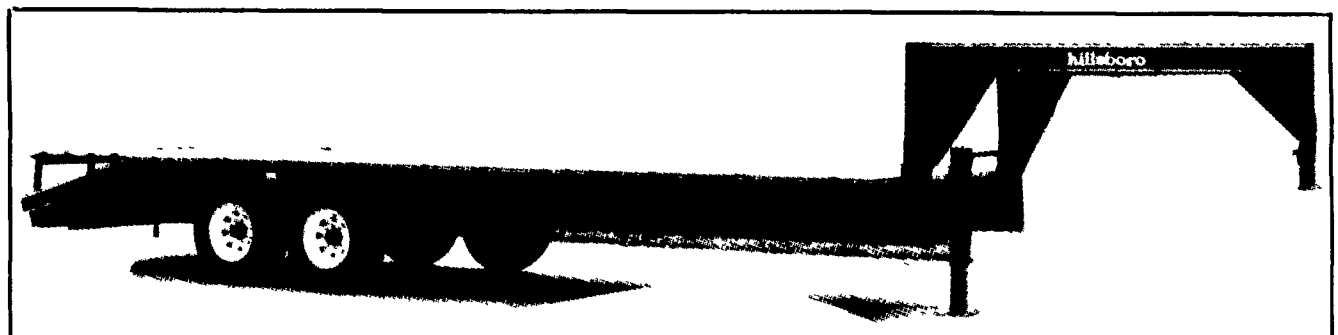
hillsboro
flatbed trailer
with flip-up beaver tail



24 Foot Length Shown

28 Foot Length Shown

Optional deck over the neck is 7½ 'x8'

The FLIP-UP BEAVERTAIL raises and lowers in seconds -- slide out ramps are stored under the beavertail. The Hillsboro Flatbed features a full 96" deck width which is more value than the competition.

The Hillsboro Flatbed is available in two styles; the 20' and 24' trailer with standard neck, and the 28', 30' and 32' trailer with heavy duty neck.

VERSATILE — RUGGED — RELIABLE and REASONABLY PRICED!

The Hillsboro Flatbed Trailer with flip-up beavertail can be the one trailer that means lower cost for you. Here's why!!

VERSATILITY! That's what makes a Hillsboro trailer such a good investment. With the beavertail down it's an excellent trailer for moving wheeled equipment. Flip the beavertail up and it adds an extra four feet of deck space for hauling hay and other bulky loads.

HERE'S WHAT HILLSBORO QUALITY MEANS - All Hillsboro trailers are manufactured in precise jigs and fixtures which assures excellent alignment of axles, a better pulling trailer, a level and square trailer.

HILLSBORO WORKMANSHIP INCLUDES-Exceptional weld quality, material that is chemically cleaned, two coats of high quality paint, material strength engineered into the best flatbed value.

Historic Building

1½ Story 18'x22' was original Mt. Wolf, Pa. Post Office built around 1840, was moved to Manchester in 1903 and served as a storehouse for Schrolls Store on the square.

Wood frame structure with clapboard siding and slate roof, believed to have been new siding and roof in 1903.

This building was very carefully dismantled, each shingle nail pulled and hand passed and sticked for transport, all nails were pulled from every board and beam. All material has been stored under roof since 1988, when it was moved.

At the time of dismantling this building and another building with same roof and siding material 10'x14' was also removed and is the same as this, thus there will be many more than adequate slate shingles, siding, and framing to replace any bad material.

Set of pictures of exterior and interior before dismantling will assist in rebuilding. All material in good condition.

Also have a foundation print and layout - can connect you with Amish crew that dismantled to help erect.

Ready to be loaded and transported — will take 2 large trucks on trailers to haul. Perfect match for old farm setting to stand alone or attach to an old house, many possibilities.

Dairy Scholarships Fund College Educations

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Broad knowledge of the dairy industry has generated financial rewards for three top winners of the All-American Dairy Show's junior dairyman management contest.

Winners of the management contest for the past three years have each been awarded $500 scholarships to further their education. Colleen Kretzing, Loysville, Pa. and Robert Wilson and Shannon Lacy, both of Dansville, N.Y., have earmarked their dairy management scholarship funds toward college studies in dairying and related agricultural fields.

Their message to contestants is that the competition at the Harrisburg show is the most comprehensive and thorough of such youth dairy learning activities held across the region.

"It's a really good contest," said 1993 winner Shannon Lacy, who has traveled from Allegheny County, New York, five times to participate. "The contest has a little of everything and is set up in stations with topics that most don't cover, like feeds and meats identification. Having an interview for the finalists is also different; in most contests you don't have to be able to present yourself in front of people.

"And because the Junior Dairy Management Contest is held in conjunction with the All-American, it gives us an opportunity to see the shows and the cattle as well," said Lacy. The 17-year-old Lacy will be a senior year at Canaseraga Central High School and plans to pursue veterinary studies, using his $500 scholarship award toward college tuition or books.

Lacy's Allegheny County 4-H dairy teammate Robert Wilson claimed top honors in the 1991 runoffs, a repeat performance of his 1990 win, before the scholarship award was started.

"The scholarship has helped in financing my education," said the 19-year-old Wilson, a sophomore majoring in animal science at the University of Illinois. "My goal is to get into vet school and become a large animal veterinarian, especially working with dairy cattle."

Colleen Kretzing, the 1992 winner, put her use of the scholarship award on hold for a year, to participate in an agriculture student foreign exchange program to Germany. One of 24 students participating in the Bundespag Exchange Program, Colleen has been studying dairy science at a German college, along with working on a dairy farm. She plans to enter Penn State this fall, pursuing a dairy science degree.

"This is the best contest that is nationally held," said Donna Wilson, coach of the Allegheny County, New York, 4-H team that travels each year to participate in the Harrisburg All-American youth program.

"Well-run, it hits every aspect of dairy management and is always improving and changing. The sponsors are terrific to work with.

"Participants have an edge over others when they apply to agriculture schools, because of the comprehensive studying they must do for the Dairy Management contest. And the interview picks out the cream of the contestants," Wilson said.

"It's a tough contest, but participants will learn more from it," said Walter Wurster, Chester County extension agent who serves as contest superintendent. "It focuses on the skills an individual going into the dairy business would need. A person who does well will have a pretty good understanding of the industry."

Wurster says the 1994 contest will be a shorter one, comprised of seven 12-minute stations of participation rather than the ten 15-minute stations of prior years.

Dr. Carl Brown, chairman of the junior dairy management contest since its inception, sees it as a bridge between events like cattle showing and dairy bowl competition.

"It was developed to help keep youth more interested and involved at the All-American and as an alternative to dairy judging," said Dr. Brown. "In addition to the top scholarship, there are numerous other cash premiums as well as trophies and plaques provided by our sponsors Church & Dwight Company and Pfizer, Inc."

Dairy management classes include heifer judging, linear trait evaluation, meats and forage/grain identifications, milk sanitation and quality, dry cow management and knowledge of current issues in the dairy industry. Premiums and ribbons will be awarded to the top ten 4-H and FFA teams and top ten individuals, with plaques to the top winner in team and individual competition.

The 1994 Junior Dairy Management Contest will be held September 27, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg. The youth activity is part of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, which will run September 26 through 29 at the Farm Show Complex.

For additional information, contact Charles A. Itle, manager, Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, Farm Show Complex, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408, (717) 787-2905.

Cattle Industry Development Committee

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Cattle Industry Development Committee, a panel of leaders from all segments of the beef industry, has released its recommendations on the development of a plan to enhance Pennsylvania's beef industry.

The Cattle Industry Development Committee, which was organized and staffed by the Beef Council, adopted two leverage points (strategic points of impact) and outcomes (desired results) that will improve the viability and profitability of Pennsylvania's beef industry. The leverage points identified, and desired key results were: 1) Business Climate: Create a more favorable economic and environmental/regulatory climate; 2) Production Efficiencies: Improve the education and information delivery regarding the economic uses of production resources.

To address the desired result within the business climate, the Beef Council, in cooperation with Penn State Ag Economics Department and the Department of Agriculture, is assembling information for a quantitative analysis of the economic contributions of the cattle industry to the state's economy. The statistical data obtained will then be used to develop an informational kit which can be used by farmers, the extension service, and others for public and civic presentations.

The Production Efficiencies leverage point consists of three phases: In Phase One, the objective is to enhance feedlot management and profitability. The objective of Phase Two is to strengthen dairy-beef production systems while Phase Three will address Pennsylvania's beef cow-calf production systems. A feedlot management forum is scheduled for July 7 for the state's largest cattle feeders.

While the committee's recommendations provide an aggressive plan of action, the enhancement of Pennsylvania's beef industry will require the coordination and communication of all segments of the industry.

The Pennsylvania Cattle Industry Development Committee members are Bob Hay (cow-calf producer), Paul Espy (cattle feeder), Ralph McGregor (dairy producer), Michael Silverberg (Moyer Packing), Tom Taylor (Taylor Packing), Stan Curtis (Penn State), John Comerford (Penn State), Phil Kimmel (Farm Credit), Albert Murry (Lebanon Valley National Bank), John Vogel, (Pennsylvania Farmer Magazine), Richard McDonald (Pennsylvania Dept. of Agriculture), and Dave Ivan (Beef Council) committee staff liaison.

The heavy-duty BlueMax® stands up to high-powered blowers.

If you push your high-capacity silo filling equipment to the limit, or use a custom filler who does, you're going to need the heavy-duty strength of Level-Flo's BlueMax® Multi-Flo® silage spreader. It has heavier metal at wear points and is reinforced all around to give you years of dependable service.

And because it's a Multi-Flo, the BlueMax will pack your silo tight, right to the top. Carefully engineered Multi-Flo silage spreaders have few moving parts. They are the first choice of farmers because of extreme efficiency and high reliability.

Poly Square Means Healthier Calves

All-Season Big Foot 5'x7'6"

The Poly Square Big Foot is constructed of Opaque material to eliminate the solar effect. It blocks out sunheat-not sunlight. Poly Square's inverted ribs and 5'(W)x7'6"(L) make it the biggest unit on the market today and extremely wind resistant. It has no pop rivets which means no breaks or cracks for snow and rain to sift in. The unit weighs 100 pounds plus manger & buckets. And Poly Square Big Foot is large enough so your calf can lay in the center, away from cold walls in the winter. Use Poly Square with our side feed station and bottle holder which is perfect for use with a fence in a more traditional setting.

New Side Hay Feeder — Made especially for Poly Square Big Foot, no other unit has this feature. Also has a center roof vent for better air movement.

Also Available: Poly Domes, Silo Chute Hoppers, Silo Chute Liners

	TANCO	COMPETITION
1	Five (5) points of support on turntable: Four heavy duty rollers add stability and support to the perimeter of the turntable in addition to the main central shaft. This allows Tanco wrappers to safely wrap the heaviest silage bales on rough or uneven ground.	Competition uses one central shaft to support the entire turntable mechanism
2	Single solid belt on turntable: The single belt enables Tanco wrappers to effectively wrap misshapen or soggy bales providing a positive surface for bale rotation.	Competition uses either no belts between rollers, or multiple belts which can allow bales to sag and slip
3	Adjustable extendable axle: On trailed models the extendable axle provides a wide, stable wheel base when loading bales. Eliminates the need for counter weights.	Competition must add counterweights or tandem axles as options to effectively handle silage bales
4	Top rollers on turntable: Extra rollers provide security to keep bales in place when wrapping at high RPM's (25) or on uneven terrain.	Competition - None
5	Unloading ramp on trailed models: The ramp allows bales to be unloaded gently. When a wrapped bale falls hard it can "burp." Once it "burps" the bale does not re-seal. The ramp gives a smooth transition between the ground and turntable.	Competition - optional drop mats or ramps available
6	Optional "High Rise" axle kit for soft ground conditions.	Compare!
7	Models available to fit every individual need, including machines to wrap big square bales. Tanco was first to build a large square bale wrapper, and continues to produce advancements in bale wrapping technology.	Limited product lines
8	Positive bale positioning: While being wrapped, bales are rotated the exact distance required to obtain optimum coverage.	Competition uses continuous hydraulic advance. Bales can slip or over-rotate giving an uneven wrap
9	Durability: Tanco's subframe is one of the heaviest of any machines available in North America. The low profile design keeps silage bales closer to the ground with a low center of gravity for stability. Tanco's features are the result of years of experience and input from hundreds of individual, and commercial users.	Competition - Compare!
10	Price: From a basic 3 point Model AW200, to the trailed Model AW400 with automatic cut & start, bale and batch counter, and tractor seat controls, Tanco prices are very competitive. Pay less for more features and durability than any other bale wrapper on the market.	Competition - Compare!

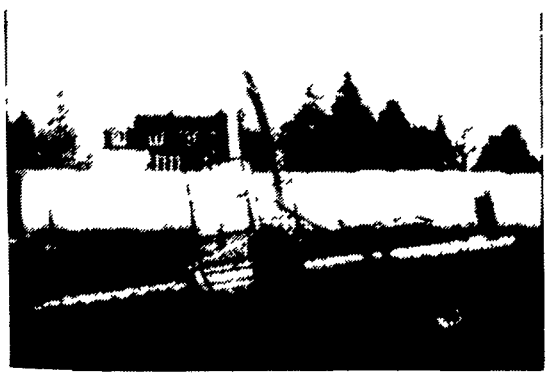
TUBE-LINE BALE WRAPPER



BIG BALE SILAGE

Big bale silage has become an economical alternative to dry hay or chopped silage. High quality feed can be made with a low investment in equipment. Forage is cut, wilted and sealed air tight with stretch film.

TUBELINE WRAPPER - SAVES FILM AND TIME

SAVES FILM

After the ends are sealed, Tube Line bale wrappers wrap only the circumference of the bales compared to single bale wrappers which wrap the ends of each bale. This saves at least 40% on film cost

SAVES TIME

On average the Tube Line machines will wrap a bale per minute. Various options are available to match the speed of wrapping with needs of the farmer. These options include a second tensioner and 30 inch wide plastic.

BALE SIZE

There is a Tube Line Wrapper available which will wrap almost all sizes of bales from a 4'x4' round bale to the biggest of square bales.

DEUTZ-FAHR ROUND BALERS

Consistent bale density, ideal bale weight, and easy unrolling make Deutz-Fahr balers ideal for silage bales. Optional "Opticut" system prechops the crop prior to baling, producing high density, easily fed bales. Compare features and price with competition. Deutz-Fahr balers are the best value on the market.

★ The only outdoor furnace made with a Catalytic Combuster. ★
Mahoning Catalytic Combuster Will Help In The Following Ways:

1. Burn one cord of wood which equals 166 gallons of oil.
2. Your fuel source becomes enormous inexhaustible and poses few risks to public safety.
3. Overall efficiency of 85% which means the heat no longer goes up the chimney!
4. You get more heat from a log compared to the non-cat furnace.
5. More burn time - less reloading time!
6. Zap 90% of pollutants, made from fire source.
7. Saves you a lot of money!
8. User friendly, emits no smoke!

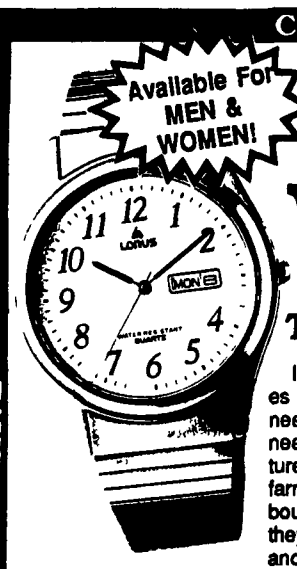
CLIP AND SAVE



WORK WATCH

The Work Watch Is Back!

In the mid-1980's we sold hundreds of work watches to hard-working individuals like yourself who needed an accurate, dependable timepiece. They needed a watch that would withstand the dust, moisture, bumps, and temperatures encountered on the farm, in the orchard, and in the woods. Many who bought the work watch told us it was the best watch they had ever owned. Now, due to the past success and the present need, we are again offering the work watch through Lancaster Farming.

Our work watch has all the features needed to endure the punishment you will put it through. The WATER RESISTANT seal will protect your watch when you irrigate fields, fix broken water systems, get milk splashed on your arm while feeding calves, or walk the fence in the rain, to find out where your cattle are getting out. Being SHOCK RESISTANT, your work watch will continue to work when it is slapped by a cow's tail, a falling board, or the belt shield that your arm slams against when your wrench slips off the bolt. While your watch is scraped by branches, rubbed against walls, and knocked against machinery, the low profile, SCRATCH RESISTANT, glass crystal will resist the scratches and cracks that render watches unreadable. Finally, the BATTERY POWERED QUARTZ movement of your work watch is accurate to within 2 minutes per year, and does not need to be wound, meaning that your watch will be on time, all the time, without any effort on your part.

A final proof of the strength of this watch and of its suitability to your needs is the warranty. If your work watch stops running within FIVE YEARS of the date of purchase, the manufacturer will repair or replace your watch at no charge. This is one of the longest warranties in the watch industry. The manufacturer's confidence in this watch means that you can have confidence in its durability and can know that this is the only work watch you will need to buy for the next five years.

This watch is available in both men's and women's styles. To receive your new work watch, read and complete the coupon below, and send it with your payment to:

How To Make A Waste Stacking, Handling Pad

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — An agricultural waste stacking and handling pad is a low-cost storage or composting facility.

This low-cost stabilized surface is used for temporary storage and handling of solid and semi-solid animal manures or other organic wastes.

An agricultural waste stacking and handling pad provides a solid all-weather working surface for storage and/or composting of manure, equipment operation, and a method for controlling surface water flow onto and off the storage.

The type of base used for the surface will depend on usage and site conditions.

While this system is lower cost, it requires higher management. There is a direct trade-off between the dollars saved and the higher management requirement.

Construction, maintenance, and management of the pad must include:

1. establishment and maintenance of a permanent working surface where the product will be stored or handled and equipment operated,
2. diversion of clean surface water away from the pad,
3. control and/or collection of the runoff from the pad, and
4. utilization or disposal of pad runoff in an environmentally sound manner.

This report provides a brief overview and does not contain all design, construction, management, and maintenance information. For complete information on design and construction of an agricultural waste stacking and handling pad, seek assistance from the USDA Soil Conservation Service or a qualified design engineer.

Location

Identification of a suitable location for a pad is an important early step in the process.

The location should provide protection of air and water resources, be accessible under all but extreme weather, and minimize the distance from the storage to the spreading destination. There needs to be an area below or within conveyance that is suitable to receive or collect the runoff.

The pad needs to be out of any flood plain or watercourse, and off-site surface water must be diverted away from the pad if more than 50 feet below the top of slope.

Site selection should also consider visibility by others. If there is a concern, locate the pad out of view or screen with shrubs or trees.

Layout

There are three things to consider in the layout of the pad: site grade, cut area, and orientation.

The site grade should be from 2- to 4-percent for positive drainage, while the cross slope should be no more than 1 percent to minimize the chance of water running off the end of the pad.

Any cut or fill slopes should not exceed 3:1, to allow for mowing.

The orientation of the pad depends on its purpose, and should minimize the number of cuts and fills. If the pad is to be for composting, the orientation generally is longer up and down the slope to allow the windrows to run parallel to the slope to prevent ponding of water behind the windrows.

The orientation of a stacking pad is not as important. To minimize ponding, load the pad from the upper side to the lower.

Sizing

There are two general requirements for the sizing of a pad.

Size the pad based on the amount of manure to be stored and the amount of land available for spreading. It must be large enough to store the accumulation of manure as required by the Waste Management Plan or Nutrient Management Plan, and not over the utilization capability of the area within economic hauling distance.

For a composting pad, the number of windrows, windrow width and spacing, and any stockpiling area also needs to be considered. These values are dependent on the equipment that will be used in the composting.

Typical dimensions for windrows turned with a loader are 6- to 12-feet high, 10- to 20-feet wide, with 10- to 20-feet distance between the windrows, depending on the size and maneuverability of the loader.

NEW LEADER MARK III RETROFIT

Attention owners of NEW LEADER L-2020s or L-3020s equipped with MARK II spreader controls...

Move up to a NEW LEADER MARK III SYNCO-MATIC® SPREADER CONTROL with a DICKEY-john® radar today and receive an immediate $300 off. Simply present your NEW LEADER dealer this certificate when you place your order for a retrofit MARK III SYNCO-MATIC® and ask for Group #64160.

Look what a MARK III SYNCO-MATIC® SPREADER CONTROL with a DICKEY-john® radar can do for you:

- Display reads:
  - Acres covered
  - Distance traveled
  - Pounds/Tons per acre
- Low maintenance
  - Eliminates friction wheel
  - Eliminates speedometer cable
  - Eliminates two-speed gears
- Change spread rate on-the-go from the cab
- MARK III retrofit kit includes:
  - In cab control with bracket
  - Wiring harness with all cables
  - Mark III Synco-Matic® control
  - Dickey-john® radar with brackets

This certificate is good for $300 off of a retrofit MARK III SYNCO-MATIC® SPREADER CONTROL with a DICKEY-john® radar group #64160. This certificate may not be combined with any other program(s) and is subject to change without notice This program expires at 5:00 p.m. CST on June 30, 1994.

Delaware Honors Achievements

NEWARK, Del. — On May 6, the University of Delaware held its annual Honors Day program to acknowledge the achievements of outstanding students. Many students from the College of Agricultural Sciences were recognized.

The Delaware Collegiate Future Farmers of America recognized those members of the Chapter who earned a 3.0 index or better; Kimberly A. Alexander, Kathryn D. Baxter, Colleen P. Modesto, Kathryn J. Palmer, Deborah L. Short, Forrest L. Sprague. The outstanding Collegiate FFA Member Award went to Kimberly A. Alexander, and a $200 Collegiate FFA Scholarship went to Stacey L. Bonvetti.

Scott E. Wright was named the outstanding Animal Science Club senior member. Catherine J. Calvelli and Anisa B. Haideri were selected as outstanding Equestrian Club members. Outstanding Food Science Club members were Laura E. Towers and Elizabeth Locke Styer.

American Society of Animal Science Scholarship awards went to the following students: (seniors) Marcy D. Auletta, Marina R. Haynes, Ryan D. Ranck, Tracy L. Soisson and Phaedra I. Tavlarides; (juniors) Kimberly A. Alexander, Beth H. Gutowski, Claudia P.D. Ockert, Christopher G. Randla and Roberta A. Smith.

Alpha Zeta, a national agricultural honor fraternity, elected the following students from the upper two-fifths of their respective classes for demonstrated superior scholarship, leadership and service: Eric R. Benson, Stacey L. Bonvetti, Mary K. Dellostritto, Amy M. Denny, Lisa R. Emele, Gregory M. Greene, Erin S. Gries, Scott E. Hevner, Stuart W. Horlacher, Heather Lomberk, Marie E. Meyer, Jennifer A. Midiri, Samantha C. Murray, Linda V. Pill, Michael S. Price, Christopher G. Randla, Robert R. Rice Jr., Isaac R. Rodriguez, Robert D. Rohrer, Nicole S. Sklarz, Shannon I. Tilmon, Lori Z. Unruh, Yancy S. Velasquez, Jean E. White and Bethany K. Zeleski.

Mortar Board is a national honor society for seniors from all colleges that recognize outstanding scholarship and service. Grace E. Edmonds was elected from this college.

Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society electing university students who demonstrate scholarship, selected Sally L. Goodman, Christopher G. Randla and Craigie E. Succop.

The Agricultural College Council recognized the following students in the college for demonstrating an outstanding amount of dedication, interest, and enthusiasm; Braden G. Cammauf, Catherine J. Cavelli, Wendy A. Cutler, Lynn A. Doty, Anisa B. Haideri, Linda V. Pill, Daniel D. Severson, Deborah L. Short, Scott R. Webb, Scott E. Wright and Elaine E. Zeitler.

The Alpha Zeta Annual Freshman Award is a certificate of merit awarded to freshman

Windrows turned with a tractor-powered turner are typically 3- to 8-feet high, 9- to 18-feet wide, with 6- to 8-foot distances between the windrows depending on the size of the machine and tractor.

There also needs to be room at the ends of the windrows to turn the machinery. This is typically a 15- to 40-foot allowance, depending on the equipment used.

In a stacking application, room must be allowed for equipment access and turning, and a 10-foot strip is recommended along the filter side for access, without damage to the filter area.

Assume a stack height of 4 to 6 feet for sizing.

Types Of Bases

The type of material used for the base may vary. The base material used on a specific site may be dependent on such things as availability, cost, specific use of the pad, site conditions, and the expected quality of the end product.

Common materials used include select granular material, shale, recompacted spent asphalt, roller compacted cement, and concrete.

Select granular material and shale are generally readily available and low cost. This makes them a good base for a stacking pad.

However, if these are used on a composting pad, the finished compost may contain gravel which will be undesirable if the compost is to be marketed off the farm. If compost is to be sold, concrete, asphalt, or compacted cement may be desirable. Site conditions may also dictate the type and/or thickness of the base used.

Runoff Water Control

The first part of runoff control is to direct all "clean" off-site surface water away from the pad surface.

This can be easily accomplished using diversion ditches and grass waterways. Pad runoff needs to be directed to a properly designed vegetative filter area or a holding pond to protect surface or groundwater.

The runoff can be distributed uniformly on an adjacent vegetative filter area, conveyed to a nearby vegetative filter area, or collected in a holding pond.

When possible, runoff water should be allowed to flow directly from the lower edge of the pad onto a vegetative filter area.

Recommended types of grass for the filter area are fescue or reed canary.

The cross slope width of the filter area should be the same as that of the pad. The length of the filter area is dependent upon site slope and the two-year-24 hour rainfall for the area.

If pad runoff is conveyed to another site for infiltration, a perforated pipe manifold or other device will be needed to spread the water uniformly over the surface. If a holding pond is used, it must be sized and constructed to contain the storage and storm runoff.

Management and Maintenance

Management and maintenance are critical parts of this type of storage system.

The manure must be kept on the pad surface and not allowed into the filter area. If excessive solids move into the filter area, remove them and allow a rest period until the grass in the filter area is reestablished.

Do not disturb the filter area with loading or hauling equipment during the unloading of the pad. It is best to leave a 10-foot strip of unused pad along the filter area for equipment access.

Ruts and wheel tracks interfere with uniform flow over the filter area, and may allow effluent to leave the site.

Harvest the grass in the filter area to remove the nutrients taken up by the vegetation. If vegetation is not harvested, the nutrients will not be removed from the site, but simply returned to the soil when the plant dies. Time the harvesting to minimize the damage to the filter area.

Lime and fertilize according to soil tests to maintain soil nutrient balance.

If low spots form, they must be filled with soil and reseeded as soon as possible. Any spots of damaged grass should also be reseeded as soon as possible.

The pad surface must also be properly maintained. Replace or students who, by maintaining Dean's List standing with a minimum GPA of 3.25, best represent the fraternity's ideals of scholarship, leadership and fellowship. This year's recipients were Jeffery P. Bracht, Mark R. Deakyne, Stephanie DeMarco, Ewa A. Dragan, Heather L. Farley, Shamus J. Feehery, Julie A. Fine, Erica Iaquinto, Jennifer M. Lutz, Katherine M. Martino, Diana L. Mulcahy, Robin E. Pearce, Christie M. Quietmeyer, Lisa N. Siebenson, Forrest L. Sprague, Jennifer R. Tighe, Shannon I. Tilmon and Kindra K. Walker.

The student holding the highest index in each respective class is recognized as a College Scholar. A 3.0 index is the minimum recognized. The senior elected to the University Panel of Distinguished Seniors and the sophomore who receives the Alpha Zeta Prize may have higher indices but are not eligible for this recognition. This year's members are: Douglas H. Clark (senior), plant science; Chad W. Nelson (junior), plant science; Janine G. Haynes (sophomore), plant science; Heather L. Farley, animal science and Julie A. Fine, entomology, (freshman).

The senior holding the highest index in each respective major is recognized as a Scholar by Major. A 3.0 index is the minimum index to be recognized. Seniors previously recognized on the Panel of Distinguished Seniors or the Panel of College Scholars may have higher indices but are not eligible for this recognition. This year's panel includes the following: agricultural business management, Derrick E. Bender; agricultural economics, Rebecca K. Smith, agricultural engineering technology, Bret A. Icenogle; animal science, Christine L. Bongiorno; engineering technology, Justin C. Wing; entomology, Julia K. Burzon; and plant science, William E. Blankenstein.

Seniors holding a minimum 3.25 cumulative index are recognized for outstanding scholarship. Those previously recognized on the Panel of Distinguished Seniors, the Panel of College Scholars, or the Panel of Scholars by Major are not eligible for this recognition. This year's outstanding seniors include: David R. Agent, engineering technology; Marcy D. Auletta, animal science; Cheryl L. Coffey, animal science; Ellen M. Cooper, plant science; Shannon T. Deluca, plant science; Rex A. Gibson, engineering technology; Sally L. Goodman, animal science; Bryan D. Greim, plant science; Christina M. Hamilton, plant science; Marina R. Haynes, animal science; Gregory L. Kennedy, engineering technology; Megan E. Laut, entomology; Patrick J. McHugh Jr., engineering technology; Jennifer E. Neal, animal science; Cynthia A. Quackenbush, agricultural business management; Jonathan D. Rayner, animal science; Kimberly A. Satkowsky, animal science; Sarah C. Schroer, animal science; Tracy L. Soisson, animal science; David P. Tuch, plant science; Lisa A. Twardus, animal science; Justin C. Wing, engineering technology; and Leslie K. Zane, entomology.

Maryland Ag News

May 1994

• Maryland grain producers are urging President Clinton to continue supporting the expanded use of corn-based ethanol as a gasoline alternative by sending him messages written on tags from bags of seed corn. Each bag of seed corn yields enough corn to produce 750 gallons of ethanol. In October, President Clinton announced the required use of 30 percent renewable oxygenates in EPA's reformulated gasoline program, effective January 1995. A long-term supporter of ethanol, President Clinton is now under pressure from large oil companies to eliminate this opportunity for corn-based ethanol — a renewable resource — in favor of petroleum-based oxygenates. For more information, contact Lynne Hoot, Maryland Grain Producers Association. (410) 956-5771.

• The Maryland Agricultural Awareness Alliance has published an agricultural speakers directory for teachers, clubs and others interested in learning more about how agriculture affects our everyday lives. The directory provides the names of speakers covering a variety of topics ranging from conservation issues and the Chesapeake Bay to food safety issues, and land use decision-making. For copies, contact Kathleen Diehl, U.S. Soil Conservation Service, (410) 757-3079.

• The Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) announced that mosquito control sprayers in Somerset County will be equipped with state-of-the-art technology this season. The four spray units in the county will be fitted with electronic controls that precisely regulate the flow of insecticide to match the driving speed of the truck. These new controls are called EIFs (Electronic Linear Flow). The new technology will allow more mosquito infested areas to be sprayed in less time. For more information, contact Harold Kanarek at (410) 841-5882.

• Acting Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced the appointment of Dr. Henry A. Virts to be the department's Acting Deputy Secretary, effective immediately.

Tank Mix

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — A newly labeled tank mix of Gramoxone Extra and 2, 4-D ester for preplant application in soybeans provides improved control of tough no-till weeds like marestail and Pennsylvanian smartweed, according to university and weed scientists.

Gramoxone/2,4-D tank mixes have been included in Iowa State University research trials for some 15 years, but 2,4-D was only recently cleared for use prior to soybean planting. According to Iowa State weed scientist Micheal Owen, the combination has been proven to be effective on marestail, Pennsylvania smartweed and lambsquarters.

In recent trials, conducted by Tom Bauman at Purdue University, the Gramoxone/2,4-D tank mix also showed excellent control of chickweed and dandelion at two to four weeks after application.

"The Gramoxone/2,4-D mix gives you a low-cost, highly effective burndown," said Bauman.

Southwest Regional Ag Field Day Set

GREENSBURG (Westmoreland Co.) — Penn State Extension, in cooperation with the Westmoreland Fair Association and agricultural industries, will hold a field day for crop production at the Westmoreland County Fairgrounds on Tuesday, June 7.

Sessions will run from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and be repeated from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Full-time and part-time farmers can attend.

This will be an excellent opportunity for farmers to get out in the fields at the fairgrounds to see crops first hand and discuss early season crop management, problems and solutions with experts from Penn State and agricultural industries. Talks will be in the fields so farmers can look at the problems in western Pennsylvania this year and discuss solutions.

The day also includes commercial exhibits by agricultural suppliers and, pending approval by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, two category (01) credits toward pesticide applicator license update.

Topics include the following:

• Getting a Good Stand - A discussion of critical factors in germination and early growth of corn plants as they affected the 1994 crop by Dr. Greg Roth, corn specialist, Penn State Agronomy Department.

• Weed Control - What worked, what didn't, why, and what can I do now? Dr. William Curran, weed specialist, Penn State Agronomy Department.

• Spring Seeded Annual Forages, industry representatives.

• Field Scouting for Early Season Pests in Corn and Alfalfa - Learn what pests you need to be on the lookout for, where they are likely to be a problem, how to look for them, and what to do when you find them. Crop consultants.

• Nitrogen Sidedressing Corn - Representatives from Penn State and Industry.

For more information, contact your local extension office or call (412) 837-1402.

repair base material as needed. Low spots need to be filled with more base material and compacted to prevent ponding.

The pad-to-filter area interface must be maintained on a contour to assure uniform flow over the filter area and not point flow off the pad.

Help Available

The agricultural waste stacking and handling pad offers a low cost alternative manure storage or composting facility to farmers; however, this low initial cost system has a higher management requirement.

For the pad to be effective, the working surface and filter area must be well managed and maintained. For specific design criteria and assistance, contact the USDA-SCS or a qualified design engineer.

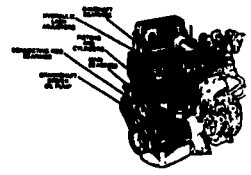
Efficiency Is Our Newest Resource

IXL Technology Is New, Different & Better

IXL is the result of years of research and development in Chemistry and Metallurgy.
IXL is a non-particulate chemical that goes beyond the typical hydrodynamic principle on which most lubricants are based. IXL does NOT contain graphite, moly or TFE. It is nonflammable, biodegradable and nontoxic. Unique molecular bonding increases the density of the metal surface making it harder and smoother, as OPPOSED to coating the surface with particulates (e g. PTFE) suspended in a high-viscosity oil. IXL increases load bearing capacity.
Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.

CRITICAL LUBRICATION POINTS WHERE METAL-TO-METAL CONTACT CAN OCCUR



ENGINE:
IXL effectively eliminates Friction - giving increased gas mileage.
- Protects during cold starts when other motor oils are ineffective.
- Increases the drive-train life of your car - by dramatically reducing wear and tear on the moving components.
- Environmentally friendly.

AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION:
IXL protects seals. Reduces Friction in bearings and gears resulting in extended transmission life.

MANUAL TRANSMISSION:
IXL reduces Friction between gears and synchronizers resulting in smoother operating, better shifting with overall protection.

POWER STEERING:
IXL reduces Friction in pump, gearbox and rack. Resulting in smoother operating with less energy expired. Also protects rack and pinion from developing hard spots.

REAR END & DIFFERENTIAL:
By introducing IXL to the Rear End and Differential you protect the ring and pinion plus all gears and bearings that normally fail due to wear. One also has the addition of fuel economy because less Friction means greater gas mileage.

AIR-CONDITIONING:
By adding 1 ounce of IXL to the air-conditioning unit results in smoother operating, less engery expired and eliminates noise and chattering.

Rhino disc mowers feature an easy access cutterbar. The innovative design of the cutterbar allows access to the disc spindle shaft and gear module without disassembly of the entire cutterbar, reducing maintenance costs and downtime. The hardened rock guards are designed to help protect the entire leading edge of the cutterbar from damage and, along with the skid shoes, are easily replaceable. A heavy duty CAT I-II & Cat II offset three-point hitch made of 4"x6" thick-wall tubing, is standard to provide dependable service. A safety breakaway system is built in to provide mainframe protection against sudden impacts when mowing. With 5" of blade overlap and blade tip speed of 15,814 FPM Rhino disc mowers provide a clean, smooth cut. Rugged construction and high performance are two reasons Rhino disc mowers are the ideal choice for fast, efficient grass mowing.

RDM DISC MOWERS

IN STOCK

The new Rhino RDM Series Disc Mower is designed for faster, efficient mowing of grass pastures and hay meadows and offers features not found on many competitive units.

The innovative design of the cutterbar allows easier access to the disc spindle shaft and gear compared to some competitive units. The gears run in an enclosed oil bath for constant lubrication. The blades are reversible and easily replaceable for lower maintenance costs and minimal downtime.

The cutterbar can be easily raised to the transport position hydraulically from the tractor seat. A parking stand is standard for easier unit storage and "hook-up."

5200 Series Maxxum tractors are building a reputation as capable "do-it-all" world-class tractors for farms of all sizes. Choose from four models with PTO horsepower ratings from 80 to 112 in two-wheel drive or MFD versions. Features on all Maxxum models include 16-speed forward/12-speed reverse semi-powershift transmission with full power forward-reverse shuttle for quick, clutchless direction changes, 7,700-pound lift capacity three-point hitch and 540/1000 rpm PTO.

8430 round baler has many features usually found on larger models. This mid-sized variable chamber baler offers hydraulic density control to build tight, solid bales weighing up to 900 pounds and measuring 47 inches wide up to 51 inches in diameter. Hydraulic or electric twine wrap gives fast, dependable wrapping. Wide 7-inch forming belts reduce leaf loss.

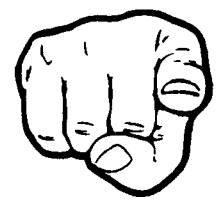
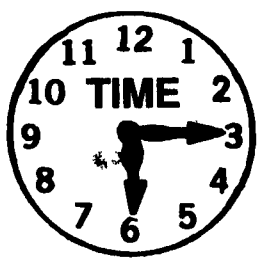
THE CROP IS YOUR $ CASH $



Everything you work for — tilling ground, planting seed, spraying or cultivating — depends upon Harvesting your CROP and getting it sold!

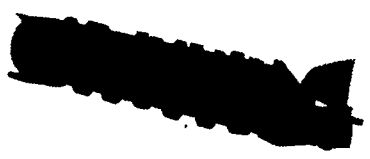
NOTHING HARVESTS CROPS LIKE A case IH Axial-Flow Combine!

HERE'S 4 REASONS WHY!



- Get in the field earlier - and stay later - because the Axial Flow Combine's specialty rotor separates grain from wet, damp material better than the competition. You get more done in less days than with a conventional combine.

- Grain from an Axial Flow combine is worth more, because it is damaged less and the sample is cleaner than from a conventional combine. (Food Corn growers PREFER Axial Flow for this reason.)



- The single rotor design eliminates the straw walker assembly and all the problems that go with all those bearings and vibration. All of the threshing and separating system parts are easy to get to, making maintenance a simple routine.

HOOBER SERVICE

- Don Carper and his (6) combine technicians work on combines 12 months of the year. They have started over 250 Axial Flow combines in all kinds of crops and conditions. Their knowledge and concern for your problems keep you running when you want to run.

CAN YOU AFFORD NOT TO OWN AN AXIAL-FLOW FROM HOOBER?

JOHN DEERE BALERS DELIVER CONSISTENCY, CONSISTENTLY

Building "square-er," stackable, solid bales is what our proven hay control system is all about.

Once hay is inside the baler, a continuous-flow, floating auger moves the crop into a tapered chamber... precompressing the hay before it reaches the bale chamber. This makes John Deere bales denser, and more consistent. A difference you'll notice when stacking and feeding bale after John Deere bale.

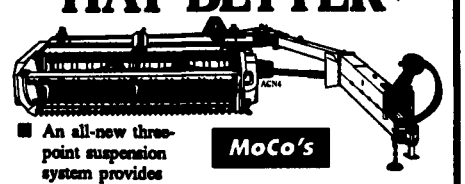
- Surface wrap when used with our bale push bar, lets you finish a bale, wrap it, and start on the next in just 14 seconds.
- 435 Balers give you the choice: surface wrap or twine-tie bales up to 72-inch diameter (1,500 pounds)... faster baling, protected bales.
- Self-cleaning diamond tread nylon/poly belts.

NOBODY DOES HAY BETTER



- An all-new three-point suspension system provides unmatched flotation.
- Redesigned guards and a 5-bar reel help the all-new sicklebar machine cut better — and six inches wider — than anything in it's class.

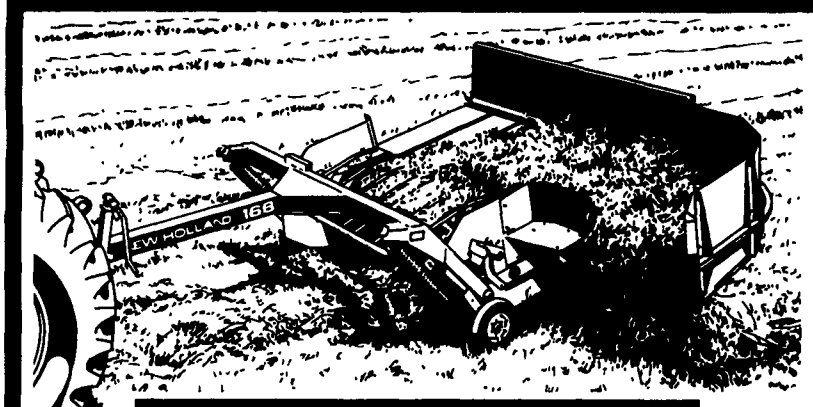
HIGH-QUALITY HAY



RAIN OR SHINE

The New Holland Model 166 windrow inverter will change the way you make hay—for the better The Model 166 speeds drying time as it gently lifts, fluffs and turns windrows without roughing-up the hay. And, keeping more of the protein-rich leaves intact means you'll get high-quality hay into the bale or silo, fast!

The Model 166 features

- 65-inch Super-Sweep™ pickup
- Adjustable pickup windguard and discharge chute
- Easy-to-lift overcenter handle
- Optional hydraulic drive
- Optional hydraulic pickup lift

Stop in today. Let us show you how to make high-quality hay with a Model 166 windrow inverter . . . only from Ford New Holland.

Workers' Comp Safety Group Off To Fast Start

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — During its first month of operation, more than 300 farmers have signed up for the Agri-Service Farm Safety Group in Pennsylvania, while hundreds of others have requested information on the program that allows farmers to purchase workers' compensation insurance at substantial savings.

Responding to the need of farmers to control workers' compensation insurance costs, Agri-Service Agencies, Inc. — Dairylea Cooperative's wholly owned insurance subsidiary — recently introduced the first safety group for Pennsylvania farmers. The response to the program offering has been tremendous, according to Perry Goodrich, director of sales and marketing for Agri-Service Agencies. "We've received at least a thousand calls from the agriculture community about this program."

The safety group, which is guaranteed to lower premiums, is the result of a joint endeavor between Agri-Service and the Pennsylvania State Workmen's Insurance Fund. The new program became available April 1.

Additionally, according to Goodrich, the Agri-Service Farm Safety Group has been allowed to expand its eligibility requirements to include farmers with veal, hog and chicken operations, known as Code 0034. Other codes may become eligible in the near future, he said.

Ever-increasing workers' compensation rates contribute significantly to the cost of operating an agribusiness. Within a safety group, individual policies are pooled together, thus enabling participants to realize significant savings. A year-end discount of at least 12.6 percent and as high as 14.4 percent is guaranteed through the group. In addition, through Agri-Service, convenient monthly payments can be automatically deducted from bank accounts or milk checks.

Through the program, safety and loss control services that improve farm safety and reduce the human and financial costs of workers' compensation also are provided to program participants.

Current policyholders of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund can join the Agri-Service Farm Safety Group and begin earning year-end discounts by completing a simple authorization form that is available through Agri-Service.

For more information on the Workers' Compensation Safety Group, or to obtain an authorization form, call Agri-Service at (800) 654-8840.

Are Caterpillars In Your Trees?

DR. ROBERT S. HANSEN
Penn State
Cooperative Extension
Bradford County

With the large populations of elm spanworm and forest tent caterpillar we had in the area last year, there is a good possibility that you will have caterpillars from one or both of these insects in your yard trees this year. These caterpillars have the potential to strip a tree of its leaves in a relatively short time.

The elm spanworm, at this stage of its life, is a small green inchworm. Its damage is easily recognized by a shot-hole in your trees' foliage. As the larva grow and mature the damage becomes more severe and they will eat the entire leaf, leaving only a skeleton of the midrib and main "veins" of the leaf.

The forest tent caterpillar, at this stage of its life, is about one inch long. The larva is dark in color with parallel blue stripes along the sides of its body with white spots that appear as "key holes" along the center of its back. After eating the foliage of a tree, the caterpillars will hang from long threads to the ground or will sometimes be blown to other trees using the thread as kind of a "parachute."

If you desire to control these insects the decision should be made early. Spraying should be done as soon as possible after the decision has been made. If you do the spraying yourself you must follow lable directions exactly. If you hire an individual make sure the individual has the appropriate license from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Pesticides licensed for use include formulations of "Bt," a biological insecticide, sold as Dipel or Thuricide. This insecticide is sprayed on the leaves and as the larva eat the leaves they ingest the pesticide and will die. This insecticide will generally only affect caterpillars. Other insecticides include carbaryl (sold as Sevin and Sevimol) and chlorpyrifos (sold as Dursban and Pageant). Make sure you take special care for safety and follow label directions exactly!

Where Are We Headed On DHIA Testing Costs?

DAVE SLUSSER
General Manager

As I ponder this broad question, many things come to mind. Our board and staff has given much thought and action recently on controlling cost, yet maintaining quality service to our members. We have cut back on staff, consolidated our office space, all to our Orchard Road Lab, and converted our lab technicians from university employees to PA DHIA employees. Yet in spite of this, we have maintained top scores in all facets of our service in our Quality Certification scores with National DHIA.

Now the next question! How can we maintain quality employees in the field, in our lab and in our processing center, and at the same time control or lower cost to our members? Some people say that cannot be done, however that is not true. It can be dòne, but those steps involves our members expectations of service. I would like to answer these questions in three ways:

1.) What can members do now?
2.) What changes in National DHIA rules can be made for the future?
3.) Can we work together as brothers and sisters for the overall good of our dairy industry?

What Can Members Do Now?

Have you thought of A.M.-P.M. testing. Research has shown that the accuracy of this testing program is really good. I have yet to talk to a member who is on A.M.-P.M. who wants to go back to 2x testing. It saves the members time on test day and it allows the technicians to do two herds in one day. According to the cost analysis figures in front of me, 75% of your testing cost is personnel and travel time to the farm. At our April board meeting, the board instructed management to move toward a uniform method of pricing throughout the territory. The cost of service must be more accurately expressed. Labor efficient records with electric ID, also spreawds the cost of personnel out over more cows, yet still maintains official record status.

If you are not concerned about official records, we can provide many different programs such as Owner Sampler that will keep your cost down, yet give accurate management information.

All of the above suggestions will lower the cost to the member, yet can improve the income of our personnel.

What National DHIA Rules Can Be Changed?

Keep in mind the following suggestions are my own, and depend on National Rules changes. What about offering a 45 day testing program in 2x or A.M.-P.M.? What about scheduling test day in your herd like yo do herd health checks? Can you see management benefits to you? I believe that we need to develop programs for the members to improve their management decisions. We need to spend less time and money on enforcing DHIA rules. Legal fees are too high for the membership to bear just because of a very few people.

Can We Work Together?

As you know the state boundaries are down, and states as well as counties within states are competing against each other. I know there are benefits to members, however I would like to share with you what is really happening. Different DHIA associations are working hard at stealing members from each other. The percentage of cows on test still remains about 50% of the cow population. This effort cost time and money, however it is not really putting more cows on test. If we could put more cows on test, our overhead cost per cow would decrease.

Two weeks ago, I spent two days visiting dairy herds in Crawford County. I traveled with Jane Kashner, our technician in that area. We didn't take any herds from Crawford County DHIA, but we talked several herds into testing. One morning we got three herds in a row to test their cows on A.M.-P.M. test. DHIA didn't stand still those two days, we grew.

I believe that 60% of the cows could be on a DHIA testing program with very little effort, if that was our goal. The time and money spent trying to take members from each other is costing the dairy farmer money. Let's spend this time and money to enroll new herds. This change would take us from a loss situation to a winning one. I believe that Pennsylvanian's need to get back together again. I ask you as a dairy farmer to encourage your DHIA leadership to look at ways to work together.

Where Are We Headed On DHIA Testing Costs?

I believe we will get together again. I believe that we will enroll more cows on a testing program and provide a quality program at a reasonable, competitive cost well into the future. Will you help make this happen?

Changes In DHIA Genetic Information

Larry W. Specht
Professor of Dairy Science

Pa DHIA has upgraded the reporting of genetic evaluations for cows and heifers on the Herd Summary II and Individual Cow Page reports as well as on the Young Stock Listing (report of recent calvings and identification of calves) and on the Heifer Management report. In many cases, information on the Predicted Transmitting Ability (PTA) of individual animals is not known. This can be due to errors or omissions in the identification of an animal and/or one or both of its parents. The best solution is to supply the correct identification and resubmit the animal production data. This is not always possible and it is logical to

Spring Conference Provides Chance To Meet

Dave Slusser, General Manager

During the last three months, I have met hundreds of DHIA members, and particularly all of the employees of PA DHIA. It is really inspirational to know that we have so many friends and supporters on the farm, and in the Dairy Industry. DHIA is changing Nationally. Pennsylvania is of course involved with that change.

I have set a policy for myself to attend at least one County Committee or Board Meeting in every county per year. So far, I have attended 10 county meetings, most of which involved the field technicians. I give a report on the PA DHIA association, and then we have a round table discussion. The county committee duties include evaluating and assisting the State Association in providing DHIA services. By all working together, we can do a much better job serving our members. If your county has not yet met with me, please let me know your meeting dates, and I will attend. Weekly I meet with Dean Amick, Dixie Burris, Jim Boyer and Jim Garrity. We discuss the comments and recommendations that come back from the county committee meetings. Many recommendations that come from the counties have already been instituted, one being the color report forms.

The field service on Thursday, April 14 completed the Spring Technician Training Conferences. There were 14 conferences altogether of which I was able to attend 8 of them. After meeting so many of our field technicians, and working with them, I am more confident than ever about our future. These employees work where the rubber meets the road. They come into your farm every month, and provide a service second to none. They are PA DHIA in your barn, and all the rest of us support them in their work. Because of the work they do and the management information PA DHIA provides, hundreds of PA DHIA members will be able to survive these troubled economic times. At each meeting, technicians shared their ideas on how to better serve our members. Another important accomplishment for our technicians has been the mastering of the laptop computer. Half of the conference time was spent working on their computer skills with

Laptop Program Enters New Phase

PAT TORETTI

Pennsylvania DHIA's plan to put computers on the farm on test day is entering a new phase, according to Dean Amick, the PaDHIA's Field Services Director. "Out of 175 DHIA technicians, all but five have now been released. It's time to move to the next step: test day reporting." Late last year PaDHIA began a push to have all DHIA technicians sending paper barn sheet information to DHIA's central computer by the end of the spring. That goal has been met, and PaDHIA says its targets of reducing staff and improving turn around time have been hit. But new challenges lie ahead. "The transition to computers has been rough for some technicians," Amick admits, "but for the most part people have risen to the occasion. On any given day we now have about 90% of the information coming in on the telephone lines. A year ago when we said we'd being doing this, I'm not sure if we even believed it ourselves, but here we are."

The challenges that remain include improving the reliability of transmissions and the quality of support for technicians. "It's hard to believe in the "information age" that you have so many phone companies with difficulty getting a connection to a remote computer," says Jim Boyer, processing center manager, "but there are a lot of mom-and-pop phone services out there, and moving the data can sometimes be a real chore. On the other hand, I guess you think about the exceptions more than the rule. We have difficulties with really only a handful of cases in more than a hundred transmissions per day. Still, it can be frustrating for the individuals involved, and they always seem to come from the same locations." Melissa Johnson and Dan Smith, who help technicians through the task of moving DHIA data from the farm, have noticed a change in the number and kind of calls now routinely coming in to the DHIA help desk. "Early on we got a lot of calls just in the nature of how to run the basic program. We don't see that so much anymore," says Smith, "now the questions are more along the lines of how can I leave such and such a list with the farmer, or how do I build a custom screen, or how to diagnose line problems or equipment repair."

Getting the technician help desk up to speed has required special effort, admits Smith, who handles troubleshooting for the ARIS system when not answering technician calls to the help center. "We have over two hundred ARIS users, but we've been putting them on the system one at a time for about seven years. And many of them are feed dealers, or vets, or farmers who've already been using computers for a good while. Suddenly you add almost the same number of technicians, with computer skills all over the place, from very sophisticated to no familiarity at all. And they're more demanding, too. They have to get the barn sheet information in here before the samples arrive. It's been interesting, to say the least. We've learned a lot about computer support ourselves."

While the first phase of the laptop program involved a mandatory switch from paper to electronic barn sheets, the next step in the program will be somewhat more relaxed. In a deal recently concluded with Westfalia, PaDHIA will offer the Dairy Plan program to technicians interested in leaving reports on the farm on test day. PaDHIA will also be an authorized retailer for the program, so farmers interested in buying Dairy Plan or seeing how it might work in their own operation can talk to their DHIA technicians or call PaDHIA direct at 1-800-DHI-TEST. "In the first part of the program, we had a committment to pay for the computer hardware by laying off people in the state office," notes Amick, "and as we were reducing keypunch operators we had no choice but to move aggressively in getting the technicians on board. Some of our people probably resented that, but we really had no choice: we're trying to reduce costs as much as we can. For the next step we're going to offer the testday reporting to technicians as a voluntary option. I expect a lot will be interested and we're going to concentrate on those who are."

In addition to providing test day reporting, PaDHIA plans to offer incentives to technicians to support and sell Dairy Plan to interested dairymen. "Not all the details have been worked out yet," says Amick, "but our plan is to provide a nice financial incentive to technicians who want to install Dairy Plan on a farmer's computer. We aren't asking our supervisors to be salespeople for Westfalia, but again, those who are interested will be encouraged to show our members what the program can do. And of course, there should be something in it for the technicians to do that."

PaDHIA plans to begin training the first group of technicians in the use of Dairy Plan for test day reporting at the next DHIA Tech Conference, scheduled for late July. At the same time DHIA will offer a new version of its electronic barn sheet program that works more closely with the Westfalia system. DHIA technicians interested in being involved in the project should plan to attend.

substitute the Parent Average (PA) for an animals PTA average. These procedures apply only to DHIA, DHI and AM/PM forms oftesting (codes 00-39).

In those cases where the dam of an animal does not have a PTA and it is not possible to locate her parentage, there will be no PA available. This will prevent the system from calculating an accurate genetic value for the offspring.

Two circumstances exist that preclude an animal having a PTA. First, an animal calving for the first time less than 4 months prior to when USDA genetic evaluations (January and July) are published will not have a PTA value calculated. However, the Parent Average (PA) of such an animal can be substituted until she has a PTA of her own. Parent Average (PA) is simply the average of the PTA's of her sire and dam. In most cases it will be possible to locate PTA's for the parents of an animal. Sire PTA's are available from the USDA sire evaluation file. If the dam and daughter were both members of the same herd, recovery of the dams PTA value should be relatively easy. This will allow the first calf heifer to have a PA. When it is averaged with the PTA of the sire of her calf it is possible to produce a reasonable estimate on the gentic value of the calf. The same situation exists when the PTA of the service sire is known and it can be coupled with the PA of the female to yield a genetic estimate (PA) on the calf she is carrying.

A second situation occurs when the sire (or service sire) of an animal is a young sire. This commonly happens when a herd uses AI progany test sires. While such young bulls don't have PTA's, they do not have PA's that can be used. When averaged with the females PTA (or PA) the result is a reasonable genetic estimate on the offspring.

Using PAs as substitues for missing PTA's will also allow better estimates of genetic merit for the several age groups shown in Genetic Profile section of the Herd Summary II report. Previously when the sire and/or dam no PTA, their genetic value was estimated as breed average or zero. This grossly underestimated the genetic worth of the animals and their offspring.

Herd owners will be able to tell if PA's have been substituted for PTA's on the Individual Cow Page because the headings will indicate which value was used for an animal.

Use of Parent Averages in place of missing Predicted Transmitting Abilities will enhance the value of the genetic information that Pa DHIA provides on the Herd Summary II, the Individual Cow Page and on the calf and heifer reports.

Genetics progress with DHIA

How much genetic progress are we making in our Pennsylvania dairy herds? We can determine the year increases in pounds of milk, fat and protein by looking at the averages for tested herds. However, such changes reflect a large contribution from better management as well as from improved genetics. Most estimates that I've seenindicate that 25- to 33 percent of the annual gain in production per cow can be attributed to genetics while the rest is due to better feeding and care as well as from better housing and other environmental circumstances.

By knowing the average Predicted Transmitting Ability (PTA) of the sires of cows we can estimate the genetic merit of the cows on test. We can't come up with a genetic value for cows not on test but my guess is that it would be somewhat lower than for the animals in tested herds. The genetics in a herd continuously change as the older cows (sired by bulls with lower PTA's) sires. PTA values for the 1990-1993 years inclusive are shown below:

The average annual increases in milk, fat and protein PTA's are 146 pounds for milk, 5 pounds for butterfat and 4.3 pounds for protein. Moreover the changes from year to year are rather consistent. Yearly production increases for the same time period were 470 pounds of milk, 16 pounds of fat and 15 pound protein. Dividing the yearly PTA increases by the yearly production increases gives us estimates of the genetic contribution of 31%, 31% and 29% for milk, fat and protein.

Milk	+366	+513	+655	+805
Fat	+ 14	+ 20	+ 25	+ 29
Protein	+ 10	+ 15	+ 19	+ 23

LER Program Taking Off

PAT TORETTI

Innovative testing plans, once experimental territory for a bold few of Pennsylvania's dairymen are finally taking hold in a big way. "In the past six months we've added as many labor efficient records herds on test as we put on the program in the whole previous eight years," says Dean Amick, Field Services Director for Pennsylvania DHIA. "We'll probably add that many again by the end of December. And we look for this to be the program of the future."

The Labor Efficient Records Program, first sanctioned by National DHIA in the mid nineteen-eighties, is just one of several new and innovative record plans now being offered by PaDHIA. In the labor efficient records method of data collection, a dairy farm equipped with electronic meters and on-farm computers submits status and milkweight results monthly to DHIA as in a typical DHIA program. But that's where the similarity ends. A DHIA technician visits the farm only once every 90 days. During the quarterly supervised tests, samples are taken for laboratory analysis, and permanent identification and computere procedures are verified. In some newer variations of the program now allowed by NDHIA, the technician's role is limited even during the supervised visits. In the "spot verification" innovative version of LER, the technician verifies the milkweights recorded in the parlor on test day and checks permanent ID, but never actually enters any milkweight or status information on a herd at all.

Because the cost of putting a technician on the farm on test day amounts to 80% of the price for DHIA, farms employing the Labor Efficient method of data collection to see significant savings in their monthly DHIA bill. And because most of the data collection is performed automatically, test day visits are smoother and less obtrusive than for other programs.

"Pennsylvania DHIA had some of the first, maybe the first herds in the country on this program when it was initially announced," notes Amick. "Wayne Harpster in Huntingdon, Frank Feeser in York, and Bill England in Blair county, have been on the program since the very beginning. Things have been bumpy from time-to-time, as they will be on a new program of this kind. But those people have stayed with us and helped us make this into a useable program, to the point where this isn't just an experiment anymore."

The requirements for the program are minimal. All that's required is an NDHIA approved type of electronic meter in the barn, and a protocol for exchanging data with PaDHIA's computer. "Westfalia and DeLaval have a method for sending data that's based on an international standard, and those two systems seem to be the ones most easily able to exchange information with DHIA," notes Jim Boyer, processing center manager, "but we haven't limited the program to those manufacturers. We have Boumatic and Surge systems on LER also. The only thing that's really needed is the ability for the on-farm computer to be able to report milk weights and status change data. Fresh dates, dry-off dates, sold dates, and reproductive information. Most of the herd management programs can do that, and we're willing to look at systems that aren't currently plugged in to see if they're suitable."

The success of the Labor Efficient Records program has meant an increased willingness for DHIA to consider a variety of new testing plans, not limited to farms with electronic gadgets. In one variation of testday procedures called "advanced notification", the farmer and DHIA technician work out in advance when the DHIA employee will visit the farm and stick to that schedule. And in a variation of the traditional AP program approved last year named "timerless timer", the AP timer has been replaced with a verification method that stresses the amount of testday milk shipped over the quirky and sometimes inaccurate electronic clock. "Not every new plan is approved by every breed association," says Amick, "and those involved intensively in sampling young bulls should check with their AI studs to see if a particular type test is going to be acceptable. But it's clear that the DHIA program is going to open up more and more as time goes on. National DHIA has come around to recognizing that we need to offer more options. And we need to take more of the burden for rule enforcement off the technician on testday."

If you'd like to enroll in the LER plan, or would like to be considered for any other innovative DHIA program, contact your DHIA technician, or call 1-800-DHI-Test.

Summary of the Board Meeting

by Dave Slusser, General Manager

The PA DHIA Board of directors met April 26th and 27th in State Cllege. The board election resulted in Frank Orner, president, Bill Jackson, vice president, Lane Sollenberger, secretary, and Norman Hershey, treasurer. Marian Butler from Tioga County and Luke Rebuck from Northumberland County were seated as new directors. Marian is the first woman elected to the PA DHIA state board.

The board spent a lot of time evaluating our financial system, and decided to place in top priority the redesigning of the system. This will result in easier tracking of the accounts receivable, billing, and cash flow for management and the board. They also studied our cost of service and our pricing system. They want to move toward a uniform method of pricing. We find that our prices for service are very competitive throughout our service area and they want to remain that way.

Staff reports were given by Jim Garrity, Dixie Burris, Jim Boyer, Dean Amick, and Dave Slusser. Each department head had the opportunity to answer questions from the board, thus resulting in a better understanding of PA DHIA operations, and a better understanding of the board's expectations of the staff. The strategic plan of the association was reviewed and discussions centered around how we are following the plan. We are following the plan for the most part, and we find that our opportunity for growth is good.

The board voted to restructure our state annual meeting and set the date for March 10, 1995. We will have the delegates come in Thursday night and register. The Friday program will start with an awards breakfast followed by the annual meeting. The meeting will end in the afternoon, and delegates will return home. We will try this approach in 1995, and see how the delegates like it. A lot of money will be saved by a one day meeting, however attendance might be affected.

Reports were given to the board on county reorganization progress, retirement plan, converting the milk testing laboratory to DHIA employees, and the closing of the College Avenue office.

Spring Conference

our Pennsylvania DHIA DRPC staff. Over 2 hours of each technician conference was spent on computer functions and on farm reports. Our technicians were asked to name something good about working for PA DHIA, and the remark I heard far more than anything else was, "I love and care for my farm families". They really love you, and care for your future. God Bless them, and God Bless you!

Our laboratory and field training program has just completed the Quality Certification from National DHIA. The lab scored a 99%. The field service scored a pass. National DHIA QC now scores field service only pass or fail. Historically we have always scored 100%. I wish the scoring system had not changed because it does not give a true picture of our field service. I can assure you that they are the best in the country. Our DRPC service will be scored later in the summer. I wish that these scores were public information nationwide. If it were, PA DHIA would rank near the top, if not the top.

We are in the process of making some changes in State College. The West College Avenue office will be closed, June 30th, and we will all move into the laboratory building on Orchard Road. Also, we are making some personnel changes in our milk testing laboratory. All of these changes are for economic reasons, so we can provide the Best Service at competitive prices. However, during the next 2 months our turn around time may slow down some. I ask you to be patient with us until our new people get better trained at their work.

We, at PA DHIA are honored to serve you. If you have any concerns, please write or call me at 800-344-8378. Our PA DHIA members and their profitability are the reason that we exist.

Mahoning Catalytic Combuster Will Help In The Following Ways:
1. Burn one cord of wood which equals 166 gallons of oil.
2. Your fuel source becomes enormous inexhaustible and poses few risks to public safety.
3. Over all efficiency of 85% which means the heat no longer goes up the chimney!
4. You get more heat from a log compared to the non-cat furnace
5. More burn time - less reloading time!
6. Zap 90% of pollutants, made from fire source
7. Saves you a lot of money!
8. User friendly, emits no smoke!

The Gehl Scavenger® II is the "original" V-Tank spreader and still the best. It delivers outstanding performance in all types of manure, from liquid to semi-solid to pen-packed or even frozen manure.

- Patented square-tube auger – Hydraulically powers up and down to break up solid material.
- Variflo discharge – Spreads smoothly and evenly for complete application control.
- Five models – From 192 to 596 bushel heaped capacities to match your operation.
- 10-Year warranty – Against rust-through on the tank for peace of mind.
- Options include – Truck-mounted units and hydraulic lids.

Farmer's Daughter

After about two years at Purdue, in 1980 Barb decided it was time to return to her parents' farm after an absence of seven years. She became seriously interested in farming and was completely involved in it.

Now, let's go back to pick up the threads in the life of Steve Wilson who grew up on a farm in Iowa where they also had registered Holsteins.

The idea of dairy farming was always with Steve. After high school, he went to Iowa State University where he received a degree in dairy science, after which he worked back on the farm for eight years. Next Steve came to Pennsylvania to work in the sire department of Sire Power out of Tunkhannock.

While working for Sire Power, part of his job was to do young daughter evaluation (daughters of cows bred by Sire Power service). During one of his stops in Juniata County, one of the farmers asked about his background - was he married, etc. Steve replied that he wasn't and then casually asked if the farmer had any good prospects. The farmer replied that he did, and then he told him about Barb Graham whose father, James, just happened to be on Steve's list for calls.

The rest is history, because Steve married the farmer's daughter in 1984.

The farmers teased him that he had been evaluating more than the cows when he went to the Graham farm where Barb had been farming with her father for four years. Steve and Barb did not take up farming during the first year of marriage because Steve had changed his work to being director of sales for the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, and so they lived in State College for a year.

In 1985, however, this young farm man and woman saw their dreams starting to come true as they purchased the cattle and machinery and took over the operation of Barb's home farm.

Barb is the seventh generation in the Graham family to be on this farm, and their seven-year-old son, David, is the eighth. It is much too early, of course, for David to know whether or not he will want to continue the family career of farming.

About 1982, the State Department of Agriculture gave Barb's parents the Century Award because the farm had been in the family for more than 100 years. Then the Bi-Centennial Award came through the U.S. Department of Agriculture as they honored farms that had been in the family for more than 200 years.

The original deed, preserved under glass but fragile, shows the second day of September 1762, and the county is Cumberland because Juniata County was not yet in existence. It was for 100 acres (more was purchased later so the farm has a total of 190 acres including woodland, with about 85 tillable). The price was given as 15 pounds, 10 shillings. It also showed a yearly "quit-rent" of one-half penny sterling for every acre. The purchaser was a William Graham, which is also the name of Barb's grandfather.

During their years on the farm, Steve and Barb Wilson have been consistent winners of awards and plaques. In 1988 they received the Dairy of Distinction Award, which is still maintained after a re-inspection each Spring to make certain the farm meets the requirements.

In 1992 they received from the National Holstein Association the PBR Award (Progressive Breeders Registry), given when the herd maintains a certain level of production and of type.

In 1991-1992 and 1992-1993, they received the Quality Premium Award for maintaining bacteria and somatic cell count levels below the specified limits. The Milk Co-Op keeps the record. A farmer who keeps these counts below the specified limits receives a 20¢ premium per hundredweight of milk. At the end of the year, if this premium has been received every month, then the award is given.

In 1993, Steve and Barb received the Production Award from Juniata County DHIA for 23,516 pounds of milk and 741 pounds of protein. Until 1993, they had been consistently second or third, and so they enjoy the

MIRIAM WERT
Juniata Co. Correspondent

Juniata County correspondent Miriam Taylor Wert has been a lifelong resident of Juniata County except for two years when she and husband, Marlin, lived in Jacksonville, Fla., where he was stationed in the Navy Air Force after 18 months in the South Pacific during WW II.

Miriam grew up in Spruce Hill Township and graduated from Port Royal High School in 1941. She went on to graduate from Central Penn Business College (as it was then known), having taken the secretarial course. Her first job was as secretary for a life insurance company in Harrisburg, until marriage.

Miriam and Marlin were married in 1941 and observed their 50th wedding anniversary on February 8. They were blessed with two daughters - Susan (Mrs. Harold) Vogt of Hummelstown, and Peggy (Mrs. Norman) Love of East Waterford. They have six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Miriam started the Wert Insurance Agency in 1955, selling all lines of insurance and serving clients in Juniata, Mifflin, and Perry counties. In 1970 she went to work as superviser of the M & B Agency in Harrisburg from which she retired in 1986.

In retirement, Miriam started to do freelance writing and has had some of her stories published, especially stories in children's take-home Sunday School papers.

She became a Lancaster Farming correspondent in March of this year.

She also remains active physically and participates in the Pennsylvania Senior Games in Juniata-Mifflin counties as well as the state games in Shippensburg. Her husband is her greatest supporter and fan, proudly displaying her many ribbons on the office wall.

Miriam writes the publicity and is volunteer librarian for the Cedar Grove Brethren in Christ Church, where they are members.

JOHN DEERE ROUND BALERS

A solid fit for the way you feed

All John Deere round balers, from the 335 to the 535, protect hay quality with solid bales that stay round a long time. And the newest choice, the 385 Round Baler, wraps up an ideal feeding package for dairies – 4 feet wide by 5 feet in diameter, weighing up to 1,050 pounds. They're an easy fit for inside feeding and perfect for transporting two-bales-wide.

Of course, the 385 has all the hay-saving advantages made famous by John Deere. Side flares gather in large or wayward windrows to save hay. And the pickup rides right under the forming chamber, so hay movement and loss are minimized.

Diamond-tread belts give you fast bale starts, no slipping or chaffing. The 7-inch-wide belts cover over 90 percent of the bale surface so protein-rich leaves stay inside the bale. And with John Deere monitoring, it's easy to turn out solid, uniform bales that hold their shape and shed water.

Need a different bale size? Choose a John Deere round baler with bale sizes from 750 to 2,000 pounds. Look them over at your John Deere dealer.

Home on Rose-Edge Farm, occupied by Steve and Barbara (Graham) Wilson.

Farmer's Daughter Returns Home To Rose-Edge Farm

breakthrough to first place. The last year that Barb's dad farmed there, he won the award for pounds of milk, but fat content was on the plaque instead of protein. The award changed in 1990 from fat to protein.

The Wilsons have 38 heifers and 38 milk cows. They use artificial insemination and also do embryo transfer to breed the cows. In their herd they have two sister cows that are on the National Holstein Association's Locator List for Production. Every seven to fourteen months the herd is classified.

Rose-Edge Pontiac Nicki is scored Ex-90 for type. They use her for embryo transfer. She has four calves and one heifer. One of the calves and the heifer are her natural calves, and three were carried by other cows. They are still implanting some of her embryos and also have sold some.

The Wilsons utilize the red book published by the Holstein Association on the rating of bulls to help them make mating decisions for their cows. Such classifying is important and is given consideration by a prospective buyer of a calf or of embryo. The artificial inseminator co-ops require at least a very good classification to accept bulls into their lineup.

Steve and Barb grow corn and alfalfa and have a silo for haylage and one for corn. They use a totally mixed ration (TMR), working with a nutritionist who advises them on the corn, haylage, soybeans, vitamins, minerals, etc., used in the TMR. Since cows are known for being good "sorters", Barb said that it is very important to have all thoroughly mixed together or the cows will "sort out" the ingredients they like best.

All of the cows get a TMR. Also fed is a topdress, of which the top-level cows get more with the amount being decreased for each cow in accordance with its production. The nutritionist receives their DHIA reports and forage tests and then decides what they need in the feed and sends them a computer printout. So far they do not have a computer in their operations.

The Wilsons shred newspapers for bedding for the cows in the barn and use sawdust for the heifers and straw for the baby calves. They have been using shredded newspapers for four years. Newspaper makes excellent bedding and dissolves easily in the manure spread on their fields.

In addition to being in on all of the farming operations, of course Barb is a homemaker and a mother. She puts out a garden but grows mostly tomatoes because there is not time to take care of a complete garden. Since her parents live nearby in a home built on some of the farmland after their retirement, Barb and her mother get together to can vegetables and peaches.

Barb's father, Jim, still comes each morning to help with chores while Barb goes into the house to get David ready for school. Then Jim leaves to drive school bus. Because it was one of the first days they were able to get into the fields after a wet spring, Jim had returned to spread manure while the Wilsons were taking time to give the interviewew for this story. Like many farmers, he may be retired but still likes to be a part of the farm life.

And, oh yes, seven-year-old David Wilson has his chores to do regularly on Saturdays and in the summer. He cleans troughs, sweeps scattered feed away from the cows, feeds the heifers their hay, and takes milk and grain to the calves.

Farmer's Daughter Returns Home To Rose-Edge Farm

MIRIAM WERT
Juniata Co. Correspondent

PORT ROYAL (Juniata Co.) — It may have been the long way 'round, but Barbara Graham finally came back to stay on the Rose-Edge Farm in Spruce Hill Township where she had grown up.

Not only did she come back to stay, but she started to farm with her parents and finally took over the farm with her husband in 1985.

But let's go back to the beginning.

Barb, daughter of Jim and Mary (Mamie) Graham, graduated from Juniata High School in 1973. When asked at what age she knew she wanted to be a farmer, she said she always liked farming. But in high school in the early seventies, "It just wasn't the thing for a woman to do."

Barb went to the State University of New York in Delhi, graduating from a two-year course in Veterinary Science Technology. From there she went to the state of Indiana where she worked as an assistant for a small animal vet.

Next, Barb moved to West Lafayette, Ind. and worked for Purdue University at their veterinarian research facility, where she supervised four full-time and 16 part-time people. With a chuckle, she related that everything was there, from mice to monkeys!

SALUTE TO THE DAIRY FARMERS

Let's hear it for our Dairy farmers, those dedicated men and women who put in long, hard hours each day to see that we're supplied with the freshest products throughout the year. Their efforts allow us to enjoy the best in nutrition and quality at the most competitive prices possible, and we're proud to congratulate them on a job well done.

Wonderview Farms is a 300 Cow Dairy overlooking Seneca Lake in Schuyler County, New York. The farm is operated as a partnership between brothers Mike and Doug Learn along with brother-in-law Alan Peckham. Their father Wendell is in the process of slowly retiring from the operation. Wonderview Farms started buying Purina Chows in April 1991. The ration consists of corn silage. Haylage and Purina Dairy Chows. Until May of 1993 they fed Purina Test Cow to the high and medium groups and Purina Milk Chow to the low group. Since then they have fed Purina Test Cow and Purina Ultimate EXT 24% to the high and medium groups. The low group was fed Purina Test Cow until November 1993 when Purina HI-E B 35% UIP was used in conjunction with high-moisture shelled corn. The high group is balanced for 80 pounds of milk. The medium group for 70 pounds. And the low group for 60 pounds.

Mike and Wendall have expressed satisfaction with the service provided by [CHECK-R-BOARD] and their Purina Dairy Specialist Dave Learn. Dave works closely with Mike and Alan to meet the needs of Wonderview Farms as they grow into the Dairy Business of the 90's.

Purina Mills and [CHECK-R-BOARD] wish to thank the people at Wonderview Farms for sharing their records and wish them success.
